Vote for a Party That Will Put an End to Slow Murder in the Tenements.

All over the civilized world, tubercylosis, or consumption is recognized to-day as a great and growing danger. At an international congress of physicians and others interested in the subject, held in London a few weeks ago, it was shown that the spread of fuberculosis is directly traceable to the poverty of the working class and the unbesithfu conditions under which the poor, uspe-cially in the great cities, have to live.

About a year age, the New York Truement House Commission gave a public bearing, at which several physi-cians who have carefully studied this lisease and are qualified to speak with authority gave the result of estigations.

All agreed in saying that CONSUMP. SUNDAY, Nov. & .- RATIFICATION MEETING, 12th A. > Dr. John H. Pryor said: "I should judge that there are siways at least 20,000 consumptives among the tene-ment dwellers of the city. This does not show all the cases of tuberculosis, for a great many dying from other diseases have tuberculosis in some The two distinctive tenement-t diseases are inherculosis and rickets. There is at least one case of consumption in almost every tenement house i the city, the reason being that the ten-agis are so CROWDED TOGETHER, WITHOUT SUFFICIENT AIR OR SUNLIGHT. While consumption is both preventable and curable in its early stages, THE DEATH RATE OF CREASE."

As means of checking the spread of the disease, hé recommended, larger rooms, more windows, larger air-shafts —by sil means, more fresh and direc' sunlight in the people's dwellings,

Dr. Herman M. Brigge, who has charge of the pathological and bacterio-logical laboratories of the Board of Health exhibited maps showing the tenement-house districts in which con-sumption is most prevalent. In one block on Cherry street, he said, 144 out of 1,000 people died of this disease in the last four years. In the block on Pell street, between Mott and the Bowery, and on Mott between Pell and Chatham Square, there have been 318 deaths from consumption out of 2,000 inhabitants in the last four years. He explained that the discase transmitted only by germs contained in the expectorations of the sufferers. If the air is fresh and pure and there is plenty of sunlight, these germs quickly die; but in the close, damp, dark rooms of the ordinary tenement they multiply rapidly and spread the

Dr. Frankel, manager of the United Hebrew Charities, said that the vast majority of the consumptive foreigners who applied to him for belp had conwho applied to him for beip had con tracted the disease in this country "These people rarely have tuberculosis when they arrive," he said. "Out of seventy-two Jews suffering from tuberplosis. I found that only one had been n America less than fifteen years," Dr. Anna Daniel said that sweatsho work in the tenements was in great measure responsible for the spread of the disease.

Dr. S. A. Knopf urged the importance of measures that would give fresh air and sunlight to the people.

THE SOCIALIST POSITION.

We have two schools of thought in the labor movement-the one contend ing for thorough organization on labor class lines industrially and politically, and the other for craft organization merely, political effort to be exercised or not, and in whichever manner the individual may choose.

Union labor's mission is to overthrow the wage system of capitalism and introduce a co-operative system of production and re-establish Justice.
In the past quarter of a century inlustry has been completely revolutionined. The labor-saving, automatic machine of production has come and with it appears contrained capital. Toyery manganan, and two captains is on-nounced and his goods boycetted, and yet it is a remarkable fact that the members of labor unions, when spend-ing union wages for the necessaries of life, frequently do exactly what they condomn the capitalist for doing, name-ly, they refuse to employ union labor, as instead of demarking month hearing day the trusts dominate every avenu of life. Production has become arcialw. they refuse to employ union labor, is instead of demanding goods bearing the union label they purchase the product of non-union funtitutions and even of pentitentiaries. They refuse to employ their fellow unionists and give unionists and support to those limit.

THE SOCIALIST VOTE IN GREAT-ER NEW YORK.

While we have not yet authoritative figures for the Socialist vote in all the districts of this city, we have enough to show that, as compared with last year, the Social Democratic Party has gained siightly, while the Rochilist Lahor Party has jost heavily. We have no came for discouragement, yet it would be childish to pretend that we are satisfied. It is our duty to look the facts square in the face, and try to harn from experience how to fecure better results next year.

The obvious answer to the question Why did we not make a greater gain? is that, the diagnot of the people with the efter rettenness of Tammany and therwise favorably inclined to Sociallam. These people thought somewhat thus: Socialism is good, but we cannot get it this year anyhow; Tanimany n mepcakably bad and we can defeat it this year; therefore we will vote for "reform" this time and defer the consideration of Socialium for another

With the campaign carried on by the Social Democratic Party in this city during the last two months there is lifthe fault to be found. Here and there no doubt, there were mistakes made or opportunities neglected; here and there erunizations were lax or individual comrades remise. But on the whole, it was a magnificent campaign well planned and conducted with inwent enthusiasm and extenordinary devetion---not only on the part of the mirty officers, candidates, speakers and on the part of the rank and file, whose deeds are never recorded, whose will be as an serviced to the capitalists | hames are never published, but whose 18 to the old oile was; while we ex quict wirk commands the admiration of everyone who has had a chance to olserve it. culm before me. During that time we have to make Socialists. In that task let us tree all the enthusiasm, all the intelligence, all the industry, all the barmonions comradeship, all the dogged perseverance that has been displayed during the contest just closed The effort need not be so streumous but let the effort be made, let it be adequate to the needs of the movement let it be patiently austained. Let leafthey have been during the campaign. Let the circulation of The Worker be built up. Let the courses of lectures advertised. Let no opportunity for agitation-such as a strike, a lockout, an injunction, a Tarrant explosion, or an ice Trust deal-be neglected. And let every sympathizer be awakened to activity and brought within the party

If we do our duty, as we did not do it fully from November, 1900, up to Adgust, 1991, next year's campaign which is not likely to present such diffiguities as this one has, will unouestionably result in a gain of which we may be proud.

The Social Democratic Party does not "wand like a rock." . It grows like an onk-slowly but surely. And the roots of a young oak will split the largest rock to fragments.

If is pleasant to be able to report that Comrades Carey and MacCartney are re-idected to the Massachusetts legislature. It would be still better could we report that even one colleague had the Manachusetta comrades will acconvolish this desirable result at the next election. Hard work throughout the year will do-it.

ASSAULT ON LABOR PRESS.

The "United Mine Workers' Journal" a reported as the latest periodical to unffer under the extraordinary rulings of Third Assistant Postmaster General Madden, who has been making so much trouble of late for Socialist papers. The organ of the United Mine Workers has been refused transmission through the will at newspaper rates, we are informed, under a ruling which excludes all papers which are published as organs of societies, etc., and which carry any advertising matter not pertaining to the business of the organization resconcitable with any reasonable interpretation of the law or with any reasinable definition of the word newspaper." But Third Assistant Phinkey General Madden and the other flunkeys of capitalism above him in office are not bound by law or by logic. The ruling is the openest and most inmoient attack upon the labor press and is intended as such. There is no other possible explanation of it.

On a parrow and short-sighted view. the action of the government is a wise one-that is, it is well adapted to serve the government's purpose of disorganixing and crushing the labor movement. The labor press is, of course, a most useful adjunct of the trade usinformation necessary to the proper working of the organizations and as a means of educating the membership. The capitalist naturally thinks that if he can kill off a large part of the labor papers and hamper or cripple the others, he will seriously have impaired the efficiency of the labor organizations; and he considers this a safer way of attacking the igher movement than

The difference between Tammany and "reform" is the difference between s thug and a confidence-man. The pro-ple have bought a gold brick with their votes-but then we are used to that,

We have incide iffformation to the effort that manufacturers of cough drops, broughts lesenges and other ctions for filing off the rough edges in a raw throat contemplated the formation of a trust for the purpose of faising priose owing to an entirely unaccountable demand for these voice alleviature during the past few weeks. The project has been abandoned, how ever; owing to a sudden committee in makes, said by political economists to be the result of overproduction.

The S. L. P., as usual, "stood like a rock," but when the blast went off there wasn't much left of the rock. The inquisitive mind naturally wonders what became of the vote of the "fight to the Tammany police department put an end to child labor and female for not jailing Hickey? Did they show 'their uncompromising endorse-ment of Marxian theories, by selling their votes to Tammany on the ground that the economic factor is always pre-dominant? Or have a large number of deaths occurred among their voters piner the last election; due to inhaling newer-gas from the pages of the professor's paper. Purhaps they chose to show their "uncompromising" tactics by refusing to vote under the capitalist ystem. The cause of their loss may be the fact that their paper is published daily—people cannot be expected to stand this thing seven times a week. Every laune means a vote lost. Why not make it a monthly and disintegrate with a more dignified slowness? De-Leon tried to constitute himself Pope of Socialism and write the Index Ex-purgatorius of the Labor Movement. with all the shocking details of 1804-6. But none of the Christian govern ments act; not even the Papacy finds a word to may. The press gives but very inadequate accounts of the troubles, though from its brief disputches much can be inferred.

The reason for this apathy of all the capitalist governments is not far, to seek. Interventian on behalf of the Armenians would mean an opening of the whole Eastern question and the precipitation of a conflict among the various expitalist powers for derritory and commercial advantages. No two of these powers can frust each other. None of them is ready to act, for fear rome other should get an economic advaninge.

Moreover, the Turkish honds are held by the Gnanciers of other countries and these are unwilling that a merestion of human lives should be al lowed to endanger the Turkish govern-ment and this reduce the value of their investments. Capitalists of various countries, th-cluding America, are getting conversions from the Turkish government to the governments of their duty in the matter and to denounce their criminal complicity in Turkith oppression. In the meantime, a Rocialist movement is arising in Armenia, as well as among certain sections of the Turkish people. The economic development of country through the building of rail country through the building of rail-roads, the opening of mines, and the establishment of manufacture and large commerce, will do more than anything else to strengthen this revolu-tionary petular indvenient and to has-ten the day when liberty shall be as-arread to the imbulgation of the unitarsured to the inhabitants of that unhap ny country as of the rest of the world through the rise of the Co-operative Commonwealth.

WHAT WE STREET THE The Social Democratic Party standand questions and discussion, are inneompeomisingly for the interests of the working class. Socialists' realistate that the world is divided into two classes-the wage workers and the cap initiath. There is a constant conflict between these two classes. The capi-tallet desires to give the wage-worker as little as possible of what he pro-duces. The wage-worker strives to re-tain as much as he can of the products of his own toll. There can be no har of his own toll. There can be no har-mony between these two, and the So-cial Democratic Party piedgrs itself in mests the wage-worker in his struggle to obtain the entire product of his in-bor. It defends and supports trade un-fonism and will, when placed in pow-er, sholish capitalism and place all the means of preduction in the hands of the workers themselves.

BEY UNION LABEL GOODS.

Here we find the same old thing over again: The manner of production and exchange. The economics of the times is fairly stung in our teeth every time Last year 1 823 persons were killed and 33,572 injured, and the total numwe read true history. This again points out, if you study closely, that our present system. the capitalistic system of production, is at fault and must give place to the new, the law of surplus value, the groundber of deaths and injuries due to the movements of vehicles used exclusive-ly upon railways showed an increase of ten killed and 248 injured on the re work of capitalism, or, in other words, the legal robbery of the producer once more confronts you. The class struggle again leems up when viewed from the dents to the permanent way, sixteen passengers were killed and 803 injured, while twenty-four railway servants were killed and 180 injured in such acunicitalic conception of modern so-clety. Again you are confronted by the fact that you have to organize into ridents. Although the number of rail way servants killed in collisions and other accidents is not very much great-er than the number of the general pubtrade unions to protect yourself industrially; again you are confronted with the undendable fact that you must or-ganise also on the political field; you ic who fall victims to the same causes, taking the total number of killed and injured on the rallways from all causes must wreat the powers of government out of the hands of the capitalist class and van it for your own material is terest. You must wipe out this present the number of rallway servants is enor monely greater. In 1900 there were GI railway servants killed and 15,098 in-fured, as compared with 564 killed and of production, land and what it con-fains, the means of distribution on 582 injured in 1800. This is a terrible list of casualities for one single in-dustry, and out of all proportion to the accidenta among passengers, it may be land and water should be public property. They were produced socially, therefore should be owned socially, to be used by said for the benefit of all that many of these cannelities were un-avoidable. In that case all the more reason for gonerous treatment of their employees by the railway companies. cu-operatively, and not need as now, in most cases for the benefit of the few to that they can buy withered duke But there is no doubt that very many so-called accidents could be prevented by reasonable precautions. Much has been done for the anisty and comfort and betile counts for their daughters to hobiob with in those dens of in-iquity, called the royal courts of Euof railway passengers; but then ha in-jury to passengers means a loss to the company. A mere shunter, driver, or platelayer is only so much anlanted material to be used up in the namifacture of dividends for the own-ers of the roads. Therefore, every pro-posal for the protection of the limbs rade unionists among the cuitalist parties and other parties not pledged to trade unleadam is, and has been, the stumbling block that unleadam fallen over and broke its neck. Give the political power to your enemy, the empiralist, or his representative, and he still fender-the combined efforts of all posal for the protection of the limbs and flyes of railway men is streutomiy objected by the representatives of the sailway interest, who form a very large groportion of the "people's" House of Parliament, and whose influence there is overwhelming. Automatic couplings and automatic signalling of the approach of trains would do much to present of trains would do much to preyour arganizations ineffectual at has been done often before, or kill them at tupethers. This explains why trade un-ions have not been as successful as they should be and would be if the prothers would stop chasing rainbown in the shape of, "this good man; the good man, this friend of labor, the friend of labor," and remember the onproach of trains would do much to pre-vent accidents among shutters and plate/ayers, but the railway magnates will have none of them if they can kelp is. A hig' butcher's bill is nothing be them so long as it does not deplete their great faut, which is an undenfable on est to the highest, and tell the boss to get off the parch, I'll been myself awhile and see how it feels; you so to work and see how it feels for once is your life? .- Machinist's Journal.

Such were the forcible answers to study and reidly disappearing in the mill of com-petition. The struggle is now between the capitalist class and the working class. The possession of the means of livelihood gives to the capitalists the search along those lines, but times and men change. We find to day many men who have struck the key to the control of the government, the press, the pulpit, and the schools, and enables them to reduce the workingmen to a state of intellectual, physical and social situation, men who have read and thought and at last awakened. The International Association of inferiority, political subservience and Machinists now has many men in its ranks who reside that the cause, and also the keynote to true trade unionism virtual slavesy.

The economic interests of the cap: talist class dominate our entire social system; the lives of the working class is the class struggle. That continued class war for economic mastery which will continue as long as capitalistic sec-ciety is allowed to exist—which will be are recklessly sacrificed for profit.wars are fomented between nations, indis criminate slaughter is encouraged and the destruction of whole races is same tioned in order that the capitalists may extend their commercial domin abroad and enhance their supremacy

But the same economic causes which developed capitalism are leading to Ho-cialism, which will abolish both the empitalist class and the class of wagworkers. And the active force in bringing about this new and higher or-der of society is the working class. All other classes, despite their apparent or actual conflicts, are alike interested in the upholding of the system of private ownership of the instruments of wealth production. The Democratic, Hepublicia, the bourgeois public own-ership parties, and all other parties, which do not stand for the complete overthrow of the capitalist system of production, are allke political representatives of the capitalist class.

While we declare that the development of economic conditions tends to the overthrow of the capitalist system, we recognize that the time and manus-of the transition to Socialism also depend upon the stage of development reached by the proletariat. We, there-fore, consider it of the utmost import-ance for the Socialist Party to support all active efforts of the working class to better its condition and to elect So-cialists to political offices, in order to facilitate the attainment of this end.

As such means we advicate: 1. The public ownership of all means of transportation and communication and all other public utilities, as well as of all industries controlled by monopolies, trusts, and combines. No part of the revenue of such industries to be applied to the reduction of taxes or property of the capitalist class, but to be applied wholly to the increase of wages and shortening of the hours of labor of the employees to the improve-ment of the service and diminishing the rates to the consumers.

CAPITALISM AND TUBERCULOSIS.

The columns of the London "Times" are being alled with articles and communications on the alarming spread of tuberculesis sinong the working pro-ple. "The tuberculous poor" is a grew-some phrase that has come into almost as cammon use as that other phrase of plans cant, the "worthy poor." It is pointed out that the extension of tuberculesis or consumption among the working people is not confined to England or to any one country. It is a fact that unpleasantly forces itself appea poblic attention all over the civilised world. The German government has made some attempts to check the growth of the disease by the establish ment of numerous free hospitals and anitoria; but the causes remaining un-torched, this measure has compact tively little influence on the result.

Exactly the name condition exists in the great cities of the United States as in those of Great Britain or Continuatal Europe. The "respectable classes" are becoming alarmed at the spread of consumption among the poor has gone so far that it we threatens the "respectables" themselves, with infection.

And what is this cause? First of all, the insufficient quantity of inferior quality of the food of large portions of the working closs, and the overwork and lack of proper recreation, which, taken together, lower the vitality of the workers, Second, the dark, damp, un-ventilated tenements in which large numbers of the workers live, the con-ditions in which favor the transmission of the disease and make recovery diffi-

VICTORY IN BERLIN.

Social Democratic Party Makes Great Gains in German Capital.

Sweeping Victory in Municipal Election -American Daily Press, After Predicting a Defeat for ijs, Falls to Report Cur Success.

The municipal election in Berlin wa-Wednesday, November 6, and resulted in a sweeping victory for the Bocial Democratic Party: The American dully press has be giving a great deal of space to heconuts of the affected discensions in the Social Democratic Party of Germany and has runfidently predicted its downfall. On Thursday of last week, the day when the result of the election was reported over the cable, the New York "Evening Fost," while suppressing the news of the actual result, printed a long letter from its Berlin correspondent, written two works earlier, in which it was con-clusively shown (as the writer thought) that the focial Democrats of that city were to meet their Waterino on Novem-ber 6. Almost all the other papers took the same equive of suppressing the re-port of the Rocialist victory.

The system by which the municipal conneil of Berlin on in most other fibr rean cities) is elected is a curious one. The people are divided according to their weight into three elision—a few of the very rich forming one class, a larger gountlest of the moderately well-to-de forming the second, while the third comprises the great mass of the working people. Each of theseelasses elects forty-nine members of the council, and one-third of cash class are bleeted each year.

The Socialists have, of course, nohope of ever electing any members from the first or even the second class. There were therefore, but sixteen cents which they could possibly win, even though they got the whole workingclass vote.

Of the sixteen whose terms exulte this year and whose sucressors have to be elected, seven were Social Demo-erats, eight Liberals, and one a Conservative. Wednesday's election but in their places thirteen Social Democrats and three Libersis.

The Kaiser has contributed very materistly to this result by his impadent interference in the municipal affairs of Berlin. But it is significant that the respectable gentletten who form the Liberal party have not had the courage to resent and resist this revival of antorracy and that only the working class and the Social Democratic Party maintains the old German free spirit.

The American praisers of Bernstein can find little comfort in this victory. which was gained in spite of the com-promising tendency which he has been trying to cultivate and which has dis appointed the expectations of the American capitalists belo have so

ON RECORD

Tammany District Leaders Say Things Worthy of Remembrance.

PUTS ITSELF

Engol Says the People of His District Mave Been Half-Starved Under His Rule-Plunkitt Says the Big Corporations Stand Book of Him.

Two district leaders of Tamman Half have made statements that deserve to be remembered and thought over and discussed all through the next two years. Judging the the fucompotency of every "reform" administra-tion of which New York City has had experience in the past, the Democrats will be able, in the city campaign of 1983, to make an effective attack upon Mr. Low's record. We shall have to fight both old parties in 1983 and especially we shall have to fight Taus uny lish as having then the larger clumer of aucress. Let us remember. then these two utterane

MARTIN ENGEL ON TAMMANY PROSPERITY.

Martin Engel, Tammany leader in the Elghth, was interviewed inst. Thursday. He bitterly resented the imputation that the Eighth was a "red light district" and this was his argu-

"There is less crime drawn in the Eighth District than any other in the my people is that sometimes they deink a little too much. The people talk about orgies to the Eighth District. WHY THE PEOPLE DOWN THERE ARE HALF-STARVED, AND HAVEN'T, GOT ANY MONEY FOR ORGIES."

For many years Martin Engel has boasted with good reason of having absolute power in the Highth. If he wanted the laws enforced in his offictrict, they were enfo.ced; if he wanted them left unenforced, as it was. And this is the result of his rule. The people whose welfare he had in his charge "are half-starved, and haven't got any money for orgies,"

All through these two years Martin Ergel and his hentenages and the bigger men who stand back of him will be working in the Eighth to recepture the district. The people the real working people of the Eighth who are half starved now under the rule of Engel and the overlordship of Croker, will not be any better fed under Mr. Low's administration. But when Tanquany moints out to them the failure of the "reformers" and asks them to return the Crokers and Engels to power, let them remember what this Taninany leader has said of the conditions that he t-derated, that he helped to create.

SENATOR PLUNKITT ON

TARMANY BLACKMAIL The other statement is from the lips of Senator George W. Plunkitt, Tam many leader of the l'ifteenth. He was asked what he thought of the defeat of his party, and he replied that they were going to win everything back in 1966. In the course of the interview "How are we going to get through those corparations to violate the laws and to dodge their taxes.

Hecause Tanmany has allowed those communitions to violate the laws

The "reformers" have denounced Tammany for selling protection to petty law-breakers keepers of anloons, 'gamiding homes, and brothels. They have had nothing to say against the protection Tammany has given to the ations to which Plunkitt refers. Why! Again the answer is easy. Because the "reform" ticket was backed by these same law breakers. Because the great corporations believe both old par-ties. Because the "reformers" propose to protect them in their violations of law, just as Tammany has done.

The Social Democratic Party will continue all through the coming term watch both the old parties. Two years from now it will again call upon the workingmen to cast their votes for their own interest as against both the out tute our hands arguments against many, so will the administration give us arguments against "reform."

When the physician heard this he became very augry, and according to his story put the woman in the am-bulance and took her to Feln's hume, which is on the second floor of a tenement house. Fein at first refused to taken the woman in, but was finally forced to do so.

union is creating a good deal of excite-ment. That it is disturbing the minds of the trolley capitalists was shown by last Monday's experience, when the officials of the North Jersey Street Rallway Company tried to "raid" a un-ton meeting and found themselves on a wild rooms chans. " The Executive Board of the Union had been called to meet Monday night at 72 Hayes street, Newark. At the same time a meeting was held in au-other part of the city to obligate, new members. The notices for the Executive Board meeting were timed to reach the delegates during the day. about S o'clock in the afternoon E. T. Noben, President of the Union, disco-ered that Superintendent Chapman ha got wind of the proposed meeting and had called in his inspectors and order ed them to report in the evening and go with him in a body to break up the union meeting or to identify the active members, so that they could be punished for their audacity in organising without the bosses' consent.

ELUDED THE SPIES.

President Neben and Secretary Webrie at once took steps to warn the delegates as they approached the meeting place and to "pass the word along" that the session would be held in an other hall. So successfully 'was this done that when the Superintendent, with a gang of about twenty "spotters" piled out of a car in frunt of 72 Hayes street they were not able to find any trace of the men they were after—al-though some of the latter and a good view of them. Chapman and his spice spent two or three hours in searching the neighbor blod, prying in the most insolent way into meeting halls and even visiting private houses; but they got no outsifaction; and when, later in the even ing, they met some of the known offipower-they got unmercifully "gured for their pains. MARY NEW MEMBERS:

In the meantime a meeting of th Executive Board had been held and its business dispatched. Some 300 men. it is reported, were also admitted to membership, a number of them being from Paterson, As Passate County is not included in the union, a beparate organisation will probably be formed for them. The union now claims about 1,400 members out of the 10,000 mem employed in Essex, Hudson, and Union Countles, and is growing fast.

Hello! A telephone grast in lilino's In the intest. Another instance of central-mation. Socialism will "ring off" these private combinations by nation allming them all.

James B. Dill says that the trusts Pation a tendincy to become callous to public epinion." What an acute abcorver he is! If this intellectual phe on keeps on he may discover that the trusts show a tendency to mards Morisliam.

. The New York "Brening Post" prints special correspondence from London showing that the trust question is seming proportions quite as acrious in England as in this country. This fact should be a sufficient answer to the claim of the Democrats that repeal of the tariff laws will solve the problem. for Engined has had fire trade for over half a century.

P. J. Messuine, prho' accuses the Socialists of having caused his removal from office in the Brotherhood of Car pentura, has been arrested on a charge of embessing union funds. The Socialists are quite willing to accept the sility for his downfall, and can easily one why McGuire has been so anxions in the past to "keep politics (Mocusius politics) out of the union."

In his recent address on "How the Other Haif Ought to Live," Rev. Geo. L. McNutt did not seem to think it moreomary to suggest that a social sys som in which there is an "other buif" and an "upper ten" ought to be done away with. Time people who are so concerned about the welfare of the "other half" indignantly recent the statement that there are any clames in this country.

The "I'ndercurrent" of Rediands. Cat., says it has not been "suppressed," as we erroneously aunounced. It has only been persocuted by esme "law shiding" rulliane in good clothes who are afraid to have the people learn about Sorishum. We are in receipt of an invitation to co-operate with the McKinley National Memorial Association. As this appeal bears the names of Marcus A. Hunna. J. Pierpont Morgan, and other leading exponents of practical Associat we fall to see how the association can energ out its purpose of "emphasising our abhorrence of that spirit of lawiesaness which inspired the assault upon his thickinley'a) life." When the grection of a monument to the miners of the Cour d'Alenes bull-pen is proposed, se will be glad to contribute.

We are not surprised that the New York "Journal" the "workingmen's paper"-gives on much space to Archblahop Corrignu's innue attacks upon Bocialism. The "Journal" is exactly the paper in which such things will do the greatest possible good-to the capitallats. But the day is past when hold ameritons would serve instead of arguments against Socialism. The Archbishop will have to wake up and read something of the literature and history of the past thirty years if he wants to make a half-way respectable showing in this new crusade of his.

GOOD MR. MORGAN.

While Mr. J. Plerpont Morgan was culestaining his force of ministers during the convention of Mr. Morgan's church his grocer's bills are suld to have amounted to $200 a dar, not to say anything of wine at $23 a bottle. Mr. Morgan's fortule is "the wages of abstinence." If you don't believe it, ask Mr. Morgán's 'professor of political comosity. Any young man by industry, frugality and perseverance can equal Mr. Morgan's "success." If you don't believe R, ask Mr. Morgan's Oue of the good brethren who was not invited to dinner has charged Mr. Morgan with extravagance, Let me hope that Mr. Morgan's government will arrest this bad man for treason. as law and order must be respected and anarchy must be stamped out.

It will be remembered that Mr. Mor gan carried Mr. Morgan's preschers across Mr. Morgan's country on Mr. Morgan's special train, and that they lived on the best that Mr. Morgan's world can provide. This was a good thing because it gave many mople work. If it was not for Mr. Morgan who would pay our wages? Let us be thankful that his. Morgan is an American citizen. We should be proud of such a fine man.

Mr. Morgan's preachers are also very wise and good men. They say: "Be contest with the station in life in which Providence has piaced you. Be good and work hard and you will get your reward in the next world. Thank Mr. Morgan and God for the bleasings of prosperity. Your interests and Mr. Morgan's are identical. Amen."

And Mr. Morgan winks the other eye.

The "Times" editorially makes as cluberate defense of the Brookly's Rapid Transit in its complaints about the amount of damages it has to pay for killing and injuring employees, passengers, and pedestrians." The "Times" wants new rulings from the courts or cles new statutes from the street railway companies to hill people for profit. This is quite proper from the "Tiuse," the property of J: Pierpont Morgan, a Democratic paper which supports Republican candidates. Very likely Mr. Mergan, who owen a great deal of street railway stock, will get the rulings he tires sake for. Republishs and Democratio Judges are generally quite reasonable fellows. Socialist judges would apply the law in such a way that the street milway company would ofther use every known means of protecting life or chis give up their franchises and let the city try its hand.

THE ALLIED PARTY.

We are in receipt of the first munior of "The Affied Party Hernid," the orthe Allied Party lumbhed at Kanes City last month. We find thereis the program of the Allied Party. This fearful and wendorful document calls for "a union of all those who are opposed to the rule of capital ion over the people," and it places in this category "Populists, Socialists Magie Tuners, Union Reformers, Or ganized Labor, and independent Demo crats and Republicans!" The Altied Party is in favor of anything that will get votes. It is in favor, draffy, of anything, secondly, of erosything, and lastly, of nothing. This pulitical caylum for the feeble-minded, if its permanent organization to over effected, will probably down inguiber the greates tennaporie of maddle beads, politica ever on exhibition. The declaration of "political neinelples" of the Allied Party is "a thing of shreds and matches," calling 'for "seleutific money," "just and natural taxation," and other netwices general iries. For emotimion and nolitical considery this report to exact the warst efforts of "Golden Rule" Janes, the Rev. W. D. P. Bline, or the author of "The Passing of Capitaliam," The climax of effrontery is mached by heading this economic grab-bag with the immortal cutt of Karl Mara: "Workingmen of all countries, paits."

That the leaders of this organization have not even the poor excuse of ignorance is proven by the fact that what ever is in the slightest degree worth; of consideration in their speeches and addresses, given in "The Allied Party Herald," is stolen from the litera ture of Socialism, although so mutliated and modified as to be value liess. The statement that Socialists are netwied in this "union of reform forces" is a downright misrepresents tion, as us member of the Secialist Party took any part in their confeeonce. The Socialist Party is the only "union of all those who are opposed to the rile of capitalism over the people, and if the organizers of the Allies Party have ordinary intelligence they

The Allied Party was still-born and we do not believe any attempt to restrrect the buried corpse of Populism will meet with even temporary success. Nevertheless, those who are just beginning to think can easily be misled, find this fact must always be reckoned with.

Should this mor patty become in the smallest degree a bolitical factor it would doubtless further the disintegra. tion of the dring Democracy, of which, indeed, it is a symptom. On the other band, such parties which pretend to stand for the interests of labor and, while refusing to recognize the class struccio. "favor" a. faw florialistic nessures in a mutlisted and emasculated form-thus serving the interests fusion and division in the ranks of workingnen who have not yet become conscious of their class interests ar the encuries of progress and the most contemptible fors of the working class; and whether organized through inexrusable stupidly and ignorance, to serve individual ambition, or for purposer of political Jobbery, must be met with the severest possible condemna tion and exposure.

"THAT OTHER FELLOW" AND METATORIES STOWNS

The Puternon "Evening Neura" lens or its walf a verson-we do not call writes under the title of, "That Other Pellow," The writes in rather a bright style, with good command of language and that he lacks completely. That is who is well known in Paterson and in many another town, East and West, North and South, for her faithful work on brief of toilers struggling for an improvement in their condition.

"That Other Fellow" beard Moths Jones speak to the striking silk work ers. He did not learn anything from has. Naturally not. "That Other Peltow" is one of those siffy fellows who "know it all" and therefore cannot posathir learn anything. "That Other Fullow", then went up to the office and wrote a column of "stuff"-that's what they call it in newspaper offices and tt's the right name-about Mother Jenes and the silk-mill strikers. Then he drew his pay-so much per inchand went out and had a drink and thought what a smart fellow he was, to be able to get paid for writing 'atuff" about people and things the he didn't know the first thing about.

The burden of "That Other Fellow's" accumution against Mother Jones is in this passage: "Did she ever live away back, as a girl among other peoplethin 'Mather' Jones, as they call herdid she ever know what tolling and working and skimping and saving for the month's rent and the food for the children meant? Bhe hardly did." And so he gues on, ad mauneam. Now, in order to mave "That Other Fellow"-who is really not a bad nor of a fellow at heart. but only feelink and conceiled and, apparently, very, very young--from making such an exhibitum of himself in this line again, we will inform him: that long before he had cut his mills-teeth-if we judge his age correctly-Mother Jones had corned more with her medie than "That Other Fellow's" writings have ever been worth or ever will be. Mother Jones, as seamstress, knew very well "what toiling and working and skimping and cowing meant," And Mother Jones, as union organizar, keeps right on toiling and working and akimping and sewing-for the labor movement does not provide a very luxurious nor a very easy life for its faithful servants. "That Other Fellow" - superior young gentleman that he is-refers to Mother Jones as a "weak-eyed old lady." If Mother Jones' physical vision is impaired, the people who made profits our her labor all through the long years. might tell how it came about. But of one thing we are sure: Her mental vision is keen enough to to per right through "That Other Fellow's" skutt and perceive the emptyness of his head and his beart and to feel sorry for him. rather than to recent his attacks. Oh, you foolish young "Other Fel-

Go and learn from her what it means to be a man and a gentleman-not just an "Other Fellow"-learn to tell the truth you know and keep silent when you know noth-

If Archbishop Corrigan's sermous eninst Socialism are to be taken as a fair test of his mental ability it is just as well for all concerned that be dodged Comrade McGrady's cimilenge to debate. Corrigan would certainly look very small-much like thirty cents in a jackpot, as they say on the street-after such a debate; and on the other hand, McGrady would not add much to his laurels by such an easy victory. The Archbishop's attack caunt well be answered for the simple take hold of-no attempt at logical arunuent, no attempt at a marshalling of fact, nothing but a dogmatic rehearsal of vague and abstract generalities, which may mean anything or may mean nothing. Phiery years ago, when few people knew anything about Socialism, this nort of thing might go. In the present day, when every intelligent man in the land has at least a general idea of what Socialism is, the Archbishop only makes himself a inunhing-stock by repeating these line-worn phrases, If this is the worst that His Reverence can do, we shall not need to attend to him. . Ite is a formidable looking tion that "rours as" gently as any sucking dove." He isn't even smusing. Look for bigger game, Father McGrady.

It is reported from the Illinois state insane asylums that a surprisingly large proportion of the persons sent to these institutions are school teachers This is undoubtedly due to the over enswelling of the teachers, which, in turn, it due to the refusal of the cant-'talist'parties'to vote taxes sufficient to give proper pay to an adequate num ber of instructors in the public schools. Reginitat city compoin and includations would consider the education of the children one of their very first and most important duties and would novide amply for it, no matter how high the tax-rate might go. But the teach em are wage workers and most of the pupils in the public schools are ware workers' children. Until the workingmen win political power 'through Nocialist politics, their children will con timpe to be badly taught, while the teachers will continue to be everwork ed and underpaid.

Good Mr. Rockefeller told his Sun day-school class, the other day, that when Christ said. "Lay not un for yourselves treasures on earth." he didn't really mean that at all. Just what he did mean, this latest interpreter of the gospel did not make elect In laying up their unparalleled earthly treasure-John D.'s share in the Standard Oil Company alone amounts to short . $300,000 000 -- the Rockefellers have probably told more lies, large and small, committed more france, broker more laws 'and ruined more homethan any of the Macchinvellan states men or Napoleonic tyrants of Europeread Lloyd's "Wealth against Common wealth" for a part of the story. But surely no lies in all the Standard Oil history ever matched the brazen bypoglay of this man who manages now to ket a blessing for himself and shis commen that there is nothing in it is berooked and cruck life out of the words of that Carpenter who drove the Bockefellers and Morgans of his day out of othe Tomple they deliled.

An anonymous philanthropis t has given $112,000 to endow a chair of Chinew in Columbia University, for the purpose of educating diplomats who will be able to bunco the Chinamen into buring the nurphus which American workingmen create and are - too poor to buy back. In making the donn tion, this public spirited empiralist stated that the money represented a life-time's saving on liquor and cigara. Assuming fifty years as a fair standard life-time, it appears that the ordinary gentleman of the capitalist class musapend (and this particular gentleman, being public spirited and abstemious, was able to "save") something like $2,240 a year or $6 a day on liquor and cigars. Socialism would deprive these lords of the earth of the opportunity to display their powers of consumption or of abstinence on such a gleantic scaleand it would also put an end to the on forced abstinence in the matter of food, clothing, and education, by which the working class is now made to pay the liquor and eigar bills of the capitalists

There are two things to be remen bered in considering the so-called nager problem. The first is that the South has been an agricultural region from the days when it was first settled. Its chief product, however, being cotton rather than food supplies, it is not sur-prising that the general conditions of life have always differed greatly from those in the farming districts of is open every night and Sanday and the House Committee will gladly show callers over the pince and explain the uniority of planters still prefer to buy their grain rather than raise it, is a point not to be lost sight of in the sec-nomic situation.

The second thing to be remembered is that the negro his always been and is still the unit of inhor in the South Se is unquestionally the basis of near-

Notwithstanding this well known fact, popular misrepresentation pictares the Northern pegro as an ide held in the city of St. Louis, Mo., at 10 a, m., Pridgy, January 24, 1992, for the transaction of the affairs of the nationlany brute, who knows not how to earn a living either with his hands or his brain. From much that is written and said concerning him, one might wap pose that the race in the South is cor raied off somewhat after the fashion of the Avordenn Indian; that the average porthulars of which will be published in due time in the Socialist-press. In view of the requirement that the negro lives by bunting and fishing on reservations or public lands; that he is h heavy burden on the white popula tion, and likely to remain so until Northern philanthropists start enough industrial schools to teach him "how in attending this meeting shall be paid from the national treasury, the respectto work."

It arems necessary therefore to state emphatically in this paper that the neuro of the Bouth is not corraled off any where; there are no "reservations" of apart for his benefit; he has never aince he was brought to this country eaten bread that he has not paid fo

ther. If her become agreeable from on end of the country to the other to speak of American slavery as though it had gantantian temperage and instantial would defray at least part of their traveling expenses. The adoption of this plan would tend to reduce the exbeen mersly a benevolent agency for "taking care, of" helpless negroes. "taking care, or notpens negative.
When the benevolent agency coased to

As the cost of their heep as well as the value of their inhor had to be reckosled with, the less they could live on and the poorer the fare, the greater was the profit of unister. No one need conclude, therefore, that the American slaves spenthelr days in riotous living—or in lux urious lideness. As one planter would renerally own two hundred or me siaves, the cust of feeding and cloth-ing them became an important factor in balancing his accounts. and bacon were the staple articles of diet, and two ments per day were con-sidered enough for field slaves. > White workingmen of to-day may wonder why the suffering blacks did not rebel and win their own feredom. Socialists of to-day are asking the same question of the wage slaves of our nines and factories.

The answer is, that all human beings are tolerant of conditions into which they are born, and which they are taught to regard as the established and natural order of things. Mercover. every precaution was taken by the masters to prevent an organized attempt at insurrection. It was a crime to teach a slave to read; slaves were not permitted to assemble without the presence of an overseer; armed men natrolled the plantations and saw that slaves' quarters.

The military spirit among the whites of the flouth was cultivated as a measure of self-protection. But no slave was allowed to own or use firearms and none had the means wherewith to buy from.

That a constant reballion existed in the hearts of these people cannot, be doubted when one recalls the great avents that preceded the Civil War. Every fugitive slave was a whole, in entrection is himself, and was justly so regarded by the entire body of alaye-owners. Organized among the slaves was indeed an impos-sibility, but individual resistance be-came so common-test, a instead law was fleemed a perengity for the preser vation of the precious institution; and all persons who assisted in these indi-vidual breaks for liberty were held as taw-brenkers and denounced as crim-

There is another record written in letters of blood—and hidden in the annals of the war department. One hundred and eighty thousand ex-shaves founds for freedom in the ranks of the fought for freedom in the ranks of the union army against their former masters. No one denies that they fought bravely. In many cases whole regiments of blacks perished under fire their inte masters.

In Boston, the beautiful memorial that represents Colonel Robert G: battle was intended to perpetuate the memory of that grillant young hero's manly virtues—but the reply of the Confederate commander when requested to forward young Bhaw's dead body to his parents is monument enough to the fighting qualities of the blacks:

"Tell them we have buried him with his ningers" was the separatul retort; for the "singers" bad fought on lastil they were cut to pieces, and his body. and theirs were thrown into a common

A STATEMENT.

On December 19, 1897, there appeared in "The People." then edited by Daniel DeLeon and published by the Socialis. tic Co-coverative Publishing Associa tion, what purported in be a stemo graphic report of an address made by Daniel Belgon at a meeting in Boston: The address consisted of a strice of str Union being cited as an example of at leged criminal practices of the fakirs."

The statements made in regard to this union included charges of frank, and supportessional constant against its commet, whose identity was thinly well-ed under the designation of its "Logal Department," the description being otherwise nufficiently specific, however, to enable every one on the lower East Ride of this city to identify the attor ney in charge of all legal business of the United Brotherhood of Clookmakers of New York.

Mr. I. A. Rourwich, who was then the attorney for the Bentherhood, there neon addressed to Mr. Daniel Delaca an open letter, which was published in the "Secial Democrat" of Chicago, and in the New York "Vorwmerta" (thewise in English) and a copy of which was sent to Mr. DeLeon by res-In that letter Mr. Bourwich demand

Mr. DeLeon ignored the letter. After walting a reasonable time for an acknowledgement, Mr. Hourwich brought an action for Bud against Denied DeLeon, as cillust, and the Section of the Commentary Denied Section.

Deniel Delzon, as cilitar, and the de-ciation, as publishers of "The Feople". The answer of Daniel Delcon in court did not attempt to posity the publication by offering to prove the treth of the charges, as he had a right to do, but denied everything, the pub-lication of the articles, the contains of that some stave owners were not to do, but desired everything, the publication of the south over the people own the suppensed to be of calcidable blood to article and its reference to the south over the people, or the people own the suppensed, also, only too frequent plaintiff. Under the raises of procedure trusts? The great corporations, com-

Paniel Delson thus waived his right to prove his charges, basing his defense solely on the recunical ground that the language of his attack was cautious enough to guard blue against a judg-ment for likel.

The Socialistic Co-operative Publish ing Association was also made a de-fendant to-the action. But about three weeks after the removal of DyLeou and his National Executive Committee by the opposition within the Socialist Labor Party on July 10, 1800, Mr Hourwich addressed a letter to the Socialistic "Co-operative Publishing Association, offering to discontinue the suit as against the Association wpor publication of a proper retraction and payment of costs of the law suit.

Pressure of business delayed action on that proposition. The case was called in court in June. 1910, but was adjourned by connent pending settlement as against the Socialistic Co-operative Publishing Association, and was finally settled upon the terms proposed by the plaintiff, learning finaled De ole defendant to answer the complaint in court.

MOVILEDGE IS POWER.

Do not deserve yourself or suffer others to deceive you. The trusts are bare; they have come to stay, they have come to rule. It is for the people to eay, by their intelligence, and their political and industrial justice, what shall be the outcome. The people have the majority, by millions. It simply needs the unity of actual interest to make the necessary change. This is our country. We will not submit to be ruled by the mane money kings.

COMPENSATION.

BY JAMES ONEAL

In discussing the question of compen-sation, our opponents, as a rule, look at but one side of the question and do not consider the existence of anotiser side, and when confronted with the other side usually manifest indignation and surprise. They being saturated with the views of the ruling class. and being concerned in strengthening and perpetuating its away-which its plies the further absorption of the products of the workers—naturally look at this question, like all others, from the standpoint of their material possessions. They want to know first of all what we are willing to viny" as a condition for our liberation, and if we do scritton which they impone, then they strick: "Confiscation." Hery as always in capitalist society cold "cash" is the determining factor. "Orpheus, iron tears from the check of Pluto; but draw gold?" asks Carivie. As against this coah, determinism, the Socialist opposes the gaunt, pais, and hollow-eyed millions in solue. swentshop and factory, and if compe sation is creatiered a question for de-bate by those who made them thus, then we also have claims to present; claims all the more forceful from the fact that they are of such a nature that all the millions of "cash" existing caunot settle the account. Our claims are their claims on separate premises which are hard to reconcile. If they who are siready gorged to sufficiation, ask us what we will give, we scoly; "The same opportunities and advantages we would exact for ourselves; ma more, no less," "('quitscation!" Methods of the Russian Czar Used by American Capitalists.

It is now a well known fact that . many of the larger corporations mainiain a regular spy system for the pur pose of keeping themselves informed as to the movements of the trade unmost active members, so that those who are trave enough to lead their fel-low workers in their struggles against the exactions of the capitalists may be

This clearly attents the fact that the large majority of workingmen are virtually slaves, to be spied upon and dragged about by their masters as if they were so many criminals. We have here in the United States to-day an industrial tyranny which resorts to the methods of the Russian Czar to mais tain its supremacy The existence of the apy bystem, as well as every strike, should be a sum-cient answer to those who claim that the interests of capital and labor are the same. The working class can make no progress, either through trade unlonism or politics, except as they take up the buttle against the capitalists as a CLASS whose interests are exactly the opposite of the working class. Against the apy system, the injunction and the blacklist, the trade union is almost belpless, but on every election day, by a secret ballot in a voting booth where there are no spies, the working class can, if they will, by voting the Socialist tieltet, in the interest of their own class, capture the machinery of government and turn every governmental, judicial and military power against the capitalist class.

MANUFACTURERS OF

PRESERVES COMBINE. Sevention of the larger preserve manufacturers of the country, at a meeting held in Pittaburg last week, formed a combination, to be known as the American Association of Manufac-turers and Distributors of Food Pro-The object of the organization is to regulate prices and sales territory and "to secure a more just interpreta-tion of the pure food laws." The companies represented at the meeting have a combined capital of $3,500,000 and control about three-fourths of the total production of the country. A central office will be established either in Pittsburg or Chicago.

The phrase "to accure a more just nterpretation of the pure food laws" interpretation of the pure food laws, is good, Once in a while an honest and afficient health officer prosecutes one of those companies for selling adulter-ated, often potonoous, food products. This interferes with profits, and the ation to resist the enforcements of the laws, regardless of the people's health. One more reason why Socialists should bestir themselves.

STATISTICS. The Consus Office has published the statistics of the manufacturing indes-tries of Connecticut, and when the fig-ures are analyzed they show some in

The first of these is the actual aver any carnings of the working people. In the industries concerned, in the census year of 1900, there were 376,004 wags rockers. Total wages paid were $82. 707,726. A simple division shows that the average wages were $468 a year, or just $9 a week. A glorious income truly, on which a free citizen is expect ed to maintain his family and educate beneted American standards and licals: The 8,981 Milaried officials received $12.390.050 an average of $1.230 a vely or $24 a week. If we should deduct the bundreds of clerks and bookkeepers who work for "shiaries" of from $0 to $15 a week, we should have a much higher average left for the class of "salaried employees" who are at the asme time capitalists.

The total value of the product for the year was $332,824,108. After deduct-leg cust of materials, wages, and misr-les, and "miscellaneous expenses," there remains $49,039,306 as the clear profit created for the capitalists by the mbor of the wage workers-an average of ATTI a year; taken from each work incomen by his capitalist master. When it is remembered that this is figured upon the factory price of the product. while the workingman in buying hards pay an additional profit on top of this; when it is remembered further that many of the higher salaries do not represent payment for work done, but really belong in the column of capitallat profits, and that the item in cellaneous expenses" (over $28,000,000) conceals various forms of capitalist appropriation (interest on bonds, rentsis, etc.); when, finally, it is remembered that from 10 to 20 per cent, of the workcon' wages goes back to the same capi-talist class in the form of rent for their little homes—it becomes evident that, taking all the manufacturing industries of the state together, jurge and small, more than half of the product of the brain and brawn of the working class gum to the espitalist class as an aliso-lutely free gift.

Formerly the tools of production were simple and owned by the individ-ual worker. To-day the machine, which is but an improved and more dereloped tool of production, is owned by the capitalists and not by the workers. This ownership enables the capitalists to control the product and keep the workers dependent upon them.

Private ownership of the means of able for the ever increasing uncertainty of livelihood and the poverty and misery of the working class, and it divides society into two heatile classes the capitalists and wage-workers. The once powerful middle class is rapidly disappearing in the mill of competition. The struggle is now between he capitalist class and the working ciam. The possession of the means of liveliheod gives to the capitalisis the control of the government, the press, the pulpit, and the schools, and enables them to reduce the workingmen to a state of intellectual, physical and social inferiority, political authorizance and rirtual slavery.

The economic interests of the capitalist class dominate our entire social system; the lives of the working class are recklosely sacrificed for profit wars are fomented between nations, indis riminate slaughter is encouraged and the destruction of whole races is sauc tioned in order that the capitalists may extend their commercial dominion abroad and enhance their supremacs

We, there fore, consider it of the utmost importance for the Socialist Party to support all artive efforts of the working class to better its condition and to elect Socialists to political offices, in order to facilitate the attainment of this end. As such means we advocate:

1. The public ownership of all means of transportation and communication and all other public, utilities, as well as of all industries controlled by monopolles, trusts, and combines. No pare of the revenue of such industries to be applied to the reduction of taxes on property of the capitalist class, but to be applied wholly fo the increase of wages and abortening of the hours of labor of the employees, to the improcement of the service and diminishing the rates to the consumers.

2. The progressive reduction of the hours of labor and the increase of wages in order to decrease the share of the capitalist and increase the share of the worker in the product of labor. 2. State or national insurance of working people in case of accidents, lack of employment, sickness and want old age; the funds for this purpose be collected from the revenue of the capitalist class, and to be administered miler the control of the working class

7. The initiative and referendum. proportional representation and the right of recall of representatives by their constituents.

But in advocating these measures is steps in the overthrow of capitalians and the establishment of the Co-operative Commonwealth, we warm the working class against the so-called public ownership movements as an at-tempt of the capitalist class to secure governmental control of public utilities for the purpose of obtaining greater security in the exploitation of other sentatives of the capitalist class.

The workers can most effectively act of the conditions of the working class.

FOUR YEARS IS THE LIMIT

Of the School Life of Half the Children of the People.

Capitalist Ruling Glass Thinks Only Elementary Instruction is Hoossary for the Werkers-What the Socialists Think and What- They Would Do. Statistics of the Chicago public

rehools, which have just been published, showing the number of pupils in the various grades, are attracting considerable attention. To take one table, that for June, 1991: There were 47,0 to pupils in the first or lowest grade. equito in the second, 20,000 in the third, 24,000 in the fourth and fifth togrifber, 17,000 in the dixth, 13,000 in the eyenth, and only 9,000 in the eighth grade and the high schools taken together. The inference which is drawn by the Chicago "Record-Her-ald," and which, as the New York "Evening Post" remarks, is applicable in other cities, in that at least haif of the children never go higher than the fourth grade—that is, half way through the common schools, leaving the Figu-schools out of account. Less than one-fourth complete the grammarschiol course, and probably not one in twelve passes through the high school

CAPITALIST INFERENCE.

The "Record-Herald" concludes with this sage advice: "It is upon provid-ing the best possible education in the primary grades that the Board should cheentrate at least two-thirds of its attention and resources. The state is more deeply interested in the educa-(lon of the children who never reach the grammar grades than in anything cled in the school system."

This is a conclusion worthy of a cap italist-loving and labor-hating paper like the "Record-Herald." It hever looks for the reasons why half the children of the people can get only the post imperfect instruction. It calmly oternal state of affairs and only asks what can be done to minimise the re-sciting evils. It expects the people to be, content that half their chilliten shirld spend only four years in the public schools and pr poses that the city should deliberately abstain from any attempt to complete their educa-

This is a view co by Republican and Democratic defer ers of empitalism and almost lovariably acted upon by them when in public of-fice—as witness the lack of school ac-connectations in Boston, in New Nork, in Philadelphia, in Chicago, in San Francisco, in practically every rity, great or small, throughout the land. They remon thus: "Most of the people must always be wage workers; as such, they have no need of thurqueb education; let us teach them the most rudinentary branches; then let them get out, and learn their trades and be gin to create profits for us!"

SOCIALISTS DISSERT.

The Socialist, as representing the working class, thinks otherwise; He asks, why it is that most of the children attend school for so short a time. By experience and observation he knows that the reason is almost at ways in the poverty of the parents.

When a man-is trying to support a family on $12 a week or lem-and the rather than more-it is a very difficult thing for him to keep his children in school for more than four or five years, at the most. Ninety-nine workingmen out of a hundred carnestly desire to give their children all possible oppor-tunities for education. But when times get dull, when the father of the family loies his job and has trouble in finding another, when his wages are reduced or when, perhaps, sickness comes and brings an increase of expenses at the same time it cuts off the income-then stern necessity compete him to meri-nee his chi'dreh's hopes of education to the inimediate material peeds of the family. The boy of fourteen must go into the factory: the half-grown girl must hunt for work in store or shop boy of six or eight may be sent on the street to black boots or sell papers. And when their school life is inte rupted. It becomes ever harder and harder for them to take it up again. Once the child had gone to work there s little chance of his going back to the

The Socialist is not content that this atate of things should continue. He does not admit that higher education in the peculiar birth-right of the capi-talist class and that the workers should be satisfied with the "three Ra." He objects to the proposal of the capitalists that the high schools and the upper grades should be nexten in order that the children may be given merely elementary instruction (almost worthless in their), and the property owners saved from the burden of heavier school taxes.

WHAT ME BEHARE.

The Socialist demands the fullest op-portunities of education for all the children. He demands it as the right of the children individually and in the interest of society as a whole offers a practical program for realising Socialist public officials, local, state

AN EVENTFUL WEEK.

The news of the past week has been full of pignificance to the thinking workingman. It all points toward So dalism he the only escape from the evils of which the working class now omninins.

· On the one hand, there has been taken what is probably the greatest step to the organization of capital since the Steel Trust was formed. The the bands of a single counsary, controlled by three men-Morgan, Hill, and Harriman. The expitalization of this company, $400,000,000, no doubt, fairly represents the amount of property which the combination controls, But list effect goes still farther than this, for it completes a great transconlineatal line of milways under a single control and, brings into close alliance the two greatest-powers which had thus far been in competition. It may reasonably be regarded as the beginning of a movement by which the tallway business will soon be as complete ly centralized as the Iron and steel industry. And virtually the same pet of men, with Morgan on their leader, will dominate both. Another piece of news vividly time nics the power of organized cupital. It is reported that the Pressed Steel Car Company will soon be merged in the United States Steel Corporation or Bleel Trust, When the Trust was f rmed, less than a venr age "The Proposit Steel people refused to me into it at the terms offered. Hobling putents which gave them an absolute monopoly in their line, they felt strong enough to fight Mr. Morgan. Ten months has taught them their error, and it is understood that they are now being forced to join the Trust on terms nard has favorable than were at first offered. " The news that the American Air Brake Company has purchased a plant to Buschi and will start operations there in Jdnuary, again, shows the interretionality of capitalism, which cares nothing for flags or for patriotic On the other hand, while the capital let class thus strengthens its position we see continuers in Kentucky liter ally fighting for living wages and troops ordered out by the Governor to shoot them into submission. We see a New York judge telling union men they have no right to walk on the streets within a block of a strike shop. We see the highest court in New Jer sey sustaining an injunction of similar purport and confirming soutences of tine and imprisonment against met and women who had dared to speak to fellow workers against the bosses will, to England we see the courts de ciding that workmen employed under the pullding beate" system have no right to mult williams that amplever's consent. MIEREPRESENTATION BY THE "TIMES." The New York "Timen" last Monday muldished a letter from W. R. free teniton, M. D., pointing out evils in ingetion with the manufacture of nutitoxuse and vaccine virus and protesting expectally against the conditions existing under the superintend ence of the New York Board of Health, over this letter the "Timos" placed the mblending heading: "Municipal Socialism of a Dangerous Kind," This phrase occurs nowhere in Dr. Dulton's better, and is wholly unwarranted by the context. What Dr. Dalton did say

"When are we to have an end of this to have Bortalism for heaven's sake set us know the fact and nave, its foundations laid so broad that there will be a chance of the system attract; ing the hest thought and ability of the ion can is belied a cantinuance the present bastard methods by which

Dr. Duiton is known to us to be a sympathizer with Socialism. The above quotation is sufficient to show that the cealises that mere municipal medditus "public ownership" and the like, under a expitalist administration, is not Socialism and that we are going to have real Socialism with its "foundations labl broad "

The poverty and overwork of the vorking class and the unsanitary conditions of the privately owned ten ments in which they live furnish a fertile field for the development of disearn and epidemic. The adulteration of food and medicines and the improper preparation of antitoxines is due to the fact that they are produced for profit under it system of private comnetition. Thus we see that capitallian both troduces disease and is the caustirent Northern the Northern Pacifics of its continuance. Socialism would god the Burlington railways pass into the away with profit and provide healthful conditions of life for all

To attribute the evils arising from the rule of a capitalistic political machine to "municipal Socialism" is as abourd in effect as it is mallelous in-in-

The "Times" becomes tangled in its own shet of misrepresentation and evasion and lets the expitalistic out out of the lournalistic bag by saging editerfally, in regard to the same ques

"The technique is simple enough and usily ripiled, but its faithful observminds the mention conscients which few of those who engage in this induces for profit possess, or long re-

"Vaccine and serum farms are springing up all over the country, without adequate supervision and in-many cases under the direction of igpornut and irresponsible managers."

Yes, Socialism would be "dange ms," very dangerous-to those who polion the people for profit and to the whole contains show which profits be conditions while a produce miners and disease for the rest of humanity.

In the same issue of the "Times" antaining the malicious and misleading headline referred to above, thereappears a lying report of the resolution passed by the Central Federati L t'uton calling for independent political action by the working class for the purpose of bringing about the collective awaership of the menus of production. The capitalist newspapers have united to suppress or distort the report of this resolution by the central body of New York trade unions, as they did to suppose the news of unparalleled Socialst gains in the municipal elections of Herlin and Naples.

If the "Times" is not careful it will ose its reputtion for even that mensare of relative honesty which can be exhibited by a newspaper whose policy is dictated by Mr. Morgan.

Our friend the "Gazette," the Republican organ of Haverbill, Mana. reports that the Republicans are plat ing a gerrymander to defeat Con Carey, since they find that they candut beat him in the district as it now exists. We hope they will try this, for it would probably result in annexing ome valuable votes to the Socialis movement, Unfortunately, it will take four years to carry out the scheme.

THE SITUATION IN SAN PRANCINGS.

The situation in San Francisco where an nileged "labor candidate" running upon a non-Bochilist ticket, has been elected to the mayoralty and where the Socialist vote has according ly been very beavily reduced from that of last year, is worthy of engeful con-

It is, of course, far from pleasing, that a half of those who voted the Socinflat ticket in 1800 abould have been drawn away, from us this year, that eticulty all of the blan Fran workingmen who cant their first Bocialist votes last, fall should have been carried off their feet by the hope of inimediate success for a ticket which, whatever it does represent, does not represent uncompromising Socialism.

Yet there is no reason for discour agement in the event, and our con rades to San Francisco evidently realthe this. There is a lesson in it, and if to worth while for us to learn that lesson in order to be guided by it in our future conduct

The ticket which won in the late city election at Man Francisco is spoken of as a "union labor ticket." But this phrase is really a misnomer. Mr. Schmitz, the Mayor-elect, io not a weathingman, but a conitalist, an ourploring manufacturer. It is true that be was formerly a workingman; it is probably true that he is a "good" emplayer, so far as employers can be good to wage workers; but he is a capitalist, nevertheless. What is more importont, the organization which carried on his campaign and succeeded in it is not purely a labor organization. The Schmitz ticket was backed and its streees was assured by old-party lead-Republican party and by certain disgruntled Democratic politicians. Not only, therefore, is it not a Socialist ricket, but it is not even a straigh labor ticket that was elected.

We have had a few other instances of "labor parties," supported and largely controlled by expitalist politicians, winning more or less complete victories. The result has always been a and disappointment to those who supperted such parties in good faith, and tible victories have always been shortlived. The officials so elected have been unable to fulfit the pledges, explicit or tacit, upon which the working people had voted for them. Having no con eistent and radical principle upos which to stand, they have had to steer the uncertain course of apparent expediency. Having accepted support from the cosmy, from the political agents of the capitalist class, they have found themselves, when in office. connelled to pay for that support by making compromises to the enemy. No man can serve two masters. A public official cannot be the faithful servant of the workingmen if he is in any de grye dependent upon the capitalists fo his power.

The popular force which has carried the Schmitz ticket to victory was the indignation roused among the working men of Nan Francisco by the aggresslong of the organized capitalists and the shameful abuse of power by the Democrație administration on behaif of the bosses. If we are not greatly mistaken, it will be found that the langes have played a very shrewd game: have, through their nelltical agents in the discontented factions of the two old parties, seized upon this popular force and minitrected it in such a way that the real government | ject-the view of a specialist of the city will still be in their own bands.

Yet, so far as the action of most of is concerned, the affair is a good omen -not so good as we could have imaghed and wished, but good, nevertheless, and perhaps as good as we had any right to hope. Most of those men consciously voted as workingmen. That is a great deal. It is a great deal that so many thousands of workingmen should have been able to break one, from their old-party -mourings and vote for what they considered-mistakenty, as we believe-to be a true labor party.

If, as we have good reason to expect, the Schmitz administration shall turn out to be, not a true labor administration, but a capitalist administration in disguise, then at the end of two genra it will go down in defeat as other'labor administrations" and "reform administrations" have done before. A part of those who voted for it will updoubtedly become discouraged and go back to their old-party affiliations; but many will have learned by this two rearn' experience and will take their political labor movement that always can and always does fulfile its piedces. Our committee in San Francisco have two things to do:

First, they have to go on teaching Socialism, une appromising Socialism, all the year 'round, every day in the year, on every possible occasion, by all available methods. Hetween campaigns is the time to make man really think. In the heat of a political contest their sentiments may be appealed to and their resolutions confirmed. Rur their optatons, their basic principles, are not formed nor changed to any greek extent during the time of the actual canyant. It is after election is ofer, and from that time, on till the next campaign begins, that they have leisure and are in the mood for calm thinking about economic facts and potitleal theories. It is therefore between compaigns that we must make Rectalists, if we are to make them at all.

Two essential points we have to in press upon the minds of our follow workingmen: First, the method of the movement-independent partizan political action of the working classens a class; second, the sim of the morement-collective ownership of the you, may reverse the order and say: Pfrut, the aim--collective ownership; become, the method-class politics. In thet notther is first or second; the two go together. 'The method is ussless if the aim be not pursued; the aim is unattainable by any other method.

By lectures and debates, by stree appeches; by discussion in Arade u ions, by personal conversation, by the electration of the party papers, by the sale of Hacialist books and namphiets by the distribution of leaflets, by all menus at their disposal our San Fran cluco comrades have to bring the workingmen of their city to a full understanding of the whole Borisist po-

.And they will do it.

In the second place, they have to watch the administration during these two years—not in the spirit of exptious fault-finding our yet in the spirit of weak conclimation. It is not their liminess to attack this administration be cause it was not elected by their votes any more than it is their business, to make overtures to it because it was elected by workingmen's votes. It is their business to observe it, to remind it of its pledges, to consure it whereve it does wrong, to credit it wherever it does right, to bein it by sincere counsei and advice, if that he possible And if, as is to be expected, it falls to serve the interests of the working meanie and fulfil their hopes, then it is the business of the Socialists to show the working people just why it has failed and how a Socialist administration would avoid such errors.

Bie, agnin, we believe our fan Fran cinco comrades are quite competent to do and are resolved on doing. If our foreboding should prove to be anfounded, if the "union labor" admin latration should prove to be really an administration by and for the working people of the city, then no one will be better pleased than ourselves, than the Poclalists of San Francisco and of the whole land. We are enger for the emancipation of Labor. It matters littie whether that emancipation be carried out under our party name or the records of any art under another, so it is done. If others do it, we shall be the first to appland

The lot of the actor who, either from choice or because of exclusion, is forcell to play independently is beset with obstacles and difficialties. In this city there are now but three first-class the treat. At none of the others, which are either managed by members of the trust i milividually or are under the trust's wing can an independent star play without the trust's consent. There are several large cities in the United States in which an independent star cannot play at all, as the only theaters in those cities are under trust control Among these cites are Cicreland, To-lesto, Providence, New Orleans, and all other Southern cities, Omaha, Kansas Olev. Re. Paul. Minneauclin, and San Francisco. Then there are many cities where an independent star can play only by appearing in theaters that are second or third class, and that are no ally devoted to the thrills of me drama or the bolsterous uses of variety farces. There are other cities where the independent actor can play only in theaters that are devoted to The Theatrical Trust, with its in-

In the past, it is true, the drama in certain countries was shnekled by oppressive inws, and even owed its existence at times to the espricings favor of kingly or titled pat rounge. . The contemporary state in countries other than our own at times in restricted in its freedom by a cense ship that sometimes is marked more by igourance than by wisdom—a consor-ship that exists for political clerical and moral reasons. The only equatrality that exists in our country is that of the public, which enjoys not only the privilege, but the right of deciding what shall and what shall not live it the theater. "The American people have made

It has permitted the temple of the drama to be invaded by a horde of money changers, who have stripped the alter of its beauty and have driven put the custodians of the sacred vessels. Only in America has the stage been afflicted by the sod-den, corrupting, debauching influence of such a control as the theatrical trust, whose assumption of the funcpeople is the most extraordinary and estrous development to be found in

"What would be said if a few dealers in pictures should usurp possession of the only galleries in which pictures might be exhibited in the city of New York and should say to the public You shall see no pictures except the we choose to let you see, We shall long no pictures painted by artists who are unwilling to sell their picture to us at our own prices. If any artist refuses to come to our terms to paint pictures in such styles and with such ubjects as we demand, his work can remain in his studie. No one shall see it. We shall wipe him off the face of cutth.

"What would be said if the nublish rs of this country should band them selves together and say. We will not give the public the books that the lic profess.' THE AMERICAN NEGRO'S PROBLEM.

tree or more papers which Miss Pemberton is contributing to The Worker, As a member of a family that distinguished itself on the Confederate side in the Civil War, and as having closely observed conditions in the Houth in recent years, the author is especially qualified to discuss the negro nestion without being open to the Charge of Northern prejudice.-Ed.)

The empiralists who exploited negro labor-under the form of chattel slavery did so without apology or hyperitical professions of belief in the brotherhood of man an applied to the negro. They were untrammeled by any of the traditions that existed to confuse the ex-plotters of inbor in the North, and they cheerfully met all arguments based on the alleged buman rights of the negro by simply denying that the negro was:

sistencies and contradictions, out of which his ingenious right hand has suffrage, an expensive public school system, and bestows public libraries, innecuns and all manner of philan thropic extravagances without appar-ently perceiving the logical incomeunder of his actions. It is only lately that the extreme folly of such inconcapitalistic mind of the North, and to now secretly questions the actual bene ht of conferring the ballot and popular exploited. Yet even in the old slave days it was notorious that the worse taskmasters and slave-drivers to be found in the whole Bouth were the Yankes traders, who came there to abandon their hampering traditions and benefit by the gloriously simple theory of labor exploitation which chattel slavery, without subterfuge or apology, so arthously provided.

At the close of the Civil War, when slave-owners, under military com slan, agreed to transform their clust tel sinves into wage sinves, they did so without any change of beart on the great moral lasses for which they had fought. The battle had gone against them, and they were compelled to accept the rule of their military musters, but is did for follow that they were but it did not follow that they were obliged to accept any of the Blogical premises on which the hated Yankes and built his wonderful system of phil anthrople humbug and wage-subjuga ceding states was readmitted into the I'mon on the required banks of uni requirements had not the annetity of oly tradition in the eyes of the South which to exploit labor, and this atti inde has not been changed by the lapse of time. Even the poor whites of the South had never enjoyed a universa mblic school system, nor had they ever demanded it. A form of it had existed in some Southern states, and in other as a kind of "outdoor relief" for in digent children, but nowhere was it regarded as the natural right of any white aristocracy.

Southern expitables (controlling also the poorer white population have never ceased to regard negro suffrage with contempt, and negro education as an unjust burden on white taxpayers. They are already successfully suppres ing the one, and they will eliminate the other from the pegro's bill of rights just as soon as the necessity for increasing the number of distrabelised black illiterates becomes of political importance. Possibly, it seemed at first as if the casto ruling that forbad white persons to test in colored schools would prove a sumicient similing block in the pathway of megre education Colored actions must be taught by colored men and women-the blind must lead the blind-and Heaven grant that they all full into the ditch together, even with the aid that the Northern musicuaries are so ready to sive them! This was the cry of the Northern heart, but it had the happy effect of atimulating both the yearning for knowledge on the part of the blacks' and the desire to impart it on the skie of the enthusiastic misisonaries, and competent colored teachers were non-really to fill all the positions that the South was ready to pay for. The result is doubtloss consewhat appailing to the Nouthern capitalist, notwithstanding the overwhelming numbers of black illiterates that still remain on the plantations where negro schools are few and far between, and hold a most precarious existence.

It is easy to see that the kind of wage slavery introduced in the South to supplant chattel slavery was not likely to be modeled exactly after the pattern provided by "hypocritical Yan-kees." The Southern planter was quite kees. The southern panter was altre-capable of getting up a system of his own, and he understood the underly-ing principles of labor exploitation far-more clearly than they were at that ties understood in the North. Besides this, the South was an agricultural community and demanded different conditions. Money was scarce; the Yankees charged an exorbitant rate of interest for every dollar they lent to "build up a new South," and this inerent together with the planter's profit must be wrung from the labovers—all of whom were black men, and until recently, merely "property." The loss of this "property" could also with justice be charged up against these labor-

Wives: Mothers, Sisters, Sweethearts OF UNION MEN

Join the American Federation of Women.

Many a battle has been won because of the support of the women and many battles have been fost because that support was lacking. Every merchant realizes that the women spend th money and every man knows that without their favor his business will suffer. It behooves every one of m to aid our husbands and brothers, for their fight is our fight, and their wel-fare our welfare. Every woman in the American Federation is equal to ten men in their organizations, and we can do more to spread the union label, to carry oh boycotts and to advance the cause of unionism generally than you realise until you attend our meetings.

CAPITALISTS BREAKING FAITH.

Employees of Boston and Albany Ros Suffering Under New York Central Similarit.

The Westfield, Mass., "Valley Echo,"

for Nov. 9, says:

"These are sober days for employees on the Heston and Albany Railroad No one knows to-day where he will be located to-morrow and some of the bidest and most faithful supplyees or the road are being forced out through assignment to runs which they could never endure. There are many victim of previous accidents on the road whe company that they should have a jo for life. They were filling comfortable but the new management bas shifted them to places utterly imposs hie for them to fill, thereby fulfilling the lefter, but not the spirit, of the former contract and leaving these met tranded at a fate period of life and when their condition is indeed a piti-able one. All this was to be expected and, though predicted by its opponents at the time the lease was under discussion, it was not realized by the em players. Now they begin to under-stand the plight they are in and cannot condemn too strongly those who help of the passage of the lease. It shows plainly in Tuesday's yote, particularly n the case of Dewey of Westfield, who toted for the lease, and whom the rail road men completely buried at th solls. It was a sorry day for Western lamy passed into the control of the Nort Control

Both them nien have been returned to the legista ture, as was to be expected, but it is a great pity that Westield, for instance did not send another Social Democrat a workingman true to his class, to hele them fight the battles of Labor in the

It is no matter for surprise that the ratirond company in question is breaking faith with the old men who have been ericuled in its service, and white keeping the letter of its contract with them, netually driving them out into beauty and denendence. Channey M bepew and the other capitalists who direct the affairs of the N. Y. Let the railroad employees send to out of their own class pledged to spani tion for the henefit of the public, no for private profit. There is only one party which is honestly such clearly pledged to a program including the proposition, and that is the Bocialist Party-or, as it is known in Massachn setts and New York, the Social Demo eratic Party.

There are a million railroad men is this country. If they would get to rether, and actually support the Social at movement, they could put men in every state legislature in the land and end a goodly delegation to Congress tion on their part would be that the railroad communies would bestir them rolling stock so as to prevent the kill ing and maining of workmen, so far marokiably injured. A million Social rullway capitalists-and that is the only way to get anything out of them. That is what the railway workers alone could do. And the men of every other trade stand in a similar po own interests in workingmen in th same way. There is no use of waiting for the Depews and the Hannas, or the Itills and the Gormans, to help we tion of our class. We have the votes and we can put the espitalists and on out of business ever we get ready to use those vuter Intelligently.

DETERMENATION OF PART.

There can be no doubt that during last decade food has undergone and this cannot be althout a demoralizing influence upo the human race. It will be noticed that by far the majority of cases of tamper ng with food relate to the substitution f a cheaver article rather than the adtions of life make a substitution a necessity. It is difficult to see the logic of such a defense—at least, in a num-

It is urged, for instance, that iam or marmalade cannot be made without the addition of glucose, which prevents the preserve from crystallizing. Now long before glucose was a household word jams and marmalade were made and good they were, too, consisting entirely of sugar and fruit. In the sau way we are told that beer must be browed from sugar, and that browing zelusively from mait presents untold difficulties. Again, golden syrup, which used formerly to be the refined syrup molasses, consists largely now of artificial augar, which is doubtless a more marketable product, but is not the same thing as cane augar, -- Chicago

"INADVISABLE TO GIVE BAIL."

Significant Incident Connected with Arrest of Santiago Iglesias.

Deverament Interested in Convicting "Agitator"--Dispetch Says: "As the Incident Has Become a Public Question it was Doomed Inadvisable for Anyone to Fernish Ball."

Santiago Igffhias, who, as we stated last week, was arrested as soon-as he landed in Puerto Rico, on the charge of being a labor agitafor and baving incited workmen to strike during his previous residence in the island, has been released on ball furnished by Mr. Gompers and the A. F. of L.

One passage in the press dispatch which appounces this fact is worthy of especial attention. It says:

"A cablegrain from Sampel Gompera president of the American Federation Sidney McKee, authorizing him to furnish ball of $500 for the release Igicalas, pending the trial, the federa-tion and Mr. Compers to be responsible for the amount. * * * McKee stood ready to furnish the bail if the organi zation requested it and would be responsible Mr. Gompers received pri vate word that AS THE INCIDENT HAD BICOME A PUBLIC QUES-TION, IT WAS DEEMED INADVIS. ARLE FOR ANY ONE, ON HIS OW: ACCOUNT, TO FURNISH THE BAH. The Executive Council of the Federation, which Mr. Gompers did not have time to consult in advance doubtless will approve his action. Otherwise he himself will have to stand for the amount."

The words we have emphasized tell as it had been established in Puerto ltico. It is actually the government that is on trial and the government propoics to defend itself, if possible, by convicting lightening of " The arbitrary gower of the government in the colony is such and its unone methods are such that indiwise for them to show their belief in Iglestan' innocence by Yurulehing ball for him. "The incident has become a public question."

One may well ask: If the govern-cent can and does make it "inadvisable" for anyone to furnish ball for a "labor agitator," is it not likely that same government can and will make.it "inadvisable" for witnesses to give testimeny in his defense or for judges or jurymen to give a decision

The methods our capitalist govern nent is now applying in Puerto Rico to suppress the organization of the working class are, the methods we may expect it to use in the near future here in the United States for the same purpose unless the workers use their votess assisting whole capitalist system, as Socialists advise.

THE SERENE SOCIALIST.

BY FRED LONG.

(In loking over the file, this artic originally published in our May Day issue of 1900, struck us as deserving to be printed again. Good as is the exon, the idea expressed is still just

The distinguishing mark of a Social int is his sevenity of mind. No wave of trouble rolls across his peaceful broast. Neither grief for the past nor fear for the future wrinkles his brow. He leaves to the dead past the burial of its dead, and to the dying present the management of its tearful obsequies. It is nonof his funeral. The shades of departed splender do not satisfy his douging for the beautiful, nor has the chant of choir invisible any music for his soul, lie stands in the sun. With eye touched by living light he shes to-day the aubstance of to-morrow's glory; ear attuned to all the harmonies of human beart he hears already atter laughter of the children of the

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF.

Old Foes Under New Disguises-Brotherhood Must Be Real Before It Can Be Universal.

BY HARRY C THOMPSON.

It is startling, even to a revolution- | dustry are founded upon floods of ary Socialist, to turn from a rapid reepocles in history to the current papers nd find that Senstor Haupa has been repeating the ery of those who represented the successful ones of each age. Their cry of "Lalmes faire" has been translated and repeated by Mr. Hanna all through Oblo this campaign, "Let well enough alone." Three or four great truths are thereby made very clear.

Those who have wished to preserve existing conditions, because of personal satisfaction resulting from them, have opposed the progress of the race at every step. The instinctive opendency to organize. Particular sections of society desire an increase of power over the whole of the people, in order that their private reasons for exstence and a continuance of the pres and questioned. Thus the power of the people at large will never increase unless they be taught to examine the old, detect its correspondences to environment. It is for the self satisfied, self-clerted superior class to persuade themselves that the power of making laws should be ledged in their hands. They repre-sent the most "prosper sis" class, therefore the laws which have brought this condition must be good laws. Thus the next step is to persuade themsolves and their retainers that it is the the obedience and contentment of people by repressing new teaching. New ideas, which question the present order, its results, and its ethics would upwittle the monle and endanger fla government.

So Senator Hanna has been perform ingchis function as a member of his class and have persuaded the people of Ohio to "Let well enough alme." He assured them that the only opportunity they would ever have to register their protest against the assussination of the marty red president would be at the tailor box by continuing the Republican party in power. He has begged "for God's sake" to stand by the policy of the administration

These two arguments (2) are partic plarly galling to intelligent men, even life long Republicans, because these is absolutely no connection between enise and conclusion and they are insulting to the character and in ligence of the people of Ohlo. To make a political argument of the death of the president is not one, whit hetter taste than a personal attack mon Mr. McKinley during the hours of his suffering and stands by itself, an anomaly, abbot rent to all the prople, opposed to the policy and hopes of all Socialists as well as to the president's cabinet believe in the Brotherhood of all men

SOCIALIST VOTE.

Returns for New York City Are Now Complete.

Comparison of Rusults May Suggest Comparison of Taction-Ohio Makes Large Gain-Vote le Pennsylvania, New Jetsey, and Maryland.

We always intend to tell the truth in thispaperand to observe the proverbial injunction, "Give even the Davil his due." But we are liable to error, and have this week been made poinfully conscious of the fact.

In our last hause, through an absurd hunder in addition—for which we offer no excuse, since no good one is possible—we credited the S. L. P. with 100 forces of the second of with 1,000 fewer votes than they really had in the Borough of Manhatian. Their total for the first thirty-three districts was really 8,702, not 2,702. and their loss in these districts was 949, not 1,949. Much as we wish that the figures we gave had been correct, offer a frank apology for misrepre senting the facts.

The canvassing of the vote for Greater New York is now completed and we are able to give the full returns, which show a gain for the Social Democratic Party of Gi. votes and a loss for the I. P. of 1,511. The result is home given by boroughs.

OHIO'S GOOD VOTE.

Harry C. Thompson, candidate of the Socialist Party for Governor of Oblo, polled 7,350 votes. The S. L. P. has 2.71N. Last year we had 4,050 and the S. L. P. had 1,707. Both parties thus gain.

While the Socialist Party still lacks a few hundred of getting official recog-nition, our comrades are well pleased with a gala of about 60 per cent, and propose to make a corresponding in-erence when the votes are counted in

NEW JERSEY.

Pull official returns for the state of New Jersey give Charles H. Vail, candidate of the Socialist Party (formerly Social Democratic Party), 3,480 votes. Wilson, the S. L. P. candidate, thes 1.918. Last year the national ticket of the S. D. P. received 4,600 votes and that of the S. L. P. 2.171. The total vote of all parties was very light this year, and the loss of the Socialist Party was no doubt partly due to the change of name. Vizorous agitation all through the coming year is needed to retrieve what has been lost and reglster a net gain at the next election This can be done if the comrades will

PENNSYLVANIA.

J. -Makion Harnes, candidate for State Treasurer on the ticket of the Socialist Party-or, as it appeared on the bullot, "Public Ownership Party" - received 2,674 votes. McConnell, the B. L. P. candidate, had 2,583.

Last year we had 4.831 for our na-tional ticket, while the S. L. P. had 2.838. An examination of the vote for the county tickets of the two parties thise year, several of which have been reported in The Worker, shows that many, probably our-half of the votes cast for the S. L. P. state ticket were intended for us. Our county tickets appeared under the proper name of our orty,-but the state ticket was at the last moment, put under the name of "Public tiwnership," on account of a court decision barring us from the use of the word "Socialist." Many voters. not being informed of the facts, voted the S. L. P. state ticket by mistake and many others refrained from vot-ing any state ticket. If we had not been handleapped by the confusion of names, we should probably have held cur own or gained slightly, while the S. L. P. has from 1,000 to 1,200 rotes

MARYLAND.

The vote of the Socialist Party in Raitimore is an follows Jacobson, for Serveyor, 741; Marcek, for Sheriff, 647; Casaldy, for Clerk of the Circuit Court, 623; Laughirt, for Cierk of the Supreme Court, 608.

Supreme Court, 608.

Last year the vote for Debs and Harriman was 600. As many votes were cast in favor of Debs on account of his personal record in the labor movement, while this year's result is a vote strictly für Socialism as such, the gain 'is satisfactory-especially when it is remembered that here,' too, we were compelled to change our official name differen days before election, the Attorney General deckling that we could not use the name "Stedal Demoald not use the name "Social Demoeratic," under which we had carried on our campaign.

Then I tell no more." the slave replied:
And he passed from the factory door.

Up rites the master in wrath's excess; He calls to his bloodbounds three, "Ho. Houser, and chid and Nakedness! Hring the rebel back to me?" Poon the track of the wage slave hold Leap the bloodhousds three straightway; Grim Hinger and Nakediosa and Cold, With their jaws set wide for prey.

He begra their awift and atealthy tread; Their growls reply to his ground: They pull the shelter from over his head, And the fiesh from off his bones.

He flies, but ever on his track.
The bloodbounds fleree come faster,
They worry and wind him back and back.
To the hands of his cruel master. The slave sinks down in sore distress. The master cries in give:

To year task, vile clave, or feel the lash? Watch him my bloodheands true! If ever rebellion makes him rash, His fiesh sail-be your dise!"
And the slave with angulas herer told Freis their breath as be tolls away, For Hunger and Nakedness and Cold Are watching him each day!

WORKING FORCE TO BE REDUCED.

The Steel Trust Will Increase its Profits by Discharging Hundreds of Employees-Clerical Force to Suffer

So lunge an undertaking as the Steel Trust takes time to carry out its plans to completion. While in 'several resepets the effects of the consolidation of the steel in:lustry have aiready cahe much into evidence, there is un doubtedly more to come. This week's dispatches forecast the making of one change, and a very important one from the workingmen's point of view, that should unturally be expected as a result of trustification.

It is appounced that about the begin ning of the new year the United States Steel Corporation will take steps to centralize the workings of its departnents, and that this will mean a large dreds of employees, it is said, will be thrown out of their positions. Un-doubtedly, as the plans are gradually carried out, the number will be swelled from hundreds to thousands.

Economy is, of course, the chief mo-tive in the formation of such a consolidution as the Steel Trust-economy in the interest of the proprietors. And one of the chief methods of cutting down expenses is by so organizing the laudness on a large scale that the same amount of work can be done with less expenditure of labor on the part of the mployees.

So long as the industry continues to he a private enterprise, carried on for profit, the sole object of reducing the inbor-cost is to increase the capitalists' revenues, and the means by which it is done is the discharge of a part of the employees. The payroll is directly reduced and a number of men are thrown into the army of the unemployed, whose added competition tends to render still more insecure the position of those who are retained. Thus, under private ownership, the more perfeet organization of industry, as well as the improvement of machinery, operates to the injury of the working class, instead of being an advantage to the whole of society. That is a reas public ownership of the means of production, so that with every imp might be reduced and the economy of inbor effected by improved methods re dound to the benefit of all.

COAL TRUST GROWING.

The stock of the Northwestern Fuel Company, amounting to $2,500,000, has passed into the hands of the controlling interests of the Fairmount Coal Company. What gives especial interest to this event is the fact that the Northwestern Fuel Company has re-cently bought all the stock of the Wisconsin Dock Company, which controls all the docks and wharves along the coast of the big lakes that are used for handling coal. The Falrmount Coal Company, which has a capital of $12,000,000, has grown rapidly within the last few mouths. having absorbed all the tudependent coal companies of West Virginia, and in closely ailled with the gorrespond-ing companies which contect the greater part of the mines in Penmylvania

The time is fast approaching with the United Mine Workers' Union will find itself face to face with a capital-ist combination as complete and as perfectly organized as that which the Amalgamated Association of Iron. Steef, and Tin Workers had to face last summer. It is to be hoped that both the miners and the sigel workers will learn the lesson of this trustifica-tion process and east their votes for a party which would use the powers of local government to help them in their battles and which, if victorious in the nation, would make public property of the land, mines, mills, and oth of production now monopolized for pri-

FOR LABOR POLITICS.

Trades Council of Essex County, New Jersey, Instructs Delegate.

Hot Fight Over Resolution Instructing Delegate to A. F. of L. in Favor of Political Action for Co-operative Commonwealth-Finally Carried by a Vote of Thirty to Ten.

The Essex Trades Council held a live ly session Friday night of last week, the subject of discussion being a reso-lution instructing the delegates to the A. F. of L. convention to vote in favor of independent political netion of the working class for the establishment of the Co-operative Commonwealth.

The resolution, which was introduced by Delegate Milistein of the Hatters' Union, was identical with that adopted by the New York Central Federated Union the previous week. It is in the following terms:

"Whereas, The ownership of the means of production—land, nines, fac-tories, railroads, etc.—in rapidly being concentrated in the hands of a busiler and smaller number of the people, and the class line between capitalists and workingmen is being more and more clearly drawn; and "Whereas, The capitalist class, is clearly conscious of its class interests and uses the powers of government to advance its interests at the expense of the working class through legislative bodies which defeat labor bills but cuact laws demanded by great corpora-tions, through courts which declare labor laws unconstitutional and issue injunctions against trade unious, through executive officers who neglect the enforcement of laws for the protection of the working people but who use the police, the militin and the federal troops to crush strikes; and "Whereas, In all conficts between Labor and Capital the Republican and Democratic parties have proven themselves to be equally subservient to the desires of the capitalist class and equally callous to the sufferings of the working class; be it therefore

"Resolved, That this convention calls upon the workingnen of the United States to unite for independent political action, in a party having as its avowed object the overthrow of the avowed object the overfirow at the capitalist system of production and distribution and the establishment of the Co-operative Commonwealth—that is, the public ownership and operation of the means of production and distribution for public service instead of for private profit."

A HOT FIGHT.

As soon as the resolution was read. Delegate Guttion of the Typographical Union, rose to speak in opposition and ndulged in language whileh prevoked land protests from various parts of the hall. His chief argument was that the resolution was a political one-and in this objection he was supported by several of the most active Democratic politicians in the Council.

Delegate McIntcah of the Typographical Union replied by showing that unions and central labor bodies all over the country were now consid-ering and acting favorably upon such resolutions, as they were coming to recognize, that politics could not be kept out of the labor movement—that it was only a question between straight labor politics and crooked capitalist politics. Delegater Neben, Jones, and others spoke in the same

Delegates Hilfers, Hall, and Free man continued the opposition, as did also Gottlob, and the chairman, although himself opposed to the resolution, received very little attention from those who were fighting against Motions were made to table the resolution and to postpone it, but both were defeated. It was then referred o the Resolutions Committee, consis ing of Delegates Guttiob, Ryan, and McIntosh, which committee immediately presented two reports—the two former members in opposition and Mc-lntosh in favor. A motion of adopt the majority report was quickly fol-lowed by an amendment substituting the favorable infacilty report, and the points of order followed in close sue cession. Every point was promptly decided by the chair in favor of those who opposed the resolution and, every decision was promutly reversed by the house on appeal.

CARRIED BY LARGE MAJORITY.

When the matter finally came to vote, the resolution was carried majority of thirty to ten; and Henry Hilfers of the Cigar Makers' Union, delegate to the Scranton convention of the American Federation, accordingly the opponents freely declared that their unions would withdraw from the Council if the resolution was adopted; but in view of the size and evident determination of the majority, it is not considered likely that any such disrup-tive tactics will be attempted.

MORE ARRESTS OF WORKMEN.

Three Union : Butchers Fined for Distributing Boycott Notices.

Re orm" Magistrate and Tammany Police Co-operate to Presecute Workingmen Striving for Shortes Hours of Labor-A Doad-Letter Ordinance Serves as a Pretext.

Now that election is over the capi talled politicians are showing that those sprouts which they assured the workingmen were appearing on their shoulders and were to develop into wings are really coming out on their forchends and show a tendency to grow into horms. This was illustrated last Sanday, when three members of Butchers' Union No. 2 were fined, on the unsupported testimony of a scal that they had distributed boycott circulars.

On Saturday, Gebhard Schaad, a union butcher, was standing on the side walk opposite Hartwig's meat-shop, 91 Avenue A. Hartwig, seeing him, came out and asked a policeman to arrest him, eaying that he had distributed circulars asking workingmen not to buy at Hartwig's place, . In the mean-time, Joseph Melber and Adam Fuchs, also members of the union, came up and on Hartwig's request all were ar

FINED ON SLIGHT CVIDENCE.

The men were tried before City Maxistrate Mott of the Vorkville Po-lice Court on Sunday morning. The only evidence against them was Hart when accusation and the fact that one of the men was found to have in his pocket some copies of a sticker which is here reproduced;

Boycott & Boycott A. Hartwig's Provision Store. - 91 AVENUE A. Bebeter, foolt utter bei Ras, Gatting, bermale Beches's Book Grinte, Gi AVENUE A, unite 6. Cer. The U. R. U. R. Y. Y.

Hartwig admitted that he had no seen any of the accused men distributing hoycott circulars, but that "a woman," who could not be found, had told him that she saw their do so.

The three men were fined $10 each under ah ordinance which forbids the distribution of cards, handbills, etc., on the streets. As this law is constantly violated by business men in distrib-uting advertising matter and no action a taken to prevent it, it is evident that the oplinance was merely taken as a prefert to ponish the union men for boycotting Hartwig's place.

GROUND OF THE BOYCOTT.

The Butchers' Union has tried to in duce Hartwig to establish the ten-hour day for his employees, believing that even ten hours is two long for men to be compelled to work. Hartwig paid no attention to the requests of the union. ind required his men to work for excessively long days, sometimes, it is said, as long as fifteen hours. The union was obliged, therefore, to request werkingmen and their sympathizers not to patronize his shop.

Maglitrate Mott, it should be remen bered, is one of the appointers of "re-form" Mayor Strong, while the police, in making such arrests as this, are acting under Tanunany Mayor Van Wyck, "Reformers" and Tanunany men agree very well on one point, which is that employers' interests must be protected against the organlixed workingmen. Workingmen should retailate, not only by boycotting Hariwig and other aweaters, but also by boycotting the two old political parties which aid the sweaters.

The great cigarmakers' strike at Tanijai, Fla., was declared off by La Resistencia Union last Saturday. It was shown that the funds of the union were exhausted and that no further provision could be made for those of strike, and by a unanimous vote the struggle was declared at an end. Nothing has been gained by the strike, which has lasted for four months and has been marked by great enthusiasm and courage upon the part of the workmen, as well as by brutal tyranuy on the part of the manufacturers and their friends in public office.

Although the eignimakers of Tampa have failed in this battle-which is greatly to be regretted, because they surely deserved a victory-yet they are not crushed nor discouraged; the spirit which has enabled them to carry on so splendld a fight this time will enable them to build up their organization and begin the struggle again when the op-portunity shall present itself. And if the workingmen of the country at large have learned the lesson the of the empitalists and the politicians in this affair, then a great deal has been accomplib hed or six weeks, seeing to hope of com-quering the strikers' resolution by or dinary methods, the bosses resorted to methods of violence and practical anarchy. They organized with their captulast sympathizers a so-called "Business Men's Committee"—including some of the "best citizens" of Tampa. These highly respectable gentlemen, by a carefully planned conspiracy, succeeded in kidnapping thirteen of the leaders of the union; robbed them of what little money they had in their possession; put them secretly on board a ship and had them left, without food or other necessaries of life, on an un-inhabited island off the Central Ameri-

An incident that added horror to this high-handed crime, was the fact that one of the strikers was forcibly torn from beside the sick-bed of his wife, who had just given birth to a child, and that the poor woman died from the terror and anxiety thus caused her in her helpless condition.

The incremed men were accidentally discovered by a "savage" Indian, who saved them from the wretched fate designed for them by the "civil-ized gentlemen" of the enjdtalist class. After great hardships they got back to this country and showed their cour-age by returning to the scene of battle.

ARUSE OF PUBLIC POWER.

The Democratic authorities of the city of Tampa had winked at these proceedings, as well as at the violent judges then gave them the choice of going back to work in the strike shops at the bosses' terms or being sentenced to sixty days in the chain-gang. Most of them accepted the sentence and went out to work on the streets, in the brolling summer heat, and under the supervision of brutal guards, rather than become scabs.

THE LESSON OF IT.

The Democratic government of the state of Florida and the Republican national administration stood calmly by while these outrages were being perpetrated and did not raise a finger -no, did not utter a syllable-on behalf of the persecuted tollers. There is a lesson for workingmen of all trades in all parts of the country to learn from this experience of their brothers in Florids. The lesson is that neither of the old parties can any longer be trusted to defend even the present legal rights of the working class-much less to advance the workers' in-terests or secure them new rights; that the insolent aggressions of the capital-ists can be checked only by putting in office—in all offices, local, state, and national-men chosen by and from the working class, chosen because of their proved and uncompromising devotion to Labor's cause, and elected to power by Labor's class-conscious votes. With a Socialist mayor in Tampa, or a So-cialist governor at Tallahassee or a Socialist president at Washington, the crimes we have had here to recor would never have been committed.

THE PARTY'S LABLEM.

THE PART AND THE WHOLE.

The Reverend Robert L. Paddock Vienr of the Pro-Cathedral and prominent in East Side "settlement" work. addressed the clergy of the city the other day on the needs of the poor. He urged the necessity of having more public baths, more libraries and reading rooms, more club rooms, and more gymnasiums in the poorer quarters of the city. He said these things were "a part of the poor people's rights."

We have three questions to put to Mr. Paddock and to all benevolently minded persons like unto him:

First, since these things are a part of the peop people's rights and since it is their poverty which prevents them from providing these things for them fres, those it not follow that their use of that word, and that the system which makes them poor (and makes other and less meful people right is a radically wrong system?

It will be no answer to this question to my that the poverty of these neonle to their own fault, due to their lack of ludustry and sabriety or of some other ficieties which praised and little practiced by the owners of the earth That answer is impossible, for then these tidags, which only their poverty prevents them from possessing, could not be spoken of as a part of their Second, if boths, libraries, and gymmanimus are only "a part" of the poor people's rights, why do not Mr. Paddock and his friends define the whole of their rights and go in with might and main to help them secure the achole?

Certainly Mr. Paddock must know that it will be easier to secure a part by lustly demanding the whole, even If he does not hope to be able to secure And surely he is compromising his own conscience when he contents himself with an agitation-or, rather, a pleafor "a part of the rights" of his fellow men. When Mr. Paddock gives morai lessons to his flock, does he confine bimself to defining "a part" of the vir tues they ought to practise? Very likely he does not expect them lo be perfei-fly virrams. But we think he would repeat to them Christ's saying, "Be ye therefore perfect," in the hope that he will thereby do more to make them anprouch perfection than if he merely advised them to drop ten per cent. of their sins and practice ten per cent. more virtue. Why not be bravely consistent, Mr. Paddock, and demand the whole of the people's rights-though the heavens fail?

Third, to put the two former questions together, since the claim of then alight ameliorations in the monte's conditions as "a part of their rights" nécessarily implies a sudical wrongness in the system which deprives show of these desirable things, and | and very inadequate act of restitution.

since it is neither practical nor honest to confine oneself to the advocacy of a part of any right thing, why do not Mr. Paddock and his colleagues, instend of spending their energies in pleading for the partial righting of a few of the wrongs that' result from the existing system-why do they not strike boldly at the root of all those wrongs by directly attacking the sys tem liself?

Socialists say that baths, libraries, and gymnasiums are but a very insigallicant part ludeed of the rights of the working class and that the fact that these little things seem so great is evidence of the utter wrongness of the capitalist system which makes a few people rich by making a great-many people post.

Socialists say that, even though this mail part of the people's rights be in itself worth getting and even if nothing more can be hoped for, yet this easily got by urgently and uncompromisingly demanding the whole. They also think that the whole could be got, almost as easily as any part of lt. If people would not fritter away their efforts in half-hearted efforts at half-way measures.

And accordingly, Socialists center all heir force in a vigorous and radical attack upon the enpitulist system, the evil tree which yields all the polsonous fruit of which the people is sick into death.

Mr. Paddock can do no less, if he be morally brave enough and intellectually honest enough to follow out libs own phrase to its logical conclusion. We are afraid be will not do it, though, The right course is never an easy one.

Archbishop Corrigan says: "Socialsm is unchristian." This is a hard Idow at Christian Iv. When the Arct. bishop gave his religion is one sed to Socialism he is drawing an imitetnest against his religion exactly as terrific as Boelalists can draw up against capitalism. We have an idea, however, that if Christ were living he would differ with Archbishon Corrigan on this question and some others.

SCHOOLS OF CRIME.

At the Conference of Corrections and Charities, last week, Seer, tary McLaughlin, of the State Prison Commission, said that many of the prisons and jails in New York, notably that at Sing Sing, "are so constructed as to be schools of wrime, affording opportunities for the confirmed criminal to cultivate criminal inclinations in the minds of first offenders and accidental criminabe? He also said that the state prison at Sing Sing "hea veritable buthed for the culture of the bacilli of tuberculosis and a distributing center for the scattering of the seeds of the disease not only among the prisoners, but among their families and the communities to which they return on their discharge!"

A pretty state of society, is it not. First, we allow a few people to own ait the land, raliways, factories, machinery-everything that the people need in order to work; by the ownership of these things, this possessing class is able to reduce a large part of the nonpossessing and all-producing class to the direct poverty, keeping their childpoverty is a wrong, in the strictest from in ignorance, and forcing them to Her to sucroundings that bount them to crime and under conditions that often drive them to crime. Then, in stend of using the power of the state to just an end to this class rule, with all its disastrous consequences, we cmploy police and bulges to eatch the young criminals and shut them up it places which are at once "schools of crime" and "hotbeds of disease." Have we any right to wonder that there is a criminal class?

A Socialist Judge would refuse to send men and women to prisons, so long as, by the admisison of an official authority in the orison system, these institutions are schools of crime and hotheds of disease. A Socialist city of state administration would assuredly everhaul these jails and prisons with in its jurisdiction and make them henithful and decent places. But it would do something better than that. It would overhaul the tenement houses and make clean and self-respect inc home life possible for their inhabthe whole for these wronged people. Itauts. It would help workingmen and working women in their struggles to re duce the hours of labor and increase their remuneration. It would see that children went to school, instead of working on the street or in diugy factories. It would provide work for the un employed and protection for the weak and helpless. By making the life of the people more comfortable and their existence more accuse, it would do more to prevent crime than all the po licemen and judges and jatters and electrocutioners have ever done by publishing it.

Mr. Carnegle has accumulated one of the largest fortunes ever known out of the product of the labor of the thousands of men in his mills. He is now only returning a very small portion of the surplus of his uncarned income. When we consider the enormous number of serious or fatal accidents in the steel mills and when we remember that, owing to the insistence of Mr. Carnegie and his fellow capitalists on the twelve-hour day, a large part of the men are worn out and broken down at the age of forty, it is hard to work up any enthusiasm over his attempt to avoid "dying disgraced."

THE TIME WILL COME.

BY PETER E. BURROWES.

The time will come, and may it come on, when the working class will be no conscious of its after separation from the interests of enpitalism that it will no lauger submit its mind to that ternational conspiracy of slavemak ers, the owners, editors, and sellers of mendacionsly great dailles.

The time will come when a working man would as soon open his door to admit a mad dog among his children to open it in order to take in, pay for and read, a newspaper cun by his omic enemies confessedly for their own prefit only. When labor passers are cherished at the breakfast tables of our lords then may their papers be aever come.

The time will come, and that very soon, when the police of New York will be reformed according to the secretly cherished designs of our great automobility. With Beth Low for cat's paw and Roosevelt for cat the process of transforming the police of American cities into gendurance for the sup pression of hiner will soon commence Already General Collis is slated for numissioner. The command for labor ats, "Shost low," will, therefore, some come to us out of Pennsylvania, and it will not mean shoot the mayor.

The time will come when the last ny that has learned to read will be able to catch on to much a game of conquest and fraud as now passes through the homes of America for simple news. Such tales as they give us concerning the exorbitant demands of the French tologre and their depret to that dee old republic will soon be known for what they are, a deliberate organized piracy for slave propaganda carried into our homes, with our own con

No coronation, no cannounding, no pomp-ous treaty making, no high stepping militarism, no hysterical patriotism affectation of time honored ways will rable to concest from public view that sordid little monkey who sits upon the throne of all modern states the profit monger.

The time will come when readers of sewspapers will have a chance of knowing something about labor strikes besides the bulletins now issued by shareholders; those lords of scabbery who mut for the right of free Lazaru to be a scab all over, that some poors does may lick him. The time will come when readers can hear a word from Laxarus himself on the high art of manufacturing scabs as it is practised by the automobility of America and that time will be when there is a labor press established in our country. The time will come when, on Thank giving Day an educated, class-con-scious population will inquire: What fur! when the governor of a state off chily calls upon them to give public thanks; when no workingman wil deem it hemorable to concent his por-crity and his bonds, when all working-men will know it to be a public duty is fan the cresh about last resiftens— to tell that truth entirely and change the patriots and deceivers who call them to go into the presence of God

The time will come when the aman ing significance of some newspape concealments will have due weight upon the public mind; when to conceaa public activity such as that of The of persons met together for an entire week, will mean bankruptcy for any sheet called newspaper; especially such sheet devotes columns of snace to the innuities of a horse fair for the display of well-dressed snobs and pro-moting the pleasures of matrimonial

The time will come when the hone able men of this country will blush for nothing in their history so deeply as for the laws protecting property against mankind; when men whose fathers were Republicans will read of republicanism in Kentucky and Penn-sylvania with bowed heads, when the som of Democrats will read of Democracy's doings in the mining and manufacturing states with the exclamation, "Hell must have been empty, in those days." When the projerty signist is taken from the eyes of America, what a tragedy of shame, villalny and oppression will be reveal ed in capitalistic politicat

The time will come when the tre mendous power of a united lie such as that embodied in the great internation ni newsgathering :associations, under enpitulistic direction, will be appreclated with a swift and active alarm when the danger of letting bandits and economic thugs tell us the whole of the story will appear about as reasonable as to allow the prisoners of Sing Sing nu exclusive right to arrange and revise the pictures in the Rogues' Gal-

The time will come when a waste of enthusiasm will be among the greatest of public crimes; when crank reformers who consume public time and effort in putting a Low into the mayor alty of a city will stand in the pillory public ridicule with the fad philauthropists who waste years of time prises as getting an old life convict out of prison because she has been no long there; when the world will write one scatence over most of our frautic polities, and the sentence will be "Was

The time will come when the clergy of this city (in fact it has come niready) will get new light on the Sunday openoen question, and that light will be applied from the oil tanks of the Republican party. The time will come when that terrible hatred of other countries known as patriotism will be looked at squarely in the face and found to be a fierce insanity nourished by the master classes for the further division of the world's laborers.

The time will come when there shall be no money price for crime's release... when punishment shall have no money quivalent; when the right to be a whrenker can never be claimed by the man who can pay a fine; when rewards for virtue in the form of exmote paid hypocrisy; when there shall no dollar value at all on a human life; when the judge who suggests a dollar as the value of a workman's child will be whipped from the bench,

COMMERCIALISM

AND THE DRAMA. Mrs. Sydney Rosenfeld, speaking on

"Commercialism versus Art in Connec-tion with the Stage," last week, said:

"This is an age of pot-boiling; very few of us are doing the best that is in us, and in the dramatic world the spir-It of commercialism has so completely overmastered that of art, that a des matist can so longer give expression to the thought that inspires him, but is bliged to think along lines laid down by the napager. The time when men wrote because they had to write what was in their hearts seems to have pass ed. Plays are written and produced to-day in the same way that costumes and hats are made. A certain style and fashion governs the present play certainly as it does the present mode of dress, and the dramatist is obliged to write in the fashion or give up the business, . . . "Framatically speaking, all the naleady for some one to invent a new side gore or pleat on which to build up their spring fashions in plays, and the dramatists have been so cramped and so stunted by commercialism that they don't renlise that this, might be a good moment in which to try and utter their mesange. Some have forgotten they ever had a message, but the unfority having rushed into the work with no message to give, no special love of the art, but merely a certain gift of dramatic cutting, fitzing, and general tailoring, are waiting patiently till their new patterns are served out to them."

For this state of affairs Mrs. Russenfeld could suggest no more practicable remedy than "the cultivation of a pure dramatic taste." This is a good deal like the proposition to raise opeself by one's boot-straps. Certain connucreisle con litions now prevent the production of really good plays, or put them at a disadvantage in comparison with poor ones. So long as these conditions prevail, we may expect the degradation of act to continue, in soile of all the ching in the world.

The fact is, the best work is never done for mere pay, never done for purchase and sale, never dune on a con-mercial basis. Our whole civilization is to-day founded on commercialism. and therefore its art is inferior. When this commercial basis gives human one, then true art will reappear

SOCIALIST PARTY IN NEW ZEALAND.

Not Yet Clearly Class-Conscious, but Marks an Advance Over Previous Political Conditions.

A Socialist party has been organized ; to the labor legislation of the Colony: in New Zealand during the past summer and, although it is at present, as the following correspondence will show far from being a satisfactory movement, there is room for hone that it will develop into something much better than New Zenland has yet seen. The constitution is a brief one. It is as fol-

Pariy.'

'2. Objects.—The objects of the party shall be to work for the organization of New Zealand as a Co-operative Commonwealth, in which the land and all the instruments of production, distri bution, and exchange shall be owned and managed by the people collectively.
"3. Methods. A.—The propagation of Socialism by meetings, lectures, deuntes, and classes.

"B.—The circulation of books, papers pamphlets, and leastets of a Socialist nature.

"C.—The utilization of the press in spreading the principles of the party.
"D.—The organization of Socialist for united action at elections.

"4 Membership.—Membership to the party shall be open to all who pledge themselves, first, to work for its objects; second, to vote for all candi dates regularly adopted by the party. The expenses of the party's work ar to be met by the contributions of its members, an entrance fee of one shilling and mor dues of sixpence. The General Secretary is R. C. Denew, Box 5, G. P. O., Wellington,

Immediately upon hearing of the formation of the new party—that is, on August 29—our comrade, Robert Rives LaMonie, formerly of New Jersey, but now living at Rongotea, N. Z., wrote to the General Secretary, asking for in formation. A reply was received on Detaber 3, and this, together with Com-rade LaMonte's further letter, we are allowed to publish for the benefit of American Socialists. The fact that the new party has been organized by some of the so-called "Ciarionettes" British settlers who were brought to New Zenland through the influence of Blatch fored's "Clarton" which less horadvertising New Zealand as an example of "practical" Socialism already in working orders this fact under the cor respondence all the more interesting.

We present first the reply of the Ger cretary to Comrade LaMonte's tirst letter:

"Henr Commde:-In replying to you Inquiries as to the social legislation and political situation in the Colony, I must in the first place ask you to excuse the nawilling delay on my part in answer ing your letter. The matter was brought up at our last meeting, and the action taken with regard to your letter by one of our commides has also contributed to the delay, in addition to the fact of want of lelsure to give anything like a full account of what is required, and I am afraid this reason will also har me going very fully into deexplain the peculiar position of public opinion and ideas on Socialism would require a great deal of time and space However, as clearly and concisely 'à la

"As to the comrades who have start ed this movement, some of them are colonials, most are British born from Great Britain and Ireland. They he clude three town and city councill and several leading men on the Well ington Trades Council, The M. H. R.'s. at present do not identify themselve with us, though some are in sympathy with our movement. None of our com-rades seem to consider the lineaments of their physiognomy of sufficient in ortance to have them published to the world. "As to what led to the starting of the Socialist Party, which, I may say, is only of two months duration: The reaon was, that we felt that the time wa ripe to give a definite statement of Se clalism as apart from Socialistic-hus so called, and to lead public opinion on to a definite Socialist program and policy with the definite aim of establishing the Co-operative Commonwealth in New Zealand.

Wellington, owing to a split on political action, about eighteen months of two years ago, it was settled that the Trades Council abstain from all politi cal movements. Consequently as a ody they have stuitified themselves as fighting political force, and can have no dealings with us, as such, though many of their leading men have joined our party as individuals. In Christchurch things are not quite so, the Trades Connell and unions taking a more setive part in politics, and are more permeated with Socialist ideas.

"We have not considered the point as to Socialism and the class struckle Personally, I do not see that the circumstances of New Zealand make i necessary or expedient to make Social iam a class movement. It may be in the States, where you have a large mass of wage workers and a small class of plutocrat capitulists. Here the capitalist and the laborer are in many cases united in one man, as in the large class of farmers and small trades and property owners. The purely labo would be outnumbered by the others, besides which, most of those who are simply wage workers now have hones, of thecoming their own masters' and their sympathies there-fore lie in that direction. What we need to emphasize here is that Social ism will benefit all the aforementioned clauses and also to show that that way lies the only road of escape, to avoid United States to-day.

"We believe the Socialist movement to be a labor movement, using the term 'labor' in a broad sense, as applied to all who contribute to the necessary work of production and distribution And we certainly take it to be internations; and universal and half all me of the same social faith as comrades. "Concerning the opinion held here as

To this letter Comrade LaMonte repiled in the following terms:

There is nothing in your constitution which I cannot cudorse and therefor L beston to join you, BUT I AM PELLY CONVINCED from your letter that your movement is not. AS YET, upon right lines; but I am-hopeful that n time it will develop lute a truly millant Socialist party, using the word So-ialist in the sense it has come to have in all countries where Socialism has ecomic a farce to be reckoned with. "I enclose you a clipping from The Worker (New York), Aug. 25, 1901, the leading Socialist paper in America, and one from Public Ownership (Eric, Ph. U. S. A.), Dec 22, 1900. These should show you that mine are not merely the views of one isolated individual, but ere these of all thoughtful Spelalists in America, and I think I am safe in adding in Europe.

"You say: "Personally I do not see that the circumstances of New Zealand make it necessary or expedient to make Scientism a class movement. • • • • • The purely labor class would be outnumbered by the others, besides which most of those who are simply wage-workers now have heper of becoming their own masters, and their sympathics therefore lie in that direction. What we need to emphasize here is that Socialism will benefit all the aforementioned classes'-farmers, smail tradesmen and property owners.

"My dear or rade. It is not for you e a 'class movement' or not. Modern tocinition is the outgrowth of economic es a certain stage of development, the new force, the conqueror of the future. ketalism appears and appears AS A CLASS MOVEMENT. This is true in all countries where the evalution of industry has progressed beyond infancy. Local circumstances cannot set aside this inexecuble law. Modern, revolutionary, international Socialism elses movement - the forward moreh . soured victory of the workers of all countries. You may not like this, but you are powerless to change it. All that is left you to decide is whether you will enlist in this conquering army or stand about and attempt to inaugurate the Co-operative Commonwealth by apby the way, which was tried without ress by three men of consu refer to Salut-Simon. Fourier, and Bobert Owen And the latter, with the powerful patronage of the Duke of Kent, had far greater grounds for hope of success than you and your co-work ent can possibly have.
"It is true, as you say, that bere tire purely labor class would be outnumber

d, but that is simply another way of saying that this is a new and industrially undeveloped country. It does not follow that because the working class are in a minority they could not with roper organization AND A FULLY DEVELOPED CONSCIOUSNESS OF THEIR CLASS INTERESTS exercise a powerful influence on legislation and thus wrest concessions from the other classes and pave the road to the co operative commonwealth. Moreover I am far from satisfied that the wageworkers, even here, are numerically as insignificant as you appear to think. According to the 'Bangitikel Advocate' there are upwards of 50,000 factory workers. Add to these the railway.

steamship, barbor, and coal and gold nining wage-workers, and you will have a very respectable unnority of a total population of about 800,000. Then it must be remembered that on the thren stations, where there is one owner there are from four to forty station bands, and here in the dairying district the hired milkers are a formidable con-

"Surely at a time like the present when such organs of the land owners and employing farmers as the "Ranitiker Advocate' are frantically calling on the farmers to organize to secure the repeal of the labor legislation, avowedly on the ground that it has artificially terested in low wages, there would be no great difficulty in showing the farm laborer that his interests are in direct conflict with those of his employer. The shadow which the coming milking mu-chine tofficially recommended by the Agricultural Department in Victoria) is casting before it would add force to the arguments of the Socialist.

"DON'T LIT THE FACT THAT THE PROLETARIANS ARE IN A MINORITY DISCOURAGE YOU! The economic evolution is proceeding at such a pace they will be a majority long before we can properly organize them "You probably ask: "Why do I in slat so on working on class lines, wher go on painting lovely pictures of our utopins and call on all men without regard to class to come and admire ther and then set to work to help us realize them? One more reason is that, though individuals may sacrifice themselves bodies or classes of men always work for their real or supposed material interests. Now the only class which can not possibly suppose they have anything to lose by the Social Revolution at which we aim is the distaherited class, the wage workers, the prolefarint. Their selfish material class in terest coincides with the highest and trucst interests of humanity as a whole, and hence they are the ONLY class which, AS A CLASS, can be trusted to bring about the Social Revo-Intlan and funnements the Society of the Future, the Pellowship of Hu Solidarity. To do this is their historic ndssion and glorious privilege. It mat-ters not whether you or I like it or not. The sole chalce left us is: Will we en list as common soldbre, as comrades in the world-wide army of class con sclaps proletarians, or not? I have long since answered this in the affirmative and it seems to me a glorious thing for the workers to be self-reliant, dependnomic salvation and the redemption of the world from the curse of caldialism initend of being supplicants for the abl and charity of the propertied classes.

"Is this equivalent to saying that we scorn and reject the girl of all inembers of other classes? By no nons Wherever a member of the other $1.50 es rises amorter to his class instincts and prejudices, and sees that the world's hope is bound up with the on terial interests of the workers, and joins the ranks as a comrade, NOT AS A SELF CONSTITUTED OR HEAVEN-ORDAINED LEADER, the proletarians always welcome him eagerly and gladly. In many eases hey overdo it and afterwards rue it.

"This brings me to the question Must we then abandon hope of successees? Again I quewer, by no means! "We must show the small farmer that as his product is largely exported to Grent Baltain, his prosperlty is dependent upon the purchasing power of the working class, for they are the great majority, and it is they who must buy the New Zealand butter and cheese if It is to pay the New Zealand settler a living profit. Now it is easy to show how empiralistic production cripples the purchasing power of the workers. If you have never read it, let me ask you to read Hellamy's Tarable of the Waterlank' in 'Equality,' This amounts to a scientific demonstration that the to a scientific demonstration that the be kept lossy working over New Zealand dairyman settler can form us of the favorable never be permanently prosperous so long as he continues to produce not for use, but for sale on the British market Drive this home. Then show, and lessened the intensity of the strug ifm that his only hope is to join gle with nature.

That there still remains a structure of the str bands and forces with th workers of all lands. The Effection - A CLASS STRUGGLE between the wage worker is a slave because he does not own his own tools or instruments of production. The New Zenland set. The own ers of the mean of production tier is a slave because, while he owns the hand, ONE of the justraments of production, he does not OWN the zs the working class is controlled in steamship and all the other things necessary to put his batter on the hondon market. The inference is that this much wealth now existing is his. But of course that is not true. He has very little existing wealth -either in money or clothes of food ar other products of past labor. What he has is a collection of papers certifying that he is entitled to leve upon the future preductions of other people. If other people stopped giving him portions of their earnings-stopped exporting to him except in proportion as they imported from him-ha would soon be not much richer than any other baby. NEXT YEAR'S WORK

At Mosting of General Committee of Local How York, Campaign Committee Makes Recommendations.

Comrades Berlin and Lans presided in last Saturdag's meeting of the General Committee of Local New York. Six new delegates were sented: Alleuikoff, Dittman, and Werner of the 32d and 33d A. D.; Helchenthal of the 24th A. D., Br. 2; Panser of the 18th A. D., and R. Bock of the 28th A. D. Twelve applicants for membership in the party were admitted.

A communication was received from the Social Democratic City Committee of Brockton, saking for financial asalstance in the campaign. On account of lack of funds, the Local was not able to give such ald, but The Worker was requested to publish notice so that comrades may respond to the appent if possible. Contributions should be sent to Frank S. Walsh, 240 Main

A committee was received from Turn Verein Verwnerts in regard to certain matters in connection with the July picuic of 1900; referred to C. E. C. for investigation.

The C. E. C. reported electing a committee-Harriman, Hillquit, and Leeto consider whether any reply should be made to Archbishop Corrigan's attacks upon Socialism. Concurred inand committee further instructed to engage Comrade McGrady, if posible, to speak in New York inreply to Corri-

C. E. C. further reported deciding to send circular letters to all registered S. D. P. and S. L. P. voters when registration lists are published; also re-questing Publishing Association to give up its rights at Grand Central l'alace la favor of the Local for an entertainment on Washington's Birthday February 22; also calling on subdivisous to make nonlinations for one memher of National Committee from state of New York. All concurred in.

The Campaign Committee presented showed receipts to Nov. 19 of $1,908.60 by contributions and $145.02 for leaf-lets, total $2,143.62; expenses to same date, $1,920.18; cush on hand, $184.49; Habilites, $468.60; defielt, Nov. 19, $281.11. Some lists are etill outstand-ing and courades holding them are requested to rature them at once with a final contribution, so that the dealt of the campaign may be covered promptly.

The report of the Committee polated out the overwhelming difficulties which the party had to meet in the late campaign and congratulated the comrades on the unusually good work that and been done. In all, there were 370 meetings arranged by the Campaign Committee (35 of them Indoors), during the nine weeks before election; healte this, about 150 meetings were arranged by subdivisions. Four large parades were also held-in the Bronx. Yorkville, East Side, and Queens,

The Committee issued and the comrades distributed at meetings or from house to house, 1,301,200 leaders, of which 1.166.250 were in Figlish, 58,000 in German, and 85,000 in Jewish; there were also issued 5,000 partraits of our majorally caudidate; and many thon-muds of leaflets, landbills, and cards were printed by subdividence.

Over thirty local speakers served in the campaign, and they deserve great credit for their work. Many had no previous experience, but they learned rapidly and some very good speakers have thus been educated. The Committee called especial attention to the services of Miss Johanna Dalme. Besides the local speakers, Comrades Hayea, Long, Carey, Bigelow, and Heydrick had been in the work for one whole week, speaking at both indoor and outdoor meetings. The Committee presented the follow-ing recommendations:

et. That each local in Greater New York elect a standing campaign and agitation committee. "2. That the territory or each local lished on naturalisation, for the by agi-tation districts or subdivisions. "7. That chube for developing speakers be established in each borough, with instructors appointed by the campaign committee. 48. That lectures on scientific Socialism be arranged by the campaign and agitation committees for the purpose of educating party members."

The recommendations were referred to the By-Laws Committee, whose report will be the first order of business at the next meeting, Dec. 7. The Campaign Committee's report was adopted and the committee discharged.

On motion of the 28th A. D. the State Committee was called upon to keep an organizer in the state throughout the coming year, whose duty it shall be to strengthen the existing locals and form new ones wherever possible and thus lay the basis for a good state campaign next fall; subscription lists to be issued to help pay expenses. Com-rade Phillips was recommended for the work.

Belogate Lane, on behalf of the 8th A. D., brought charges against J. Kap-lan for having spoken for the Repub-lican party. Referred under the constitutional provision to the Grievance Committee

The C. E. C. was instructed to take cognizance of the special election to be held in the Seventh Congressional district and see that the S. D. P. is represented.

The following subdivisions had no delegates at the meeting, and should no that in futre their delegates attend: [at, 2d, and 5th; 18th and 17th; 19th; 13d, 24th, Br. 1; 26th; 28th, Bohemlan Branch; 30th; 32d and 33d; 34th and 35th, Br. 2; Annexed District.

LOCAL KINGS COUNTY.

The regular meeting of the County Committee of Local Kings County was held on Sunday, Nov. 28, at the head-quarters, Ralph avenue and Fulton street, Brooklyn, N. Y. Comrade Schaefer, as temporary organizor, called the meeting to order, and Comrade Atkinson was elected to the chair, with Comrada Passage acting as vice-chairman. Twelve applications for membership in the party were received and acted upon favorably. It was decided that in the future applications may be received direct by the County Committee, and if there be no objection, passed upon, and the applicant given his membership card and referred to the branch to which he will belong.

The by-laws were then taken up and completed. They will now be sent to the different branches for adoption or rejection as a whole. It was deemed rise to pursue this course, so as have something to start with. If any minor faults are found, they may enily be corrected inter on. The branches are urged to vote for their adoption and are requested to send in the result of their vote inside of four weeks, or not inter then December 31. The corresponding secretaries of the different branches are also requested to send to the corresponding secretary of the local the names and addresses of the offleers of their respective organizations.

A number of branches were not represented at this meeting. As the local is now in its formative period, it is of vital importance that every branch be represented and through its representalives take part in the deliberations of the County Committee at this time, so s to avoid dissatisfaction and the reconsideration and alteration of means and measures in the future that may just us well be settled finally at once.

It was decided that the first organ-Committee, but that thereafter naminations be called for from the branches, and the election of that office be held by referendum vote. This point brought out some discussion, some delegates taking the stand that the l'annty Committee being composed of the terresementives of all branches it could be rafely trusted to express the will of all branches in the selection of this most important officer. The maxin, however, of applying the referen-dum vote to all important measures prevailed.

PREFIT.

What is profit? Profit is that which a man takes from another through hire without rendering an equivalent. If I produce $10 worth of wealth a day and he gets a profit of $8 a day; and hence I am rebbad of that much of my en ergy. My energy is my life, for without allergy there could be no life and in depriving me of four-fifths et my sa-ergy he is depriving me of four-fifths of my life.—John A. A SCHOOL OF SOCIALISM.

of Socialism.

If you are not a Socialist, you ought to know the reasons why. This you can breek know unless you suderstand Socialism. You cannot understand it unless you study it.

If you are a Socialist, you cannot help yourself-you will tell your neighbors about it in apite of every effort you may make to keep so good a thing to yourself. You cannot help you solely it yourself you solely it yourself. You cannot need you study it yourself. If you are a Socialist and are able to interest your neighbors in the saligest, then if you really care to have Socialists early the constry, you must bely in organise the Socialists for that purpose. To do this effectively you must have how to go to ship you should not be so that the socialists can be and so as not to weater your atrength in the effort you make. This is not an easy thing to do you make this is not access thing to do you make. This is not as easy thing to do you find these points. There are twenty lessons in the course—they even that St. U. or if you will organise in your tranch, or can study these topics together and greatly reduce the cost to each member of the

American Authorities In Puerto Rico Trying to Crush Labor Movement There.

Santiago Igiosias Is Still Hold in Prison, Though Bail is Offered-Another Workingman Fined and Imprisoned for Organizing a Longshoremen's

Our comrade, Santiago Iglesias, still remains in prison at San Juan, Puerto Rico, on a charge of having incited workingmen to strike, notwithstandthe offer of President Compers of the A. F. of L. to furnish bail for him.

The accusation under which ighesias is held is an old one, daying from his previous residence in the island, more than a year ago. He was active in or ganizing trade unions there and this med much trouble to the American capitalists who are exploiting the pil-and and who wish it to be "Americanized" in all but one respect-they do not want to pay American wages. In order to intimidate the workingmen they got ligleslas arrested on frumpedup charges of "inciting to riot"-just as Bels and many others have been arrested in this country.

Having no evidence against him, they feared to bring him to trial. After a long detention in prison in these released. Twice he was summoned to court and both times he was told that the case was postponed. In the meantime he was unable to get work, being blacklisted as an "aglistor." In order to save himself and his wife from starvation he had to come to New While he was here another served, and when he went back Paerto Rico as a representative of the A. F. of L. he was at once arrested for failing to obey a command which he had no knowledge.

It appears that the "American liberty" which has been carried to Puerto Rico, at so much cost of blood on all sides, amounts to absolutely nothing more than the liberty of American capitalists to acquire property there at make profits from the underpaid

Exicates is not the only victim. Our latest mail brings the news that Juan Bautista Pertalatin, a member of the Longsharemen's Unlea, has been seded to three months' imprisonment and a fine of $81 (which, being a worklugman, he has no money to pay) beloing to organize a strike on the docksi at San Juan.

The men demanded eight hours and $2 a day. The bosses-the New York and Puerto Rico Steamship Company -refused to grant the demands and inported workmen to take the strike places. Many of these men refused to scab and the capitalists alleged tent this was due to "intimidation" by the union men. On this charge, after a delay of about a year, Portaintin is

It is the duty of American workingmen, who end y at teast some degree of civil liberty, to come to the aid of their oppressed brethren in Puerto Rico, both by protesting through their tion against such highhanded conduct and assisting in the maintenance of the labor agitation in the unhappy island, and also by easting their votes for the Socialist Party, which slone has put itself on record against capitalist tyranay.

THE FOLLY OF GOV. VAN SANT.

Trying to "Do Something against the Railroad Monopoly, but Does Not Know What to Do-Gertain Not to Do the One Right Thing.

We are glad to see that the Republi can governor of Minnesota Is aroused to the point that be proposes to take some kind of action, He does not know just what can be done; he does not seem to have any plan of action mapped out for the protection of the poor voters that so blindly elected him for their governor. We have read that off the blind lead the blind they both shall full into the ditch:" and we hone that when they get into the ditch despair, that fact will open their ears to that they may hear the words of salvation as preached by the Social Democratic Parly, the only party that knows what kind of legislation to nass to protect the farming class of our citizens from the class-conscious rich of our community-Morgan, Hill, et al.

We know that there is only one way remedy the evil, only one kind of legislation that will protect the farming lambs of the West and South from the wolves of the world. Now, no good mor even a bad) Republican dare advocate that kind of legislation even where the emergency is so great that it requires a call for a special session of the Legislature of Minnesota from its Republican Governor to try to get owned and operated in the interest of the class-conscious rich, whether they live in the "land of the free" or

These public whities have been bought or stolen from the American farmer and laborer, under some pretense or other to blind us poor fools, so that we might not know that we were being robbed by way of dividends on stock that was watered from four to six hundred per cent, on the and equip these public utilities, that enormous dividends might be maid to our Goulds and Vanderbilts and others to buy bankrupt dukes and counts as husbands for their daughters. But legislation that will right these public wrougs will be called paternalistic; and really, can the Republican Governor or the Republican Legislature of Minnesota be expected to advocate and pass measures that will take away from these sharks the public utilities that have been given to their fathers or stolen outright by them, under the prefense that all the people, the garernment, were not able to build and operate them in their own interest and in the interest of their children? But must we allow a part of our citizens to monopolize and use them for the purpose of robbing the great mass of our citizens, unjustly, though legal-ly, to earlich the few, unscrupious though they be? We know that if a robber had a running noose around the arteries in our neck he could by pulling the string stop the blood from circulating through our bodies, and by that little act kill us by degrees or in an instant, if he pleased. Are we so blind that we cannot see that these railroads are the Jugulars, as it were, of our body politic? Now can we see, or are we too blind to see, that if we allow a robber or class-conscious rich man or men to own and operate thes they have a running noose around the jugulars of our very existence as a

Legislation that will take these publie functions back and operate them in the interest of all the people is the only kind of legislation that can give any rollef whatever, to the people of the rommonwealth of Minnesota or of the American Republic, And can a man, though he be the Governor of Minne-sota, with a Republican Legislature, pars such legislation, when the Reput lican party is the party of the plutor-racy in this great republic? I submit that Governor Van Sant, no matter how honest be may be or how much may desire to give his constituency the needed relief, is as a Republican, with a Republican legislature, as bein less as any one of us is. Poor man, will his helplessness open his eyes until he can see La must get inte a new party, one that proposes the governthe means of production and distribution of wenith, before he can give or get my relief, whatever from the so-called owners of these public utilities. Governor, there is no relief outside the Social Democratic Party, Social democracy is pure democracy, It is the only party that stands for economic liberty.

Why will workingmen stay in the old parties and vote away their liberty and the liberty of their wives and children, a thing that they have no voted the Fusionists into power in the city of New York; and now they have ind to go on a strike to try to hold the jobs that some of them have on the New Haven Italirond. Buch action is childish. If they support their bosses at the polis, why should they be so foolish as to expect the bosses to respect their right to work? Don't they know as well as the boss does that so long as the boss can feel them into voting for his candidates on the old party tickets, the boos will be unheld in whatever he may see fit to do in the interest of his pocketbook after elec-tion is over? Will workingmen ever learn that the candidate nominated is a honest as the workingman is and that it is the duty of the candidate to serve the class that gave him the nomina-tion? It does not matter, if laboring men are foolish enough to vote for the capitalists' tickel that they had nominated, knowing that every one of them were expected to take and obey every order given them in case they were successful-workingmen will never ge ers of the Wast be protected until they vote a poor man's ticket that is strict-ly class-conscious. L. D. MAYES.

THE AMERICAN NEGRO'S PROBLEM.

Another View of the Race Question, Considered in the Light of Economic Conditions.

BY CAROLINE H. PEMBERTON.

This is the third of a series of papers | which Miss Pemberton is contributing o The Worker. As a member of a fam federate side in the Civil War, and as having closely observed conditions in the Bouth in recent years, the author is especially qualified to discuss the negro question without being open to the charge of Northern prejudico .- Ed.) 111.

The growth of the South's prosperity since the war line been in exact proportion to the economic progress of the negro. A stream cannot rise highor than its source; the "prosperity" of a community which lives of the labor of others enanot rire higher than the consuming power of the exploited class permits. Thus is the high water mark of capitalistic "prosperity" Ited in all communities.

The dark skin of the negro is the livery of the inburing class in the South. He needs no leather apron or cotton blouse to mark his calling. The Northern white inborer can doff his apron and like his blouse when it suits his capitalist masters to lift him out of his class and make him one of themselves. With all the old ear-marks carefully obliterated, even his old rades can now hardly recognize him. and his place in their ranks closes up as if it had never been.

But the negro cannot shed his skin. The white South not only adheres tirmly to its traditional scorn of the laborer, but enjoys the immense advantage of dealing with its laborer as a race rather than as a class. If he dare rise above his fellows, he can be pushed back into the make and denied the benefits that capitalism is generally willing to bestow on those who can beat it at its own game,

But despite the almost insurmount able obstacles in his path, it is gener-ally acknowledged that the negro-since the war-has "risen." That is to say, a goodly number of individuals by dint of thrift, penuriousness, favor-itism or Heaven knows what extraordinary gifts of foresight and mental acumen, have succeeded in placing themselves beyond the grasp of their would be exploiters.

This task has been made somewho isler by reason of the contempt with which even the poorest white South-erner regards all kinds of labor. The egro lass few industrial rivals in the South, and these are confined to certain trades. Therefore, in spite of the 'nortgage system" and a thousand other links in the chain that binds him, the negro is emerging from his eco nic bondage to the extent of beowner-now and then a successful breiness man" on a small scale-and ngain, a trusted overseer, boss, or steward in his landford's absence; winle in another direction may be seen a considerable army of decent, fairly well educated colored n.ca and women pecupying the positions of pastors and teachers of their race.

Now, when the Southern capitalist casts his eye over this slowly growing and still struggling class of semi-eman cleated toilers, they loom up as an merically powerful—as darkly outlin ed by racial class distinctions against dis mental horizon—as a black cloud of locusts invading a harvest field.

He will not accept them as belong ing to his class; he sees that the stand on the very edge of escape from their own class-if indeed they have not already escaped. Where, then, de they belong, these beings whom Henven had so considerately branded as the forever-to-be-exploited-ones?

"As they can be chosed neither as quate nor servants—allies nor slaves -cries the Southern enpitalist-"they are a menace to our whole social structure—they are our enemies! We have nothing to fear from the ignorant, degraded or criminal negro, but these creatures we must brand in such a way that their escape will be of no p sible service to them. We shall tusts on treating them as the fugitive slave of our social system. They have come out from under, but better would it be for them if they had never come out!"

Accordingly, in every Southern state ince the war, the gentus of the ex ploiting class has been busily engaged in passing laws to hedge the "rising" negro within the crusiest of social lur-riers. No absolute monarch by ancient barbarians has ever exceeded thes: statutes in their ferocious injustice They are simed at the self-respecting independent negro, and not at the humble servitor or degraded black peasant. Wherever the two race touch-and it must be remembered they touch at all points-the contac must be that of master and slave. They can never touch as equals. Together they may ride in the same couch, the same car; they may sit in the same railway depot; they may live under the same roof-provided they are recognized as master and servant. But except as his servant, no negro can lawfully sit or stand or eat or live or roof with a white man! This is the decree of the Southern white heart and it is written into the laws of his land. Marriage between the races is for-bidden by law in every Southern state even as far north as Maryland. One might suppose that where the inferior-Ity of one race is so distressingly apearent to the other race that a white man cannot tolerate the presence of a black woman in the same public wait ing room with him-one might reason ably suppose that such a thing as their living together as man and wife would be too unheard of, preposterous and impossible to be deemed worthy of

prohibitive legislation!

But the fact is well established all over the South that the two races DO over the South that the two races DO live together in exactly, this relationship—but without the marriage them and R is largely the light-colored children of these unions that are the subjects of so much special legislation. The white man's son cries out from one end of the South to the other for recognition of his parentage—for justice to his colored mother. What answer does he get? Another prohibitive law to emphasize further the social ostracism that is to be his lot in life.

The factory girl of the North is considered to be the lawful prey of her capitalist seducer; but the colored woman of the South, by the decree of every Southern court, is to be regarded as a courtesan from the first, as far as the white man is concerned, without regard to her personal virtues, without reference to her fitness to become his wife, or even to his willingness to so honor her.

Laws forbidding marriage between tion of the inferior race. In nowise do they preserve the purity of eithe preservation of a large class of color ed prostitutes. They are an ingenious device on the part of Southern capitalists for making prostitutes ensity.

FROM A CONSTRUCTION OF RE

The following excerpt from a person al letter from a correspondent in North Carolina is interesting, especially that part which closely corroborates the account of farming conditions given by Caroline H. Pemberton in a forme paper, which our correspondent had not en at the time of writing:

"About the 'race question'—it seems to me a great fuss and a useless waste of energy, for the negro's evolution is toing on at a more rapid growth than he external conditions around him. In this eastern part of our state bla chance for education and livelihood are setter (for fear of exaggeration I will say on part with the poorer whitesyet our press, nor our politicians, nor our leaders of reform ever raise a lusty cry against this necepted condition.

Therefore, while you all know all the 'poor downtrodden negro of the South, you know nothing abou the 'po white trash,' He has been car on a dumb unconscious class truggle from the first haleyon slavery as well as now. To-day, as then, he feebly struggles against dire mail capitalist, the arrogance of th more prosperous whites and 'niggers' alike; and it has come to passe in these days that not the 'trash' alone swell the number of stiffed lives.

"The 'agriculturist' might tell the farmer how to wax fut on the farm, but I would grin with delight to see our theorist forced to step in and try for a year under the same circumstances-the poor tenant farms in the South. For the use of the land he pays to the landowner one-half of all be makes before the expenses of the making and the bousing of the crop are deducted—that expense comes from the tenant's half. Then, too, the landed proprietor usually owen a store where his tenants run an account, paying time prices," which "means an extra per cent, for the privilege. It is either one merchant or another, this giving of the growing crop as security for credit. Of course, it takes all the poor devil makes, and he actually feels hap py if expenses are paid and he can start the next year fresh-'ent expenses and try to save a little.' Hb mbillions are seldom realized beyond few dollars which go to faxing up rsonal wardrobe, household or somther necessity which seem to them alost a luxury. Markham need not go Millet's peasants. Men men with the hoe are infinitely sadder pictures f not so strong dramatically."

BULGARIAN SOCIALISTS REJECT COMPROMISE

The eighth national congress of the Social Democratic Labor Party of Bulgaria, held at Pleven showed the Socialist movement in that country to be in good condition, both in respect to its numerical strength and in respect to its clearly revolutionary position. Reports showed that the party now com-prises sixty-eight political organizations, with 2,213 due-paying members (among them sixty women) this is an increase of 26 per cent, in membership thuring the last year. There were also five co-operative societies and nine unions affiliated with the party. The party organ, "The Labor Journal," has 2,400 regular subscribers; the party has two other periodicals, and a large amount of other literature has been cir culated during the year, including, for instance, 25,000 copies of the "Red Al-manac," an annual publication devoted to Nocialist prepagands and education. Some 800 meetings of various serts have been held in the course of the year: The voting strength of the party, as shown at the last parila-mentary election, is growing, and is low about 15,000, the population of the ountry being a little over 3,000,000. The congress elected commissions to prepare a program for Socialist activ ty in local governmental bodies and to investigate and report upon the que tion of child and tennie labor.

The most important action taken re-inted to a tendency shown by several prominent members of the party to depart from the revolutionary attitude to make political compromises with the liberal or so-called "Progressia Democratic" party, and to turn their attention to propaganda especially among the farmers and small merchants, rather than among the wage workers. The tendency corresponds to was as emphatically repudiated by the omparatively insignificant congress at Pieven as by the grent one at Lübec, A long resolution was adopted, clearly affirming the aim of the Socialist movement to be the economic and po-litical emancipation of the working dass; declaring that the awakening of data-consciousness among the wage to this end, that propaganda in the middle class can be beneficial if strict ly subordinated to working class inter ests, and that a enuipaign which fail to make the awakening of proletarian class-consciousness its chief point and seeks rather to sceure votes than to make Socialists is a positive danger to the movement. This resolution was emphasized by the expulsion of Tr Bakaloff, a prominent leader who had gone so far in the direction of comprevious congresses.

Unless this is laid down at the start, and none taken to see that such a litt! of policy is strictly adhered to, trade un louists will be wasting tehir energies and funds. The class against whom they strike when questions of waxes and hours of labor arise must not be supported politically. We must lust thing the minds of our class that, a wage carner who supports the employing class at the ballot box is politically as much a blackleg as the one who takes the place of a striker during a trade dispute. Labor representatives then, must take up a class position against those who own and control the implements of industry; and they must regard all political questions from the standpoint of the interests of the workers as a class, and not merely from the sectional point of view."

In order to carry the above good advice I nto effective practise British trade uniquists should join the Social Democratic Federation.

THE WOMEN'S WORK.

The American Federation of Womer is an organizati a composed of wives daughters, and sisters of trade union ists and designed to act as an auxiliary to the trade union movement proper. It is evident that such a body can accomplish a great deal in Tur-thering the ends of the labor movement, and it has, indeed, done very good work in various lines.

One phase of the Federation's activity is the advertising of the union inbels. As a large part of the retail purfamiliarized with the labels of the varlous trades, and induced to give their preference to goods so marked as the product of union labor. To this end the Enteration has a standing Union Label Committee whose duty it is to advertise the labe's by sending out circulars through the mails, by posting placards in conspicuous places, and by holding meetings where the purposes of the unique and the meaning of their latels are explained."

The Federation also interests itself in supplying reading matter for trade union headquarters, in visiting sick members, and in other useful lines.

CLOTH SPONGERS WIN.

John W. Fleck, Bond street, refused to sign the agreement of the union and use the label, with the result that the men struck. After they had been out just half a day he conceded their de-mand and signed the contract agreeing to use the label. This is the fifth time Fleck has refused the union's demands, but each time they have compelled him to accede to them.

Some three years ng there was no organization in this trade. The cloth spongers were poorly paid and badly treated and the conditions in their indestry were disheartening. A few energetic young men determined to change things. They came together and organized the Cloth Spongers' Un-ion. It was an up-hill fight, but with starvation behind them and a small gleam of hope ahead they fought des perately enward.

To day there is but one non-union house in the city-Theo. Thelemann. 35 and 37 Wooster street—and but for a few fools who proved traitors to themselves and betrayed their comrades by returning to seab, that place would also be union now; but the Cloth Spangers' Union expects to force Tiedemann to come to their terms in the very near future. Tledemann has threatened to give the union boys free board in LandowStreet Jail, but it is anfe to presume that he will go out of business first.

In three years, through energetic work, this organization has raised its members from a position of contempt where they were subjected to all sorts of abuse, to a plane where they are respected by all. The long hours have been reduced and starvation has been replacedly at least fairly good wages. This is a sample of what can be ed, brother. Why not try it on your trade?.

WHERE NOT TO BUY.

Adams & Co., who keep a large department store on Sixth avenue, have that aught not to be patronized by workingmen.

They were requested by the Typo-graphical Union to withdraw their advertisement from the New York "Sun' account of the attack upon trade unionism inaugurated by that paper. The American Federation of Women also requested them to withdraw their support from the "Sun." They falled to give the committees from these bod-les any satisfaction until a few days before the Fair. Then, understanding that if they continued to disregard the requests of the labor organizations, they would get unfavorable notoriety among the working people who visited the Fair, Mr. Adams and Mr. Flans-gan, both active members of the firm, promised the committee of the A. F. of W. that they would bring the ant-ter before their board of directors and do their best to have the advertise-ment withdrawn,

This half-promise had its desired effect, but when the women's committee called again they found that nothing had been done as promised and, apparently, that there was no intention of doing anything. It therefore remains for the workingmen and women to treat Adams & Co. as friends of the "Sun" and actively opposed to the in-terests of organised labor.

tional convention assembled, reaffirms its adherence to the principles of international Socialism, and declares its aim to be the organization of the working class, and those in sympathy with it, into a political party, with the ob ject of conquering the powers of government and using them for the purpose of transforming the present system of private ownership of the means of production and distribution into col-lective ownership by the entire people

Formerly the tools of production worker. To-day the machine which is but an improved and more developed tool of preduction, is owned by the capitalists and not by the workers. This ownership enables the capitalists to control the product and keep the workers dependent upon them

Private ownership of the means o production and distribution is respon-able for the ever increasing uncertain-ty of livelihood and the poverty and misery of the working class, and it di vides society into two hostile classes—the empitalists and wage-worker. The once powerful middle class is rapidly disappearing in the mill of competition. The struggle is now between the capitalist class and the working class. The possession of the means of livelihoods gives to the capitalists the control of the government, the pri the pulpit, and the schools, and enable them to reduce the workingmen to state of intellectual, physical and social inferiority, political subscrylence and

The economic interests of the cap: talist class dominate our entire social system; the lives of the working class are recklessly sacrificed for profit.wars are fomented between nations, indis-criminate slaughter is encouraged and the destruction of whole races is sanctioned in order that the capitalists may extend their commercial dominion sbroad and enhance their supremacy

But the same economic course which developed capitalism are leading to So-cialism, which will abolish both the capitalist class and the class of week workers. And the active force in bringing about this new and higher order of society is the working class. All other classes, despite their apparent of actual conflicts, are alike interested in the upholding of the system of private concrebility of the instruments of wealth production. The Democratic Republican, the bourgeois public own ership parties, and all other parties which do not stand for the complete overthrow of the capitalist system of preduction, are alike political repre entatives of the capitalist class.

collective powers of capitalism, by con-stituting thermelives into a political party, distingt from and opposed to all parties formed by the propertied.

While we declare that the development of economic conditions tends to the overthrow of the capitalist system, we recognize that the time and manner of the transition to Socialism also de-pend upon the stage of development reached by the proletariat. We, therefore, consider it of the utmost importance for the Socialist Party to support all active efforts of the working class to better its condition and to elect So chlists to political offices, in order to scilliate the attainment of this end. As such means we advocate:

1. The public ownership of all means of transportation and communication and all other public utilities. as well as of all industries controlled by mon-spoiles, trusts, and combines. No part of the revenue of such industries to be applied to the reduction of taxes on properly of the capitalist class, but to be applied wholly to the increase of wages and shortening of the hours of labor of the employees, to the improve;

nent of the service and diminishing

the rates to the consumers.

2. The progressive reduction of the hours of labor and the increase of

to be collected from the revenue of the empitalist class, and to be administered under the control of the working class. 4. The inauguration of a system of white industries, public credit to be used for that purpose in order that the workers be secured the full product of their labor. 5. The education of all children up to the age of eighteen years, and state and municipal aid for books, clothing, and food. 6. Equal civil and political rights for men and women.

7. The initiative and referendum proportional representation and the ight of rmall of representatives by their constituents.

But in advocating these measures as steps in the overthrow of capitalism and the establishment of the Co-operative Commonwealth, we warn orking class against the so-called governmental control of public utili-ties for the purpose of obtaining great-cr security in the exploitation of other ladustries and not for the amelioration of the conditions of the working class.

HOW CAPITALISTS NO PATRIOTISM FOR CAPITALISTS,

The papers reported during the strike of Twitchmen in the yards of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., that the men to replace the strikers came in parlor can, and that two trains with fifty new men on board were run in very quietly and hidetracked under str olice guard. Supplies of food, dish and blankets were hurried in by wagon londs and the new men were made comfortable for the night. Yea-"the capitalist is willing to do almost anything for the working class but to get off their backs." They proved that during the strike in Brookyd. As reported in the "Sun" at that time: "The Citizen's Committee which was organized to aid the men who took the places of the atrikers, yestering sent fifty-five uisters to the office of the Heights Railroad for distribution among them." This is a good reward for breaking a strike, taking the places of men who are fighting for an existence.

Now, workingmen, you se the talist gives abters, blankets, food, and nelor cars to men who are traiters to be working class on the economic field in a battle between the capitalists and workingmen. Seeing this, it is pertinent to ask the question, how much more does the fellow get who between his class in the political field by telling the workers to "keep politics out of the union?" That means workingmen's politics. His politics, Republlean and Democratic, is all right. The Socialists are a lot of granks. Yes, they are just cranky enough to know that as long as the capitalists are in power so long will the working class be outraged, your unions destroyed by injunctions, and the active trade unlonist blacklisted. How could it be otherwise? Do you think that the capitalist will contribute money to the election of judges who will give verdicts to the working class in their courts?

At last Sunday's meeting of Typoraphiest Union No. 6 a new scale was adopted for book and job offices, to go into effect on Jan. 1. Under the new scale machine operators in book and jub offices will receive $22 a week in-stead of $20 and hand compositors $20 instead of $18; an increase of 5 cents per thousand is provided for on all lece work.

It is thought that most of the large and important offices will accept the new scale, although a few may oppose it. Organizera Maxwell and Jackson have visited 130 employers in the matter, and received favorable replies from 107 of them, "In order to provide for any possible difficulty that may arise in putting the new scale into effect an assessment has been lev-led amounting to 2 per cent, on all earnings and 8 per cent, additional wherever earnings exceed $10 in a week.

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT AND "APPEAL TO REASON."

We take the following from "The Appeal to Renson," the Boeinlistic paper of Girard ,Kan., in regard to the persecution which it is suffering at the hands of the Post Office Department, through Edwin C. Madder, Third Asalstant Postmaster General:

The efforts of the department seem to be directed toward making rules, which, while excluding from the mails 8 cinilst publications and labor papers favorable to the movement, will not interfere in any way with Republican papers. That this is true is evident from the recent actics of Mr. Madden in telegraphing to the Girard posimis-ter an order that bundles of 'Appeals' could not be sent to one address at the regular pound rates. To test this, bundies of papers were ordered from the Kansas City 'Journal,' St. Louis 'Globe-Democrat,' and Chicago 'Inter-Ocean' all Republican papers. These bundles passed their respective postoffices with-out the additional postage, showing conclusively that the order was sent ONLY TO GIRARD, and was intended, as the telegram specifically stated, to 'apply to the ''APPEAL TO REA-SON.''

"When the bundles arrived at Girard. without stamps affixed covering the adlitional postage as required by this special order, the Girard postmaster in cordance with his instructions, as-ming that they applied to all papers atike, demanded the extra postage. Word was sent to the Journal that postage at eight cents per pound was unuded on its papers. The Journal' folks were of course surprised, and imediately took the matter up with the department at Washington. Shartly afterwards the order requiring postage on bundles of papers sent to one ad-lices, was cancelled by Mr. Madden, who realized that he had-made a mintake in making the ruling which framp-ed on the toes of administration impers, As Mr. Madden is a persistent gentleonn and is very desirous of earning his salary, he devised another plan where-by he could exich the 'Appeal' and exclude it from the mails. This time he decided that the subscription list was not a legitlantic one, because the papersescut out were not paid for in accordance with section No. 281 of the postal regulations and laws as pub-lished in last week's papers. He very kindly gave the 'Appeal' until Novem ber 29th to show that the list is paid for and therefore entitled to transmission through the mails as second class mult matter. The 'Appent' has an abundance of evidence to prove this

No. 313, dated Nov. 30, may be the hat issue of the "Appeal" for five or six weeks. This issue contains the evi-dence presented to Mr. Madden to show why the "Appeal" is rightfully and legally cutified to be carried as second class mail uniter. There is a nase of indisputable proof.

SOCIALISM AND TRADE UNIONISM.

The following resolution was adopted by the Socialist Party in National Convention at Indianapolla, Ind., on

The Socialist Party, in convention assembled, declares that the trade un ion movement and independent politi-cal action are the emancipating factors of the wage-working class. The trade on movement is the natural result of capitalist production and represents the economic side of the working class movement. NEW YORK, DECEMBER 8, 1901.

Used in Essex County Trades Council

To Free Federation Delegate from instructions Given Him to Support Reselation for Independent Political Action and Collective Ownership.

Very peculiar methods were used in last Friday's meeting of the be delegate to the A. F. of L. convenion from the insrtuctions given him support a resolution in favor of interendent political action of the work ing class for collective ownership of the means of production. This resolution, it will be remembered, was lutiduced by Delegate Millstein at the provines a cetting of the Council and paring to submit, however, and reserts to parliamentary tricks to amon the resolution at this, the last meeting of 125 barre's of naphtha and gasoline resolution at this, the last meeting of the Council before the departure of law, as it is specifically prohibited to Delegate Hillers to the Scranton Convention. Delegate Histers was himse f vertiser" remarks, he "ruled with a strong hand."

TEST VOTE FOR

INSTRUCTIONS. When the minutes of the prevents meeting were read. Delegate Dobbins of the Typegraphical Union, moved to strike cut the record of the resolut, uexplosives are stored in a building, the structure many the located fifty feet from any other building, and the floor must be two feet below the street level, in order that the oil cannot flow over the street from the members as it this in this case. thes was an error. The chair refused Between 000 and 700 men and to entertain the point, saying that the women have been thrown out of emproyment by the fire, and many lives the refere ert of order. On appent the chair's ra'ing was defeated and Gab ling's point quantined by a vote of 33 to 19, but the chair paid little altention to this decision. In the course of this contest Delegate Gottlob challenged Gabling's right to vote or speak, chainsaming regard to vote or speak, emini-lag that he was not a member of the Council; but reference to the efficial list of delegates showed that his charge had no foundation.

Delegate Waller of the Patternmakers' Union pointed out that the chair's ruing was founded only on the pream-ble, and that there was nothing in the constitution proper to prevent the Council from acting on political questions if it saw fit to do so. On his mo tion, the question was laid over to n-business, again by a vote of 33 to 18. Under the order of reports of organigations, the question came up again in fact, this questi n occupied the whole time of the meeting. Delegancar. Independe Gallien of the same body denied that such action had been regular-ly taken. Delegate McIntosh of the held on Wednesday evening, the regu-iar meeting laving been postponed on account of its being Thanksgiving Ev Delegates of three unions had met and passed this resolution which was now presented by McHugh as coming from the A. P. T. C. As the resolution did not bear the official scal of the A. P. T. C. and was evidently n t regular, it was referred back to that body.

GAG RULE USED.

When the order of new business was reached McIntosh moved that the min-utes recording the Mil'stein resolution of instruction be adopted as read. Two votes having friends of the resolution were in the majority, the opponents of the resolu-tion adopted faction of obstruction and disorder. Delegate Matthews called Galiling a seab, but was compelled to apologize, as he could not pro slightest evidence in support of the necusation. The chairman refused to en-tertain any motion that he considered unconstitutional and refused to allow may appeal from his rulings. He held the action taken at the previous meet-ing to be unconstitutional and set himself up as the sole judge in the matter, Delegate Neben of the Street Ballway Employees denounced this conduct a "gag rule" and, being called upon to gize, refused to do so or to withdraw the remark.

The arbitrary rulings of the chair resulted in a scene of great disorder, the midst of which, the chair call for a motion to adjourn, and declared Brown streets. The order of the day it carried, thus preventing a further will be: The advisability of abeliab vote on the resolutions of instruction. INCIDENT NOT GLOSED.

The affair has caused great excite ment and ill feeling on both sides and some of the more rabid anti-Bocintists say the Council shall be disrupted be will allow it to go clearly or and independent labor politics. The incident is not closed, apparently, but cialist thought among the organize workingmen of Essex County and the desperation to which its opponents have been driven.

CAPITALISTIC EDUCATION.

College Teachings Controlled by Money Kings in the Interest of Class Rule.

During the past decade a number of refessors have been forced out o heir positions in the great colleges and universities because they beld opinions on social and political questions which displaced the capitalists who supply these incitations with funds or be cause they importially expounded cer tata economic theories which express he cell nature of the present capitalistic systembol scriety. The great institutions of learning are mainly dependent upon the donations of millienaires who supply them with funds, under the guise of philauthropy. and endeavor to maintain the suprem-ncy of the expitalist class by preventing the teaching of doctrines inimical to the interests of empiralism. Thus edu ation is perverted and freed in of speech suppressed in the inferests of dass rule.

Professor Andrews of Brown, Pro fessor Beines of the University of Chi-cago, ProfessorRoss of Leland Stan ford, Professor Herron of Grinnell, and many others were forced out because their teachings were apposed to the inlerests of donors who benefit by pres ent industrial conditions.

With the press and, to a great ex tent, the church, as well as educational institutions, under the complete control of empiralistic influences it will be seen that every power of moulding public quinten is in the hands of the capital-let class, and their "philanthropic" investments pay them well.

The subsidized unture of modern classica was strikingly brought out in the papers read at the fifteenth an neal meeting of the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the Middle States and Maryland, hold at Syracese last week. The discussion of the afternoon session of Friday, Nov. 29, was on "Freedom of Speech in Conncetion with Education."

JUDGE PARKER DEFENDS

CUESIDIZED TEACHING. In his address on this subject, Chief Justice Parker of the Court of Appeals, afterullowing the right of professors to freedom of expression as long as thry "inculcate nothing destructive of social order"-by which he means the present sorial order-contended for the right of denors to dictate the tenchings of an in-stitution, in the following words:

"And as to the founders of and don ors to institutions of learning, whose sole brainess in life-money-making-may not have especially qualified then to determine what should be taught in colleges and universities. I am in favor of their having the like complete free dom within their province which I accord to teachers within theirs freedom to luster upon it that the duetrines they selleve to be true and for the propaga tion of which they have expressly and avowedly founded the institution or en dowed the chairs, shall be taught in such institutions. * * * In such in-stitutions as I have just indicated, when a full professor becomes a member of the faculty under an agreement for a lenger or a shorter term of years, he loss so with a clear conception of what e is to teach and presumably with a desire or personal preference to propa-gate the deciries held BY HIS EM-PLOYERS. Under such eigenmetance I assume no one will deny the right and the propriety of the founders or the donors requiring that the professors engaged shall consistently teach the chosen doctrines, or, in case a professor should at any time during the term of his engagement lowing to his having received new light, refuse to carry out his agreement and stands depart from his instructions, the right and property of their insisting upon the governing board demanding the professor's resignation. But with the indoctrination in the cal, economical, or religious ideals as tend to subvert the purpose of the founders or directors of the chair he occupies, or can have reference only to a more or less listant, revoluti mary feture, the professor and university future, the professor and university should have nothing to do. Therefore, when in amostion to the wishes of without the consent of the supporters of the institution, any of the faculty persists in a course that must tend to mpress upon the tender minds of the youth under his charge theories deen ed to be false by the foundation who servant be is, or which if not strictly fairs to it, are deemed so by the vast majority of the most intelligent minds of the age, it seems to me that he has abused, his privilege of expression of opinion to such an extent as to justife the governing board in terminating his

This outspoken nelvocacy of subsidized education in the interests of the capitalist class did not harmonize with the opinions of those who are them selves the victims of such conditions as the following quotations from the preceding address of President Faunce of Brown University will show:

a school or college free from external control for the sake of the faculty. If there he a string behind the professor's chair, making him a puppet, both his reputation and his character are gone. If in his class room, he is ever glaneit cter his shoulder to measure the effect of his words on certain persons who are more wealthy than wise, his words have last all value to the puribe and his influence has received the quietus it tichty deserves. Worse yet, his owt pirit has become craven and ignoble and he who might be the inspiring guide of youth and the courageous lender of men has become a sycophant and an echo. ONE MORE INJUNCTION.

Philadelphia Judge Issues One Against Allied Building Trades Council.

Must Not Call Strikes to Prevent Emplayment of Non-Union Men-Threats, Express or Implied, Are Made Punish-

A Philadelphia court has added one sere to the list of injunctions issued against organized workingmen and la the interest of organized capital.

Judge McCarthy of the Commen

Pleas Court is the author of the injunction, which forblike the Allied Building itades Council or its officers on agents declare strikes on buildings where cofitmetable employ workings not smi-isted with that organization and farads them further to use threats, EX-PRESS OR IMPLIED, that employers would suffer loss by employing non-union labor.

SERIOUS BLOW TO GENTRAL LABOR RODIES.

This means that even though a contractor has made an agreement with a central labor body, binding himself to employ union labor and observe union reales in all departments of his work, he is at perfect liberty to break the agreement whenever he pleases. And lf, in case of the contractor hiring non-union plumbers, for instance, the Counell should call the carpenters, brickingrs, and other trades out on strike, or f they should even ask him to observe his agreement and advise him that he would bring trouble or loss to himself by refusing, then the members, officers, al agents of the Connell would be liable to summary punishment by fine or aprisonment, for contempt of court.
It is evident that if this injunction

solds and becomes a procedent, central bodies, whether of the building trades or of any other, will lose one of their most powerful weapons.

The case will be appealed and the utcome will be watched with interest. TO BE TRIED IN BEW YORK.

A New York paper, in reporting this njunction, gives an interview with Contractor Stokes, of this city, It says: "W. E. D. Stokes, who is building a $3.000,000 apartment-house on upper Broadway, said to-day that the above decision would create a sensation among the trade councils, and would do a great deal to free the contractors from the attempted dictation to which they are now so frequently subjected, THE SAME OUESTION WILL BE TESTED IN THE COURTS OF THIS STATE IN THE NEAR FUTURE."

It would be well for the trade unionists of New York If they had elected a few Socialists as Judges in anticipation of such a case as this. Of the decision of a Socialist judge there could be no

SOCIALISM AND TRADE URIONS.

The Socialist movement is an ally of the labor movement, but at the same time the Socialist recognizes that the Socialist way of settling the en-dustrial question is about 100,000 times better than the labor union way. When the two classes, the rage-worker and the capitalist, meet on the economic field of battle, the wage worker is not in it because the number of del-lars on each side largely determines the respective strength of each. THE PARTY'S EMBLEM.

The attention of party members is directed to the official notice in this pa per calling for nominations for a member or members of the International Socialist Bureau. The position is an important one, requiring in the comrade who is to fill it both cool and sound Judgment and a good knowledge of the Socialist movement on both continents, both in its theory and in its history. The Socialist Party in Amer lea has much to gain by a closer con nection-with the movement in Europ and care should be exercised in the choice of our representative, that the greatest possible good may be realized through this connection.

should also observe the ann uncement of party leaflets issued by the National Committee. The prices of these leaflets are so low that not only the smallest locals, but even individual comrades er sympathizers can afford always to have a supply on hand for distribution when the opportunity shall present theif: Sinny millions of these leaders aught to be put into the hands of our fellow morkingmen during the next

Fenr. It is important that the comrades of every state should elect their representative to the National Committee and see that he is present at the meeting to be held in St. Louis in Janpury. The choice should be made with the greatest care, in order that the National Committee may truly represent the party and car be qualified to burform its important duties with the greatest advantage to the party as a whole. There has been a certain ten dency by many quarters to neglect the work of organization, especially of national organization, and to concentrate all for es up as propaganda alone, Undoubtedly too much stress cannot be haid upon the propaganda of our ideas; but they prominentally will be of little avail unbession also take steps to realing action will be wise and vigorous just in proportion to the efficiency of one occanizat a Let us by no means. neglect propagands; but let us, in order that the propaganda may bear fruit, built up our organization by all ments. in our power, everyting tare in the choice of party officers, providing them with necessary funds for their work an I paying due respect to the author

SOCIALISM IN NEW ZEALAND.

The system of social and labor legislation of New Zenland has for som years past, attracted considerable at tention in this country and in England, supecially in labor circles and in certain sections of the Socialist press. We have been assured that New Zealand was well on the way to "practical" So cialism and resente pictures have been painted of the results achieved. Unfortunately, these pleasing reports seem not to have been altogether justified by the facts in the case, and, ro ports of unquestionable authenticity have reached us, showing that conditions in the colony at the Antipodes are far from being satisfactory, if judged by the aspirations of the Sociallat workingman.

Sauce these adverse reports are likely to have a discouraging effect upon those who have believed that what had been done in New Zealand was really the application of Socialist principles. it is worth while for us to remind our readers of the opinions which, from the very first, we have expressed gu this matter. We have never recognized the New Zealand legislation as being truly Socialistic in character and we have warned the workingmen of America ignitist lending too ready credence to the glowing reports which were, so widely circulated.

If the labor legislation of New Zenland has falled, whether complete ly or in part-if, what is particularly to the present purpose, it has falled neaterially to improve the condition of the working closs there-and of this there can be little doubt-that can by no means bet set down as a fallure of Bocinlism, Encialism has not been tried in New Zenland and therefore it cannot have failed there, any more than it can have succeeded. The New Zealand system has, it is true, included a certain measure of public ownership. But public ownerthin is not necessarily Socialistic. A man may kneed in order to pray for his enemies or he may kneed in order to take better nim in shooting his enemles. So a government may establish public ownership for the purpose of freelast the workers from exploitation or it may do it for the purpose of perpetuating their exploitation. If public ownership were the one essential feature or the chief essential feature of Socialism. then we should have to be lieve that Russia was nearer to Socialion than the United States, because the Tear's government owns a great many ratiroads, telegrapies, iron mills, distilleries, and other institutions which in this country are owned by aplitalist corporations. But we all know that the Russian government is not Socialistic in the least, that the government control of certain ludius tried in Russia is designed to strengthen and perpetuate classicate and expleitation and oppression. It is true, also, that the New Zealand legislation has included several provislons intended, or alleged to be intended, expressly for the protection of the wage-workers-such as the state employment bureaus, the courts of ludustrial conciliation and arbitration, and the system of old-age pensions. These things certainly would go farther with us than the more fact of public ownerwhite to impress us with the Socialist character of this legislation-were l not for one consideration which applie

The consideration we refer to is this: No part of the New Zealand legislation has been won by the independent endonver of the working class, nor has the object of the whole system been to emandpate the working class or to put an end to the capitalist exploitation of labor. Whether we rely for our information upon the representations of Henry D. Lloyd, the chief apostle of New Zenlandism, or upon those of opr conrade, Robert Rives LaMonte. whose interesting correspondence we have been glad to print-in either canwe find that the whole object of this legislattoe has been to strengthen the middle chost and to check the progress of capitalism, and that what has been done for the working class has been done only for the purpose of winning the support of the workers for this piblication program it has been thrown out to them as a sop, to induce their not to domand the whole of their rights, just as, in the United States and ther countries, various petty, reforms have been concoded by the capitalist parties as the price of the workingnen's support.

Mr. Lloyd has admitted that poverty still exists among the workingives of New Zeglaude that themplosment will exists, that girls are still forced to prestitution by the pressure of want. Cour de LaM nie's correspondeta e has shown that the condition of the working class of New Zealand is far from being an enviable one. And the fact that, on was reported last week, a Socialist party has now been innuched there shows that the workingmen have come to recognize that they have got the worst of it in their alliance with the mistile class.

Certainly it was not to be expected that a true Socialist movement could have arben and grown to power in so cialism is the political expression of the labor movement and the labor movement grows in strength and clearness only as espitalism itself devel ops. The New Zenland experience in exactly what was to be expected; it is exactly what we have predicted; and, so far from weakening our position, it is a confirmation of our insistence on the necessity of founding our move ment on the class struggle.

FOREIGN MARKETS AND ECO-NOMIC COLLAPSE.

The cry for reciprocity, which was inaugurated by McKinley in his last speech at Buffalo and is now filling the press of the land, is a noteworthy expression of industrial conditions. At present the capitalists all favor reciprocity, except as applied to their own in dividual industries. That circumstance may temporarily defeat the movement for reciprocity, but it must come eventually, and it must be followed by tariff revision and practical free trade, the demand for foreign markets must be filled. Through the introduction of machinery and the concentration of industry a large unemployed class has been created whose members compate with one another for the right to work. By this competition for work, wages are reduced to, broadly speaking, the cost of living. As the larger share of inbor's product goes to the capitalist, and as the working class cannot buy back this product for its own uso, the capitalists must find a market for the ever-growing surplus in order to postcone "everproduction," a glutted market and a commercial crists. Our multiplied and ever increasing powers of production cry out for an outlet, for the surplus wealth which its creators counct buy back must be dispessed of Capital must also find new fields for investment-every channel is choked at home and the industrial Alexander must look for new fields to conquer.

The outlet provided by conquest and innerialism has even now been found insufficient and the next step is the commercial invasion of the markets of Europe. The last words of Mr. McKin ley were the inst words of capitalism the cry for more markets, more markets to satisfy the greed of the "la dustrial buccanieerst who reach out for new fields of exploitation, more markets upon which to dump the surplus products which labor has created and is denied the use of, more marked in order that the crisis which fuer itably follows the prosperlty of plupder may be averted and that capitalism may not culingse of its own top-heaviness

But the conquest of foreign trade will be of no avail. If American capitallets secure the markets of Europe, they destroy the home industries of Europ against which they are competing When they destroy the industries of Europe they throw the European working class out of employment and thus destroy the purchasing power of the working class who, by reason of their numbers, are the chief consumers Thus the conquest of foreign trade will, in the end, defeat its own objects. The limited purchasing power of the American working class forces the capitalists to seek the markets of other untions and when they win those nurkets they will have destroyed the purchasing power of the nations to whom they expect to sell. This outcome is rendered more sure by the fact that we are rapidly becoming able to produce everything we need for our own use in this country. Europe cannot forever buy from America and sell nothing in return Meanwhile the invention of laborsaving machinery will progress even more rapidly in the future than in the past, with a corresponding increase in the army of the unemployed on the one hand and in the mass of surplus value | Bince the making of profits is the obintensify and foreign markets have been exhausted, capitalism will collause like a house of cards.

Capitalism was born a suicide. Capitalism cannot stand still, even on the edge of a precipice; it is ever forced by the press of competition to go forward to its own dooin. The ery for foreign markets is a symptom of coming col inpre-the death-rattle of capitalism The bonsted industrial supremace of America is the much intextention of a power that is translent. The recommic forces now in operation must inevitably result in the economic collapse of capitalism; unless indeed the ruling powers resort to "panem el circenses," after the Roman fashion, and such an open showing of their hand as that would be sure to result in devenfall. Capitalism is a house built

The collapse of capitalism may be succeeded by one of three things: Ablind revolt with chaos and reaction as its result; a system of state capitalisu inaugurated by the ruling class to feed the people and perpetuate a privileged class; or a Co-operative Common wealth, brought into being by the class conscious action of a Socialist prole tariat, and establishing once and for all a state of connomic justice and social democracy.

To insure this latter result and to hasten its advent is the nim of the Sociulist movement.

THE GOVERNORS AND THE RAILWAY TRUST.

Governor Toole of Montana, Demo crat, is at one with Governor Van Sant of Minnesota, Republican, in thinking that "something ought to be done" about the new railroad trust. He is also at one with Van Sant in not having the least idea what that "some thing" is, Meanwhile, Jim Hill and Morgan and Harriman are "saying nothing and sawing world," with full confidence that all the Republican and Democratic governors in the United States could not seriously interfere with their plans if they would, and would not if they could.

Hill, nominally a Democrat and a Protestant, always worked hand in hand with the late Senator Davis, Republican and Protestant and with Archhistop Ireland, Republican and Catholic. They were the great triumvitate of Minnersta politics, libustrat ing by their shushness-like harmony that differences of political or religious creed count for little where capitalis' profits are involved," Hill was always the real manager of the firm, with Da vis and Ireland as his facile instru ments, and whatever Hill wanted the Republican party, which controls the state, complaisantly granted him. Davis is now dead, as is also Ignatius Donnelly who, an the leader of the Midrond Populists, was the paid agent of the combination. But the death of this or that man makes but little difference in such matters. The real power was not the personality of Hill or Davis or Ireland, but the moher laterest which held them together.

What is true of Minnesota is true of the Dakotas, of Montana, of all the states affected. Change the names of men and parties and the same description would apply to all. Senator Clark of Montana, for instance, Copper Trust magnate and Democratic boss of his state, is not going to prove a dangerous foe to the railroad combine. Nor are the Standard Oil Interests which proved their overmastering power in-Idaho politics in the fime of the great miners' strike going to allow any harm to come to a trust movement in which they are so vitally interested.

But not only in it a fact that the machinery of the Republican and Demoeratic parties is so carefully under the control of the great espitalist interests that they would not, if they could, seriously oppose the capitalist plans; there is a further and a more important fact which makes it impossible for those parties effectively to resist the progress of trustification, even if they would.

Both the old parties accept the foundation of the capitalist system as a natural, necessary, and eternal state of affairs. The fundamental principle of enpitalism is the private ownership of the means of production and their operation by wage inbor for the creation of profits for the owners.

That principle of private ownership for profit being accepted, there is no logical ground and there is no practacable method of preventing the results which naturally arise from it, and one of those results is the concentration of conital in stock companies, pools, combines, trusts, or great consolidations like the United States Steel Corpora tion and the Northern Securities Com

The right of Mr. Hill or any other capitalist to own a railroad or any other menns of production which he does not use, and to take a profit by virtue of that ownership from the product of the bloc of the people who do use IL implies his right to sell such property or to buy other property and add to it. toot of industry under the capitalist system, since economy in the conduct of the industry is the most obvious method of increasing profits, and since consolidation is the best means of effeeting economy, it is plainly illogical to allow capitalism to continue and yet to try to prevent the concentration of capitaL

The development of capitalism requires free competition-that is, comnetition free from legal restrictions. But the effect of free competition is to weaken and finally to destroy the smaller competitors, and, is one way or another, whether directly or indirectly, whether openly or secretly, to merge them in the successful competitor. Consulidation of capital is, therefore, the natural result of free competition. When that result has once been attained, when competition has done its work and destroyed liself, any at tempt to restore competition by force, by legislative enactment or judicial de cision, would be an attempt to make the oak-tree go back into the acord from which it has grown.

To illustrate by the very case of the railway companies now forming the Nørthern Becurities Company: real competition which once existed between the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific resulted in the victory of the better-planned, better-equipped and richer line. The Northern Pacific was ruined. This result was undoubt edly bastened by the more flagrant dihonesty of the chief owners of the Northern Pacific: but even though they had been honest (within the narrow result would have come about. The Northern Pacific was ruined and the wnership of it passed into the hands of the same men who owned the Great Northern. This has been the state of affairs for several years past, and the only question at the present time is whether the two roads shall continue to be owned by the same men and managed separately, in a wasteful and in efficient manner, or whether the facof consolidation shall be frankly recognised and avowed and the most efficient and economical organization secured.

These are, in all essentials, the facts in every instance of combination or consolidation. It is only a question between secret concentration of capital, with relatively wasteful and inefficient management, on the one hand, and open concentration, with relatively efficient and economical organiza tion, on the other. In not one solitary ease have legislators, courts, and exsentire officers, local, state, or unitopal, In this country or elsewhere, been able to prevent concentration. All they have ever succeeded in doing has been to conceal it, to hamper it a little, to make its evil effects somewhat greater and its good effects somewhat less, and to confuse the public mind.

To sum up, concentration of capital in the natural outcome of the capitalist system, and if it is not satisfactory there is but one alternative: To abandon the very foundation of capitalismprivate ownership of the means of production-and to accept in its place public or collective ownership, with the service of the public, instead of the making of profits, as the object of all industry. That position the Socialists tube: that is the nim of the Socialist movement. And therefore the problem of the trusts can be solved only by Socialist politics.

THE CHINESE EXCLUSION QUESTION.

Although there has been much dip masion of the possibility that Congress, at its present session would fail to re-enact the Chinese Exclusion Law. it is hardly to be expected that such will be the case. Undoubtedly strong influence is being used in favor of allow-tog the law to langua-not so much the influence of Mr. Wu as that of American capitalists—good patriotic gentlemen they are-who would like to see free competition among the workingmen, while they limit competition among themselves. But admission of the Chinese would be an extremely nupopular measure, even in the Eastern states, and more especially so in the West; and after all, the capitalists have more important games on hand-the Ship Subsidy Bill, for instances-the success of which they would hardly care to endanger by too grossly offending popular, feeling in the matter of the Chinese While it does not seem probable that the Exclusion Law will be allowed to lapse, and while there are questions of for greater moment to the workingclass than this, we have been asked to state our position on the matter and we do not besitate to do so.

On the basis of natural rights and the theory of free competition it is impossible to make any logical arguments for the exclusion of the Chinese. Un fortunately, however-or, perhaps, fortunately-people are seldem logical in censidering questions that directly affeet their material interests.

For us, we do not lay much stress on so-called natural rights. It is much easier to weave fine phrases about the natural rights of man than to define them or to not consistently upon the definition once made. Man's rights, indred, are not absolute and "natural," In the sense in what that word is commonly used, but are strictly "artificial" and relative. The human rights that Dellard down by a Creator nor inharited from | spees and neighbors. But if militin a "state of nature." They have been historically developed, won and built up by generations of sober thinking, strong feeling, and sturdy fighting, in the age-long class struggle.

The Chinese question, like most or all social questions, is not to be settled by a reference to abstract theory, but by a consideration of the good or evil social effects which this or that course of action would produce.

The purpose for which the admission of the Chinese is in certain quarters desired is to supply a large amount of chean inhar-nower "for the developmont," as it is said, "of our natural resources." Would this be good or had? It would be good for some and bad for It is not for the good of the Chinese that their admissi n is demanded. The capitalists who-wish to make use of them would, so soon as their own purposes were served, turn them off to big or steal or slarge in a strange land just as heartheasly as they turn off their fellow-citizens of the American working class.

It is solely for the bourfit of the capitallet class that relaxation of the Exclusion Law is advocated. It is they who own "our" natural- re land and mines and forests and watersupply. It is they who would reap incremed profits from the development of those resources by the cheap label of Chinese coolies, And American workingmen would pay for their masters' prosperity by starving in idleness or by reducing their standard of living to a lower and lower level.

We do not favor, in general, a restric tion of immigration. As we had occasion to say but a few weeks since, in answer to a correspondent, the agitation for further restriction is generally a ruse of the capitalist politician to rouse race hatred and divert the minds of the working people from other and more important questions. The restriction of European immigration, if it could be carried into effect, would do but little good to the workingmen already here, and its evil effects would probably outweigh its benefits.

But there is really no parallel to be drawn between the European and the Chinese immigrant. The Italians and Poles and Hungarians become assimilated with the rest of the people in the second or third generation, if not in the first. They very soon mix with the great mass of the working people and learn to fight side by side with them, They have, indeed, been accustomed for ages past, to fight against oppression in their old homes, and it does not take them long to learn that they must fight against capitalist exploitation here. The Chinese, on the other hand by reason of the difficulty of communication between them and ourselves, and by reason of their low standard of living fhelr habit of obedience, and their stolld conservation, would, if adedited in large enough numbers, become a formidable passive ally of the capitalist class and a dangerous army to the working class.

The age of full and free competition is past. We have now one-sided competition, competition among the workug people for employment, and but little competition among employers for workmen. When this state of affairs shall have passed away, when industrial competition shall have become a thing of the past, when collective production for the satisfaction of human wants shall have taken the place of enpitalist production for private profit. then we shall be willing and able to stretch out a hand to our Chines brothers with the assurance of being able gradually to lift them to a better sort of life. To-day we could do it only with the assurance of being ourselves dragged down.

For the present, let us hope that the enpitalist politicians at Washington will not dure to allow- the Exclusion Law to lapse. But let us not fancy, in that case, that Labor has won a very great victory or that the politicians have done us a great favor. Let us recognize that this bronly one small in cident in the class struggle and that if the open or concealed desires of the capitalists are against our interests in this matter, so are they also in other

THE NATIONAL MILITIA PLAN

Secretary Root's plan for transform ing the militia of the various states into a "first 'reserve" of the federal army, so that they can be ordered ou for service in any part of the United States, can have but one object in view Even with the change of foreign policy which has been effected in the last few years, bringing the United States into "world politics," neither Secretar, Root nor anyone else expects that this country is likely to be invaded by a foreign enemy. And if such a thing should happen, it would not be neceseary for the government to have power to order out the militin, for they would almost unanimously volusteer on a day's notice to repel as invading force.

But that is not the sort of service for which the national administration wants this special power granted it. The enemies it has in view are not foreign soldiers, but American strikers, There is a growing distuction among the militiamen to shoot at strik ing workingmen among whom may be their own brothers, their personal could be brought from a distant part of the country-if, in case of a strike it New York, armed memcould be brought from Florida or Kansas, and vice versa - then, our statesmen and their capitaljet backers think, the militia could still he made to serve their purposes effect tively for some years to come.

If this plan is sarried out; which h omewhat doubtful, since the militlanon, mindful of their own confort. will pretest pretty vigorously against such a change-but if it is carried out, the first result will be to strengthen the movement in the trade unloss to prevent their members from joining the militis. And even aside from this the plan will hardly effect its purpose for workingmen are coming to feel their brotherhood and to recognize the identity of their interests, not only within the limits of neighborho state, but the country over and the world over

EQUALITY. By William Marion Reedy. The Mirror Pamphlets, Vol. 2, No. 10, St. Louis, Mo., 1911, Paper, 20 pages, Price, 5 cents.

Mr. Reedy has attemped an answer to Edward Bellamy's "Equality," which he characterizes as "a brantifu dream that will not work out into ac tual living."

There is certainly a good argument to he made against the theory of human equality as we have inherited it from the eighteenth century revolutionists.
It is a theory which served its purpose and marked an advance upon mediaval conceptions, but which will not stand the test of modern science. It was an approximation to truth, good for its day; but it was only an approximation and its day is past.

How for Edward Reliamy's book was founded on this antiquated theory is another question, which it is not necessary to discuss here, because Mr. Reedy's pamphlet is neither a serious criticism of the theory nor a valuable criticism of Bellamy's book,

Mr. Reedy writes with an easy flip pancy, and a levity which are ver commonly exhibited in the numeror "frenk" magazines-and in some that are not considered "freaks"-and which makes his pamphlet fairly on tertaining. But it is nothing more than that. Its brightness is all superficial. It is the glitter of a smoothly polished surface-appropriate to a "Mirror" and has a thing of the glow of convic-tion or the original light of thought.

The author does not enter into any thorough consideration of the causes of the unfortunate condition of the poor negroes nor does she seek to offer a nedy. PLUTOCRATIC CHURCHIANITY.

Josephine K. Henry writes in the "Blue Grass Binde" of the Episcopal General Convention recently held in San Prancisco at which J. Plerpont Morgan was the most prominent figure, an follows: "If Jesus was present at the Episcopal convention the press and the members of the convention made no mention of him.

"But Pierpont Morgan was there and bishops and faity resolved themselves into nunkeys, duttering nervously and engerly about this money king and the heavenly king was retired every time the king of finning appeared.

"This court paid to Pierpont Morgan at the San Francisco convention stamps his service courtiers as fawning sycophania who worship the almighty dollar rather than aimighty god.

"So much for the personnel of the convention. We are glad the good time is here when we can draw our own conclusions in regard to the goings on in this world, and not have to receive them, ready-made from those who claim the privilege of preparing their fellows for another.

"The work of the convention was as unique as its personnel. These gar cousty gowned, well groomed, fastidious clergemen deemed it their prov-ince to resolute on the relations of 'capital and inbor,' and 'marriage and diverce,' the most vexed and vital probglaring inconsistency that the wealthi est, toniest, and most exclusive religious sect in the United States should presume to dictate the duty of the inborer to employer, when the big guns of the convention were the flumetal king of two continents. The resolution passed by the convention declared for arbitration and conciliation for the setthement of labor disputes, but the ring ling charge of the robed elergy was 'la-borers, study the interests of your em-(doyers.)

Though the founder of their religion was an humble carpenter, these daintily robed ecclesiastics and their exclusive 1-am holier-than then constituency feel thouselves contaminate ed if the laboring people presume to rater their costly places of worship and they quickly get rid of them by hullding a mission chapel in charity lane or invite them to attend the 'little church around the corner.' Whoever heard of an Episcopal bishep while on tis confirmation tour being the guest of those in ordinary elements Not much! Rishops put up at the manor houses of every communitythese who dress in purple and fine linen and fare sumptuously every day. They roll up to the grand cathedrals lu carriages with liveried coachmen while the inborers in awe of the a by on the other side. Yet these nababa presume to dictate to the brain and brawn of the labor world their duty to capital. Not a man in that Episco pul convention dured utter a word sug-costing that capital has resolved itself into a vulture, preying upon the hearts, hopes and life Blood of himanity. The church has always been the ally of empital, and is about as likely to work for the interest of the laboring classes as the House of Bishops is to issue an edict to the Pierpont Morgans to sell all that thou hast and give to the poor; for it is easier for it exist to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of heaven.' We wonder what the 'glor-ious, blessed and Holy Trinity' thought of the kings of fimure and their lish-ops, priests, and descous' discussion of the labor problems, as they reveled In table luxuries at the rate of $200 for each day's entertainment at one house and supplemented with wine at $23 per bettle and hot house grapes at $10 pm

MORALS.

It has been truly said that "mon makes God in his own image." No loss certain is it that the dominant class of every age makes the morabs of that age in its own image, and dictates its moral-judgments on men and movements as it suits his purpose. The nttributes right and wrong as ambied to actions and events simply mean that these things have been favorable or we should also mention an excellent bit of verse, "The Newsboy's Christ-mss," by Franklin II. Will American Workingmen Be Fooled Into Voting Against Their Own Interests?

uls itself to a Socialist when propounds itself to a second the results of an election are announced. The late elections, mostly for local offices in the cities, would suggest that the American working-man is a rather easy mark. The rea-son we attribute the results to the workingmen is because they are the deciding factor in all elections, as they constitute the majority of the voters. In New York Chy they allowed them-selves to be duped into casting their votes for a "reform" administration, other places-Ran Francisco and Bridgeport, Conn., for instance they were made to believe that be cause a workingman had been placed at the head of the ticket of one of the old parties, their interests would be ed by voting for that party.

The day after election a workingman who knew that I was active in the Recialist movement came up to me and said: "Aren't you disgusted to see that after all your efforts the Socialist Party has polled such a small vote?" My reply was: "No, I'm not disgusted nor discouraged; I am only sorry for the workingmen who have been fool political bunco steerers into buying another lot of green goods labeled reform."

That is just about the slatus of the Socialists who were clear and enlightened enough to see through the nine of the politicians have no cause of col disheartened or dejected. That is the lot which will fall to the other fellows when they awake from their trance and discover that absolutely nothing has been done in the way of bettering their conditions, or of effecting any real reforms in the govern ment of the different municipalities

But then more elections will be held and the workingman will have chance to correct his errors and to poske amends for his mistakes. What atrikes me us very queer is the fact that workingmen who are striving the year round to obtain more pay of shorier hours of labor in order that they may provide themselves and their families more abundantly with the neresulties of life, will go on Election Day and vote for a confinuance of the present 'enultalist order of society. ableh is supported both by the Re which is supported both by the re-publican and bemoeratic parties, and which spells subjugation; degradation, and misery for the working class.

Here are the trade unique which fight continually with the employers, and in return are fought by them. The trade union is a product of capitalism, and will have to keep on fighting as long as explinition is in existence. The fact is that workingmen are forced through the existence of the class struggle to combine into unions for their mutua protection. But how illogical is it to see men who must fight the year round to obtain concessions from their employers and who spend their time and money to maintain their economic and money to maintain their economic organizations, go forth on Election Day and declare IN FAVOR OF CONTIN UING THE FIGHT AGAINST THEMSELVES, for that is just what they are doing when voting for either of the old parties, because it means the perpetuation of the class struggle which is inherent in the present order

The trade unionist who votes for of the old capitalist parties on tion Day is violating the very princhiles he upholds the other 364 days of the year. The trade unionist fights for better conditions of living all the year through not merely for the sake fighting, but because he is forced to on the most important day of the year and vote for the Socialist Party, for the collective ownership of the ments of production and distribution so that the class struggle may be ter-minated. For surely if these things were collective property, instead of pr vate property, there would no longer ity of fighting their present exist any owners or owned-for it is a act that the owners of the means of have access to them. Your happiness depends upon sborter hours and larger pay. But your en ployer's interest is just opposite-loft heurs and small pay. So your employ er has the power, owing to his owner ship of the tools which you must have access to in order to live, to say how much liberty and how much happiness you should enjoy! Think it over. brother workingman, and ask yourself if you should respect such a social system whose very foundation is built pon injustice and wrong.

Do you realise that your position in this world is very much like that of a fruit-tree or a rose-bush? Let me il-hestrate. You workingmen are in this world merely to bring forth fruit-just as the tree gives fruit, but never re-ceives any benefit therefrom; and the more fruit it produces the sooner its days of living will be over-as when it bears much fruit the limbs are 20 heavy that they break down and short en the life of a tree thereby. The fruit the wealth which you product-is never given to you, except a small fraction, perhaps one-fifth, enough to keep you rom breaking down, so you can come back the next week and produce piore litee too much wealth you break down hast like the fruit tree, in the prime of ng and in fear of want. And so the pres ent regime is no exception; but it liein the power of the working class to abolish this present system, because the workingmen are in possession of the right to vote. Let them study the position of their class and they will learn that it is to their interest and to the interest of civilization that they organize politically to abolish the present wealth, the collective ownership of land and the machinery of production and distribution; thereby putting an end to slavery, once and for all, by abelishing class rule and substituting

STREET-CAR PROFITS,

Nelf the Revenue of Metropolite Leased Lines Goes to Capitalists-What Socialists Would Do.

The October report of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company for its leased lines—the Third Avenue, East Brondway, St. Nicholas, and three rosstown lines-shows on its face deficit of $1,032. If we should take th official bookkeeping of our afreet railway magnates without criticism, we should have to believe that these gen-tlemen were in the business for purlove of the public, at a net expense to themselves of some $12,000 a year.
A little examination of the repor shows that this is not the fact, how ever. The appearance of a deficit is produced by charging up, as one of the expenses of the business, the interest which these gentlemen, as directors and stockholders, pay to their own dear solvés as bondholders, and the rentals which they pay themselves as lessors. That is, one of the forms of capitalis: appropriation of the broduct appears as if it were an item of expenditure by the capitalists. This is, of course, the ordinary method of reporting, and per fectly correct for capitalist purpos but the man who wants to know at what rate the employees and the public are being robbed must be able to read between the lines of the report.

When only real expenses, as report ed, are taken into consideration, it appears that during the month of Octo ber these leased lines paid to their owners, under the forms of rent, interest, or profit, the sum of $551,047 after covering all cost of maintenance and operation. The gross income was $1,184,970. So, by a simple process in division, we can see that 46% per cent. of the receipts went to the capitalists in one of these three forms—or, in other words, that out of every nickel paid in fares, the capitalists pocketed 2 1-3 done, but purely and simply because they own the made. Some of the canltalists—a few of the smaller onessome work, certainly, in the way of management and superintendence; bu for this they received good big salaries in addition to their profits.

Under a Socialist city administration with municipal ownership of the street rallways, that half-million a month which now goes to useless capitalists would be quite otherwise disposed of, A good share of it would be used in raising the wages of the men now em ployed and in hiring more men, so as to reduce the hours of labor. One-imif of that surplus, so applied, would suftice to establish the eight-hour day and increase daily wages 10 per cent, for all the workmen. The other half could then be applied to improving and exing to and from their work would hot have to be immed like sardines in a

And the benefit to the working class would not even stop there. The raising of the wages of afreet-car employees and the employment of a larger number at shorter hours would react favorably on other trades, reducing the army of the unemployed and making it easier for other-workingmen to secure higher pay or shorter hours from the private employers. Whatever really improves the condition of one part of the working class always indirectly

Do you not think, you street-car en ployees and other workingmen, that you would gain more by this one icasure which the Socialists advocate than by all that the "reformers" hav promised you? The Social Democratic Party will have a ticket in the field in the next municipal campaign in this city and in next year's state campaign too. There will be Socialist tickets in elly, state, and national campaigns at over the country, representing always the demand of the working class for the full product of its labor. If you want even a better share of you duct, the best thing you can do is to Socialist movement now and work for it from now till Election Day

LABOR POLITICS --IN CONNECTICUT.

City Elections in Assonia, Derby, and Bridgeport Indicate Growth of Class Feeling-Socialist Education Heeded.

During the machinists' strike last number the workingmen of Ansonia, Conn., were treated to an object lesson in the shape of a court injunction of the most sweeping kind. Several of the most selive among the strikers were arrested out charges of conspiracy and are beld under $1,000 hall to av pear before the Superior Court in Jan-

The 'Fattedl' Pountre Company or whose application the injunction was issued, also brought suit against the unions for $25,000 dainages and an attachment was laid on the homes of about seventy of the strikers.

The reaction against this display of apitalist class-consciousness came at the elections November 5. The trade unionists took an active part in the primaries of both the Republican and Democratic parties and succeeded in getting a number of trade unionists; several of whom were strikers, nominated on each of the tickets. They concentrated their efforts on the elecin electing a mayor and a majority of the council who are union men.

But the move ment has no definite program, and the few elected men who have had any previous political experience acquired t in the old political parties.

The effect of the injunction of Judge Gager has been to arouse an interest in political action among workingmen in this state, and the politicians who are ngaged in keeping some semblance of ife in the Democratic party are laying spares to capture this sentiment.

In Bridgeport, Dennis Mulvibill, a stationary engineer, was nominated by the Democratic party and elected by the votes of workingmen whom the failure of the machinists' strike in that city had set to thinking. The Derby News," a daily paper published by the American Newspaper Publishing Company, and which was about to stop publication when the machinists' strike began, was suddenly revised, the en-lorsement and support of the Central Labor Union was secured for it, and its circulation pushed until it has become he leading paper in the twin cities Derby and Ansonia. Under the influ ence of this paper the spontaneous labor movement is rapidly being corral ed into the Democratic party and already hints are given in its pages of "a Democratic labor party which shall sweep Bridgeport and the Naugatuck Valley and possibly the county and state by the state election next year."

That this inbor movement, like the many similar ones which have preced ed it, will ultimately end in dismat failure is certain. It only remains for the Socialists of Connecticut, and espe cially of New Haven County, to renew spread Socialist ideas among the work ers of these towns while the opportun ity is favorable, so that when the fail ure comes they will know the reason why, and be prepared for a class-con us Bocialist party.

THE AMERICAN "NEGRO'S PROBLEM.

BY CAROLINE H. PEMBERTON.

In considering the oppressive legislation passed against the "rising" negro. it is impossible to ignore the ast ag charge which the white South now lays against the catire negro mor. Any attempt to discuss the race problem with the capitalist class of the South brings one immediately face to face with this charge. After admitting the worth of this or that distinguished colored man, and the fact that the race has progressed wonderfully since the our Southern friend invariably proceeds as follows: But you must remember that the negro left to himself is by nature a brute—a creature to be feared by the white womanhood of the South. You prople cannot understand the panic that pervades an entire community at women being left to the mercy of these brutal creatures. If you lived among us, you would feel just as we do, and you would understand these outbreatthe mere thought of our defenseless of popular fury. Why, my good sir, mob rule is deplorable, I admit; EUT WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO TO PROTECT OUR WOMEN AND I have never talked to the better class of Southerners that they did no with passionate fervor plead their ease against the negro in some such style as ids. The picture presented is so appulling-so terrifying-that most of us ang cur heads and are content to drop the subject. Under such conditions as these, mob rule—the hanging and burning of negroes without the cere nony of a trial-sceme almost justifi-

And yet, observe: The indictment includes the whole working population every male member of the Southern la boring class (of blacks) is represented as going about with this flendish ambi-tion in his heart which he proposes to enery out at the first opportunity. Was ver a worse indictment laid at the fours of the working class of any community? The mere thought of it par alyzes one's sympathy and confounds

As we begin to recover from the ock of it, and our reasoning powers raily a little, we may perhaps recall the fact—now thoroughly well estab-lished and admitted by all Southerners —that during the Civil War when all abbehodied white men in the South womanhood of the South" was left at home on lopely plantations not only at mercy of these black brutal ere atures, but under their sole protection And not a single case on record of these blacks having proved faithless t their trust! On unimpeachable testithey refrain from doing avil, but they armed themselves in many cases and patrolled the plantations, defending the homes and learths of their muster with their lives against the roving hands of thieves and outlaws that in feet every pilinged country lafter the copquering army has withdrawn.

On the strength of this honorable record, I have many a time put up a third defense of the blacks and have always met this reply:

VYes, that is true; the blacks we perfectly faithful then-but that was owing to the influence of slavery! They have changed since. Freed in has d veloped all their evil propensities that nder slavery were kept down and un

This argument sounds plausible enough to those who hold to a deeply rooted faith in the total depraylty of man. It would go far to convince ever one who believes in the universal good ness of all men if those apologists of lynching really lived up to any suc' theory concerning the negro. But they

The theory of a recently acquired uniersal negro depravity tin relation to the white womanhood of the South) does not stand investigation. It falls to the ground as soon as one visits the Routh and beholds the "black brute" with the tendish desire in his heart still servins the helpless white woman in the most intimate and personal manner in all the domestic relations of life in every panies her on all her errands; he her children to and from school; he is still her coachinen, waiter, perter-often her chambermaid and laundres -and always her faithful attendant and profector by day or night. No one seems to have the slightest fear of him. How singular that out of such conditions as these—out of such unusual trustfulness and responsive faithful-ness—should grow this phantom of a Frankenstein monster-this picture of a land peopled with such monsters-and terrified women fleeing from them!

From my own experience I can present some interesting testimony. 1807 I visited a small colored school conducted by a few white northern women and situated in the heart of the Black Relt. On every side was a popu lation of ignorant, black peasants who were engaged in tilling the vast cotton plantations on which they lived—some of their older children being students at the school. Now these fair joung women from the North were without any other protection than that afford-All by their black students, their black neighbors and two or three black teachers who were employed in the school. There was not a white man within a mile who could come to their rescue, if a presumption was rather in favor of his presumption was not wanting to, so strong was the prejutilee against white teachers of colored children. In fact some of the white men of the neighborhood had been so hostile to the school and its mission, that the older students were in the hab-it of arming themselves with sticks and stones and quietly following the young white women when they went out for a walk—under the mistaken impression. apparently, that they needed such pro-tection from the wicked designs of white men! There was certainly no fear of the blacks in the unids of these young women, nor did there seem to be any reason on earth why they should fear them. It was a wonderful sight on Commencement Day when the black peasuris gathered around, the school bouse from many miles around to listen to the recitations of their children—their black, homely faces shining with enthusiasm, gratitude and rever ence! It was easy to believe that the were the same people that had defended their master's home and honor in his absence during the Civil War, and it was not easy to convince me that hour that these people

"changed" and become monsters in human shape—because, forsooth, they were "free," in the narrowest acceptance of the term. I was told that the heighborhood had been selected because it was the most God-forsaken, degraded community in the whole of the Black Belt, as far as the blacks were concerned. The fair white women are still living there, however, under black protection, though I am told they are now on omewhat better terms with their white neighbors.

But leaving out personal impressions and observations, the statistics on lynchings bear out my statement that there is no ground whatever for condemning the race as guilty of monstrous tendencies in excess of crimes proved against other races. Not more han 25 per cent, of all the negroes lyuched during the past sixteen years were even accused of such tenden and of those accused, hanged and burned without a trial, how mahy may not have been innocent

e hue and cry against the negro for his moustrous and unnatural brutality has no basis of fact for its sun port. Doubtless the popular excit ment created by mob violence has had the usual effect on two classes of weak minds; it has stimulated here and there the degraded vicious negro to attempt a crime he would not otherwise have thought of attempting; and it has occusionally affected the hysterical weak white woman to the extent of imagining a crime has been designed or attempted where none has been thought of.

There is no other way of accounting for the prevalent belief in the overwhelming danger of this crime being committed—when it has not really been committed to any extent to correspond with the amount of public ex-tiement on the subject—unless one concludes that it is only another evidence of the Southern capitalist's inherited antipathy to the existence of a growing class of comparatively independent negrossi,

The charge is in fact another phase of social ostracism, another way of proving that the negro is not a man. It has become more than a form of per-secution. The belief in the monstrous deprayity of the negro is now a social dogma as dear to the Southerner as his belief in the Trinity.

To sum up briefly: The negro's problem is how to steer his way in the South through a community that wants his work and denies all the rights of his manhood; how to escape from his class conditions without letting his exploiters know that he has escaped.

His problem all over the country is the labor problem plus the inherited prejudices of employer and fellow workman in the north, plus the bitter jeniousy in the South of a proud people who were conquered by the sword while defending their beloved dogma that "the negro is not a man."

A more difficult task was never placed before before any race or na tion. The negro needs all the optimism faith and joyousness of his African in-heritance to carry him through—all the touching songs and melodies that his nusical fancy can create to lighten him on his journey. He is the only music under—the only original musiclan-that this country has yet produced. His history is surely strange and and enough to stir even the dullest people into song.

The condition of the "poor whites" of the South is another long story, which one else will take up and I hope producting fully.

As well speak of Christian geology or arithmetic as Christian Socialism or democracy. Socialism is a science and has absolutely nothing to do with religious belief or dishelief. In the Socialist ranks are men of all shades of religious opinion, just as in the church men of all political faiths find common ground of action.

liowever, Socialists do claim that the abolition of private property in the means of production and distribution of wealth will create a higher conception of morality, by doing away with the opportunity for one to gain profit or advantage at the expense of many. But this is totally aside from creed or worship or belief in nunernat ural agencies or manifestations.

There can be no true democracy in a state where the institution of private property is such as to make my ne and slaves of others. The Chris tian Democracy of Europe is mis named, as the very fact of its organi-zation in opposition to the Socialists is proof positive that its only mission is to continue the division in the ranks of the working class, and thus post pone the coming of the true democ racy—the Socialist Co-operative Com

No better evidence of the importance of the Socialist movement of to-day could possibly be given than the fact that the most powerful church organization in existence has avowedly na dertaken the task of wiping it out. In this the twentieth century, the speciaele of an ecclesiantical Mrs. Partington attempting to sweep back the tide of social and economic evolution, with a religious broom, may not be in itself a very edifying performance, but it will serve to illustrate the significant fact that the Hars who for years have represented Socialism as an emuta dream of the future, are finally forced to confess by their action that it is the most dangerous reality of the present

According to statistics, the age of both men and women at marriage is greater now than ten years ago, while the records of the divorce courts prove that the duration of the marriage tie is growing shorter. While both of these tend to knock the underpinging from the theory of Maitinis, the in-crease in divorce is evidence of the deeny of family life which is the cor queuce of the capitalist system of production. Even where the natural bread winner receives wages sufficient to make home comfortable, the young wife who has spent her girlhood days in factory or store has frequently lost her adaptability for domestic pursuits, and two hopeful lives are wrecked. Then again, the competition of child and woman labor, with its baneful offect of lower wages, often makes it imp ssible for the young husband to provide the home with those comforts to which both wife and self were necestomed before marriage, and love takes flight in fear and trembling a the prospect of the bitter struggle for existence. SOCIALISM AND TRADE UNIONISM.

The following resolution was adopted by the Socialist Parry in National Convention at Indianapolis, Ind., on July 31, 1901;

"The Socialist Party, in convention assembled, declares that the trade union movement and independent political action are the emancinating factors of capitalist production and represents the economic side of the working class their respective trades and assist in building up and unifying the trades necessity organized on neutral grounds as far as political affiliation is con-

MACHINERY QUESTION.

In Monthry's session a lively discussion arose over a resolution introduced by the Cigarmakers, railing on all traties to help the C. M. I. U in its cf: forts to unionize the shops of the American Cigar Company. The preartile recited that this company tempting to flood the country eigars made by child labor, machinery and other untain conditions, particular struck out. On this point came the dis-cussion. Several Socialist delegates speke in favor of the committee's re-port—among them Brandt, Groke. bold, Hayes, and Slayten—pointing our that it was foolish to oppose use of machinery, that the question was to get the best possible conditions for me dine workers and eventually to estab lish the social ownership of the machinery, thus securing its benefits to all. Their arguments prevailed and the rether was adopted. Hayes put the ques-tion in a nutshell with the remark that "the delegates should ask themselves whether it is wiser to resolute against nuchinery or to resolute in favor of se-curing possession of the machinery." On Monday evening a great mass meeting was held in the Nesbitt Theater. Twelve hundred workingmen lis tened to speeches of John Milchell, Max Hayes, Samuel Gompers, Con-gressman H. W. Palmer, James Duncan. James O'Connell, and others, Hayes, who was the second speaker, brought out the political phase of the infor movement, urging the workers to unite as the ballot box for the Co-oper ative Commonwealth, as well as in the trade unions. The speakers that fol-lowed tried to offset this by emphasis: ing the economic side, but without much apparent success. The audience was enthusiastic, the radical sensiments expressed receiving very liberal applause

egsion was taken up with the discus sion of a resolution against "anti-scalp-ing" legislation. Here the discussion furned electiv on the question of class Interests, Delegate Croke spoke against the resolution. He said it was a matter of indifference to workingmen whether railway companies or scalpers made profits out of the public. The railroads were well represented in Congress and it would make no difference what ac-tion this convention took on the mat-ter. He did not believe we should have lecislative committees begging for laws, but that we should send our own representatives to make the laws in the interest of the workers. THE CHINESE DUESTION.

The afternoon session was largely deroted to the Chinese question. GOMPERS' POSITION IS UNCHARGED.

His Annual Report Follows the Same Lines as in the Past-A Record of Failure in Legislative Lobbying.

President Gompers' report opened with a survey of the growth the American Federation of Daboy during the twenty years of its exist-ence and an urgent appeal for more thorough organization of unions and for their closer federation, which he declared to be "the most vital necessity or our times.

In discussing the subject of industrial conflicts, he referred but briefly to the steel strike, out of the failure of which, it is generally understood, there has grown up considerable bitterness between the officers of the Amalgam-ated Association and those of the Ted-eration. In regard to this strike he was of a far-reaching character. The jurpose for which it was inaugurated was not achieved, and it was terminated upon conditions less advantage ous than perhaps could have been ob-tained. Owing to the widespread interest which this strike aroused, a large number of iron and steel workera employed by other companies than the corporation against which the strike was inaugurated, have been organized under the jurisdiction of the Analgamated Association. The hope is entertained, too, that the day is near at hand when everyone employed at the various branches of industry and coming under the jurisdiction of the Amalgamated Association, may be enr. led as a member, prepared to defend and promote the interests of the entire ersft, and to further the great cause for which we unite and federate, the cause of human justice."

He also referred only in the briefest terms to the Western Federation of Miners, which, with various other or-ganizations of the Rocky Mountain states, second from the A. F. of L. r few years ago on account of the con-accountism of the latter body. On the matter of the strike of cignrmakers in Tampa and the outrages committed against them he was equally reflecat. He said:

"The situation in Tampa has recently improved to some extent; that is, there is typic general recognition of the right of the wage-enriers there not only to employment, but also to become members of the American trade union moven ent. However, there can be no question that desperate methods employed by both contestants. far as I was able to assist our fellow unionists. I have done so, but always within our legal and moral rights. An organization existing in the United States, presuming to speak or act as a representative of the workers, has no representative of the workers, has no right to attempt to deprive wage-earners from earning their livelihood at their respective crafts or vocations, particularly by denying to these workers. The right to aminte with the American labor movement. As a matter of fact, if the organization itself. the Resistencia, were bonn fide as r working class trade-union, it would conform itself to the American trade union principles, and be part of the International organization of the trade and in full affiliation with the Ameri can Federation of Labor. The situation in Tampa is mending itself, and making for the advantage of ail." The portion of the Fresident's report which dwelt with the attempts to get favorable legislation through the lobhving method was, on the whole, one arthod was cond of failure, ord of failure, result-Hour Bill was passed and without objection in the Horse and strangled in a Senate committee very common trick. Common as the trick is, often as it has been played upon labor bills, President Gompers expressed a sort of mild and innocent aurprise at it.

The Prison Labor Bill went through exactly the same course and shared the same fate. And yet this was included in the Republican platform of last year.

The Anti-Injunction Bill was intro duced in the House and there amend-ed so that, instead of preventing the issuance of injunctions against strik-ers, if authorized the practise. In this amended form, the Federation was given the option of having the hill passseemed to consider its defeat a great victory for Labor. This also is an old trick and was used in the New York Legislature last winter to defeat the Employers' Liability Bill.

The Leave of Aluence Bill for the to leave of Absence Bill for the benefit of nay-yard employees was sup-ported by the Federation and was pass-ad; but Fresident Compers discovered to his chagrin that the bill was sup-ported in Congress by the chipbuilders as a means of defeating the eight-bour proposition. So this victory was one more defeat.

The Anti-Trust Bill interested the Pederation because, if passed, it might be held to apply to trade unions as be-ing "combinations in restraint of trade," as an older anti-trust law has already been applied. The Federation lobbyists failed to get an amendment that would effectually exclude trade inions from the scope of the bill and so were obliged to oppose the bill. The defeat of the bill in the Senate was heralded by President Gompers in his report as an important victory for the Federation policy of lobbying. It evidently had not occurred to him that Mr. Morgan and Mr. Rockefelller may have been more instrumental than himself in killing the bill.

After all this dismal record of failure, the two successes that could be ure, the two successes that could be pointed to were the passage of the Seamen's Belief Bill and the sholition of involuntary servitude in Hawaii. The former of these measures is far from being adequate to its estemsible purpose; and the latter, while undoubtedity a step in advance, has by no means but an end to virtual alavery on the Shantations of Hawaii. The President noted that with the strong protest against the idea of conpusory arbitration of labor disputes.

Considerable attention was devoted to the question of high dues, which President Compers considered necessary to the uphullding of a strong un ion in any trade; and he advised the amendment of the constitution of the Federation so as to allow the devring of larger assessments on affiliated un-long and the creation of a defense tand. The existence of rival organizations in the building reades and, to a less extent, in other trades was referred to and harmony and close organization urged as an absolute prerequisite to The President diluted at some length on the growing abuse of court injunc-tions in labor disputes. He argued the Blegality and injustice of the practise, He also referred to the new rulings made by the Post Office Department, tending to exclude labor papers from newspaper mail privileges, under which one trade union paper has al-ready suffered. He advised that an at-tempt be made to have the rulings re versed by the Department, and, in the event of failure, to secure an amena ment of the law.

On the whole, President Compers' re port did not differ much in tone from those he has previously made and did not indicate any recognition on his part of the changed conditions which, as we think and as a growing body of trade unionists think, will necessitate new and more vigorous lines of action in the labor movement.

PROGRESS OF TRADE UNIONISM.

Secretary Wilson's Report Reviews the Condition of the Federation and Affiliated Bodies.

Secretary Marrison presented an claborate report of the year's work, covering finances, charters issued, strikes, condition of affiliated unions, labels, work of Federation organizers,

The total income for the year was cent, over last year); supplies, 417 087.88; "American Federationist," $10, $30,334.27. The expenditures amount ed to $118,708,39. On Nov. J. 1900. there was $12.301.76 cents in the treasury, and on Nov. 1, 1901, there remained a balance of $8,814.26. Among the largest items of expenses were: Acsessment turned over to International Association of Machinists, $25.712; as-sessment to Clear Makers' Internationof Union, $307,32; assessment to metal trades strikens de bas Francisco, $3,000; saintles of officers, $7,018,62; expenses of officers, executive council and fraternal delegates, $8,002.77; and

The receipts last year were $71, 125.82 and the expenditures $68.373.80 —showing an increase of about 62 per cent, in the lucome and about 74 per ent, in the expenditures,

Nine hundred and sixteen charters were issued during the year. Of these, seven were to national or international imions—the Shirt, Walst, and Laundry Workers, the Watch Case Makers, the Bridge and Structural Iron Workbrs. the Lenther Workers, the Paving Cut-ters, the Car Workers, and the Blast Furnace Workers and Smelters. Four were to state branches of the A. F. of L.—in Michigan, California, North Carolina, and South Carolina, respect-ively. One hundred and twenty-three were to central labor unions in twentyeight states and territories, including that of San Juan, Puerto Rico. For the rest, 575 were to local trade unious and 207 to federal inbur unions. On the other hand, 602 charters were surrennon-payment of dues, 146 being ab sorbed by other organizations, and 68 disbanding. In addition to chariers granted directly by the A. F. of L., it is reported that 3,140 were insued to locals by affiliated national and international unions, and that 548 such the number of organizations directly or indirectly affiliated with the Federation, and the gain in membership is fixed at about 304,000—a few organisations not reporting, while others reported only approximate round num-

"Out of that num-ber," says the Secretary, "153,505 were ber, says in ecceeding loss on benefited." Of the strikes, 585 are reported as won, 242 as compromised, 158 as lost, and 37 as still pending. The cost of the strikes is given at $548,003.40. A considerable proportion of the strikes were for reduction of hours; and, al-though the statistics are so incomplete and so hadly arranged that it is almost impossible to get any exact informa-tion from them, it would seem that the shorter-day movement had a pretty large measure of success. A net gain in wages is also claimed. Nearly 60 different organizers were put in the field by the Federation for longe work. In order to increase this force of organizers, the Secretary recom-mended that the per capita tax to be paid to the Federation by affiliated national and international unions be in creased from one-third to two-thirds of a cent per member per month. In or-der that financial assistance may be given to striking or locked out local bodies directly affiliated with the Fed eration, he recommended that they be required to pay 10 cents instead of 5

THE PRESIDENT AND LABOR.

One Twenty-fourth Part of His Message Devoted to the Working Class.

Many Sweet Words, but Not One Important Recommendation for New or Prograssiva Measures-Those Ha Makes Are Qualified and Quarded-Most Interesting Feature Is the Omissions.

is of such vital moment to our whole people as the welfare of the wage workers." How little he means what he says is shown by the fact that he devotes less than one-twenty fourth of his message to this subject-less space than he gives to the question of com-pleting the conquest of the Filiphos and about half as smuch as he gives to

But the thousand would which the President devotes to the interests of the working class would, however, have been enough—if .only, they, had been the right words, if only they had missifed clear and unqualified recommendations of definite measures that would directly and materially benefit the wage-working class. Who ever may have expected this, however, is doomed to disappointment.

The President thinks the law against the importation of laborers under con-tract and the Chinese Exclusion Act are good things. Well, no one proposes to repeal the former and it was already merally certain that the latter would be re-enacted; so here is nothing very radical or progressive.

He thinks that, "If pos gress should do something to help the state governments in preventing the competition of convict labor with "free" labor. He thinks that, "so far as practicable under the conditions," the United States government should cuforce the law it has already made for the eight-hour work-day on public work. Here, again, is nothing new, nothing more than the government is already doing-er pretending to do.

"IF POSSIBLE."

And even these recommendations that the government should keep its word and enforce its own laws, are qualified with the phrases "If possible and "so far as practicable." Mr. Roosevelt has been strenuous enough on the question of "benevolently assimilation" Puerto Ricans, Filipines, and other r-who did not want to be assimilated He is in favor of using all the powers of army and navy to force American rule and American commerce upon pec ple who preferred to rate themselves and not to be exploited by American capitalists. WHY DOES HE QUES-TION THE POSSIBILITY AND THE PRACTICABILITY OF ENFORCING AGAINST AMERICAN CAPITAL-ISTR, FOR THE BENEFIT OF AMERICAN WORKING PEOPLE, SUCH MILD LITTLE MEASURES AS THESE TWO? Why, indeed? Just because he knows that the American capitalists own the Republican party and own him, as the elected representntive of that party, and that he and his party can make and enforce laws only by the consent of that capitalist class. He hopes that the capitalists will wise enough to allow him and his party, as their political agents, to make, on their behalf, some insignifi-cant concessions, in order to prevent the working people from becoming class-conscious and carrying into ef-fect, over the heads of capitalluts and capitalist parties, the whole of those inst demands. But he is not sure whether the capitalists have the wis-dam to concede even so little. For the rest, he recommends that the government should provide in its con-tracts that all work be done under "fair" conditions and that "a good factory law" should be passed for the the recommendations that every president regularly makes and that every understands to be intended The a Pickwicklan sense," and quietly drops into the waste-basket.

INTERESTING OMISSIONS.

On the whole, the portion of the message dealing with the labor ques-tion is rather more interesting for what it omits than for what it contains. There are at least two other matters

President might have been expected to say comething. He could hardly have forgotten. One is the protection of the lives of railway employees; the other, the abuse of the lamuction power by state and federal courts in dealing with labor conflicts. On both of these points he is profoundly stlent. It is pearly ten years since a law was created requiring the railroad compan-les to provide their rolling stock with certain uniform "safety appliances" to reduce, the danger to their employees of injury or death at their work. The enforcement of this law was entrusted to the Interstate Commerce Commission. Five years were allowed to the companies to comply with its provisions. and then they were given two additional years. But even yet the journals of the railway employees' organizations are full of complaints that the law is not olieved as well as that it is not broad enough in its provisions to meet the necessities of the case. These un-lons have been appealing to the Commission to enforce the law. They have doubt within the last two months they have addressed the President on the subject. But not a word does he say.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS. That their complaints are well found

President Roosevelt expresses the MINISHING; RIT THE PROPOR-philon that, "with the sole exception to the farming interest, no one matter of LINITRED TO THE WHOLE NUMBER EMPLOYED IS STEAD-ILY INCREASING. The first fact shows that the companies CAN run their trains more safely, if they will; the second shows that, so far as their employees are concerned, they WILL NOT unless they are compelled to. This be A QUESTION OF LIFE AND DEATH to hundreds of working-men every year, and a question of brend and latter to the thousands who are yearly mained and disabled from supporting their families. But it is also A QUESTION OF PROFIT to the hundreds-or perhaps it would be better to any scores, or dozens-of capitalists who own the bonds and most of the paying stock of the railway companies and whose uncarned income-would be reduced by the expense of preper equipment on their roads.

There is another abuse which secounts for a large proportion of the faint railway heelidents and which it is quite within the constitutional pow-ers of the foderal government to foridd. Engineers, conductors, train-dis patchers, and other milway employees, on whose aleriness depend, not only their own lives, but hundreds of others, are frequently required to work twelve, sixteen, or even twenty or more hours at a stretch. They know, as their masters know, the danger this nvolves. But they must obey or be discharged—with very little chance of getting another job; and as for the cap-italists, they find it cheaper to take the risk of occasional pecuniary loss to themselves and loss of life for many employees and passengers, than to keep on their payrolls a force of men large enough to make such excessive inge enough the min unnecessary.

If the President had sincerely meant the "taffy" that he gives to the working class in his message, he would have streamously ecommended a drastic mensure ex-ending the provisions of the law in question; providing, further, for an eight-hour day for all railway workers; and putting means into the hands of the railway unions to secure the strict enforcement of all its provisions. But if the President had made such a recommendation as that, certain gen-tionen bearing the names of Morgan, Rockefeller, Harriman, Gould, and Hill would have been deep ly offended, and Theolore Rossevelt would have had no hope of getting a renomination in the Republican conrention of 1904. And Theodore Roosevelt, with all his strennousness, is one of the numerous men who "would rather be president than he rights?"

NO REFERENCE

TO INJUNCTIONS. The other question—that of the inter-ference of the courts to help capitalists agninst striking, bayeotting, or locked ing people every day. The abuse of the power of injunction in such cases be gan many years ago. It has grown as the class struggle between Labor and Capital has become more intense. It has now reached such outrageous procontempt of court has become one of the cardinal virtues, that the title of

We need not here speak articularly of this abuse of Judi cial power. It is a subject on which Congress has been appealed to again and again, on which every trade union in the land has adopted resolutions of protest, on which all the nowspapers have dilated. Surely the President could not have fergotten it. But again, he is silent. And for him, as a Republican president, this is wise. To advise any measure that would protect the working people from such outrages power and to oppose them upon a matter of vital importance to their system of exploitation. Obviously, he hope from President Roosevelt or his Congress or from the party which they represent. Not until the workingness of the country cast a really formidalise vote for a party that uncompromisingby Hemands the complete emancipation of Labor will they receive even partial concessions worthy of consideration. And not until they take possession of cease to be the tool of the capitalist class. Such a party exists, It cast a hundred thousand votes for Eugene V. Debs as the standard-henrer of class-conscious Socialism last year. It will cast more from year to year, till it puts a workingment in the White House. Then we shall have a presidential measage that will mark an epoch in the world's history. Tili words," as Hamlet says.

Perhans the President did make a welled allusion to the question of injunctions against strikers, after all. Perhaps that was what he had in mindwhen, ofter saying many sweet words mbout the trade unions, he added: "There must also in many cases be nesafeguard the rights and interests of process of trustification. all." Perhaps his "all" means all the

INFLATION, CRISES, AND CONCENTRATION.

In another column we quote a pain graph from the London "Investor's Retasu" upon the monopolistic finance America. The writer seems to find comfort in the fact that the great coinpanies, commonly described as trusts are overcapitalized and that this fact is likely to bring them to rule. It is hard for us to see what comfort the workingman can get from this consideration. It is perfectly true that many of the trucks are heavily overcapital fied and tunt, on the approach of a perthat of decreession-schieb in sure to come, somer or later-many of them will brenk flown. This may be regarded as a just panishment for the promo ters, but it will by no means work continuion or reparation to the people whom they have robbed.

In a timmeint crises, there are two sets of enpitalists who generally lose. On the one hand, the promoters manipulators, and speculators who have made great fortunes out of the organization of trusts and the the period of prosperity, are likely, unless they trim their sails very carefully, to be swamped in the storm. On the other hand, the members of the middle their small capital in "industrials," are almost certain to be unmercifully fleeced.

But what the speculators and the small investors lose does not go back to the working class which produced it. working class is affected by the crisis in another way-by the shutting down of factories and all the miseries ment." In this process the savings of the working people, also, are swent . BWHY.

All that is lost by speculators, by small investors, and by workingmen however, is not destroyed or used up during the hard times. Where, then, does it go? Who gets it? Evidently the only ones who profit by such a erisis are, in general, those great capttalists, doing a "legitimate" business, who are able to command money or credit to tide over the period of de pression. Securities which suddenly detreciate in value and which speculators and small luvestors are obliged to duelve to macrifice pass into the hands of the tid" capitalists and thus, when the

the means of production is more fully ntrated than ever,

It is, then, a mistake to suppose that the break-down which regularly follows a period of prosperity and over capitalization redistributes the wealth that has been concentrated. If Socialists look complacently on the process It is because every recurring crists ac tually hastens the concentration of capital, draws the class lines clearer, and brings nearer the day when the completely trustified state must give way to the Socialist Commonwealth.

Some of our extremed contemporaries who object to the phrase "the antagonbun between capital and labor," claim ing that this antagonism is between apitalists and inhorers, not "rapital" and "labor" overlook the fact that the words "enpital" and "labor" are now sed as 'collective nouns signifying classes of men as well as things,

The newspapers that are worrying squ much over the "race question" have nothing to say about the class question. Why don't they settle the problem of the negro by saying that there are no races. This would be just as reasonable as their statement that "there are no classes in America."

PRESIDENT GOMPERS PRACTIS ING PODSNAPPERT.

The light and airy manner in which President Compens passed over three large and amplement facts to which it was necessary that he should refer in his annual report does not greatly increase our admiration either for his groral courage or for his breadth of

The existence of a large independent body, the Western Federation of Miners, covering the Rocky Mountain states - a body not only independent of, but more or less hostile to the Amerienn Federation, and differing with it on very grave questions of policy-was surely a question that called for more than a perfunctory recommendation that a committee be appointed to see if unity could be re-established.

Still more important, perhaps, was the matter of the steel workers' strike of last summer, which he dismissed with a statement that it had failed, a broad hint that 'its failure was due either to incompetence or to dish-nesty upon the part of the officials of the Annigamated Association, and a stereotyped phrase of hope for the future

The steel strike was in many repects the greatest that this country has ever seen. Never did so large a number of wage-workers array themselves against such a powerful enpitalist organization. As the first great strike against a fully developed modern trust, it had a peculing interest, because it might be sup posed to be the first of a series of similar gigantic struggles, since there can tibu by the government in order to be little doubt of the continuance of the

This strike failed. There was nothing wonderful in that. But its sudden ending was never fully and satisfactorlly explained, as the working class at large had a right to expect. It is commonly understood that the officers of the Amalgamated Association have hald at least a part of the blame for its failure at the door of the Federation officers, claiming that they had been eucouraged to expect support from that quarter and that they did not receive it.

President Compers may think that, so far as he is personally concerned, he can afford to let such suspicions en unanswered. But this is not a personal matter. The working class has, we recent it, a right to know whether any fault on the part of Gompers or of Shaffer or of both or of either or both of their organizations was wholly or partially responsible for so serious a

But even this is not the whole of the question. Even of there were no question of blame on any side, it would have become President Gompers' posttion better to give more serious attention to the steel strike in his report. This was the event of the year in the trade-union movement. President "floating" of their stock during Comper is the recognized official head of the trade-union movement in this country. What would be thought of a president of the United States if, after a war in which this country had been defeated, he had ventured, op the assembling of Congress, to inform that body, in the briefast terms, of the fact that we had been defeated and of his hope that it would not happen ugain, without discussing the causes of our falure and stating how, in his opinion, victory might be assured in future? Nuch a slurring over of the sphier would be especially blameable if the war in question had involved new con ditions of far-reaching importance and conditions that were likely to continue > and even to be intensified in the future The question is this: Either the steel strike falled through the fully or misconduct of some of the officers of name of the organizations concerned, or it failed in spite of their best united efforts, If the former was the case, we have a right to know who was to blame. If the fallure was due to conditions which the combined strength of the Amalgamated Association and the American Federation of Labor could not overcome, we have an equal right to a very full and clear statement from President Compers, as the head of the trade-union movement in the United

State, as to the exact nature of those

the prospects of future victory, and the leasons to be drawn from the experi-

We have got nothing of the sort. We are left entirely to our own conjecture, For ourselves, we have no desire to enter, into discussions of quarrels between labor organizations. That is not our business-though it is President Compers' very proper business. In most such quarrels both sides are at fault and our part, as being with the trade-union movement but not of it, is constantly to urge the necessity of uniting solidly against the common foc.

In the present case we are not in clined to attribute the fatiure of the steel strike to any wilful error in any quarter, but rather to believe that it was due to the fact that the steel work ers were in battle against an enemy far 160 powerful to be overcome by the methods of pure and simple trade unhimben: and if this be so, we must infer, when we consider that the capitalisticof other industries are rapidly organizing on the same basis on which the Steel Trust now stands, that the working class will have to adapt its methods to the changed condition if i is to expect any measure of success in the future. There is no reason to suppose that President Compers agrees with us in this view. But whether be does or not, a statement of his opinion and the grounds for it would have saved the very uncomfortable suspicion that the highest official of the American trade unions was nirald of the most vital problem with which the trade unions are being called upon to

The last of the three large and unpleasant facts to which we have referred is the strike of eigarmakers it Tomps. President Compers says that The situation in Tanana has recently improved to some extent." The final failure of the strike, after a long and nost valiant kiruggle, is the only fact known to re- and President Gampore does not give us any others-upon which he can have his cheerful state

He also expresses his belief that "desperate methods were employed by both contestants." We knew from the eapitalist press that unprecedentedly atrocions methods were employed by the capitalists-the methods of lynch law. of mob violence, of fareible kidnap ning, of amonymous threats of assast sination - as well as the more custom ary uninwful methods of blacklisting and of using the powers of police and courts to persecute the strikers. We are not informed as to the "desperate methods" used by the strikers in return; but for the credit of human na ture we should hope that there was seme vigorous retaliation; we hope that the Tampa cigarmakers were no afraid to strike back when they had a chance.

President Compers further assure us that he helped the strikers, "but always within our legal and moral rights"-durely'if was not necessary to add that phrase; we could not possibly imagine him in the rôle of a lawbreaker, however infamous the law. And he then proceeds, without the slightes word of condemnation for the capitalist criminals or of sympathy with their working-class victims, to criticize these latter for not joining the C. M. L. U. and the A. F. of L.

We repeat, we do not care to discuss trade-union quarrels. But one thing we do know and say: The time of intensest battle against the forces of capitalism. and especially the moment of defeat under enpitalist lawlessness and outrage of the worst sort, is not the time that a man in President Compers' posttion should choose for attacking the union so lighting and so defeated. That is not the way to promote harmony.

"The working class, may it ever be right! But, right or wrong, the working class!" That is a perfectly sound motto. We may disapprove of the conduct of some of our fellow workingmen. But when those men are in battle, we have but one duty-to help them by all means in our power.

The Tampa affair raises a very im portant question-as important as that raised by the steel strike, but a little different from it. The question is: In cases where the capitalist class abandone all pretence of common honesty. decency, and humanity, and openly violates all law and order, what steps are the workingmen to take for the defense of their interests? We get no light on this subject from the head of the Federation.

President Gompers seems to have taken as his model the immortal Podmap, who put all troublesome ques tions out of the way-put them out of existence-put them nowhere-with a majestic backward wave of the hand. It is not a good plan, though temporarily convenient. The American trade unions have problems before them that cannot be solved by pompous silence.

The editors of the prostitute press are horrified because some striking niners have closed down a mine by force and depled the scabs their "right to work." Yet when a trust closes down a haif-dozen factories and de prives thousands of the "right to work" these same gentlemen look upon it as an evidence of prosperity.

An Associated Press dispatch reports that the big farmers of Oregon and Washington are buying combined reapers and threshers, and first the saving in wheat and labor is enormous. The recult will be that the little farmers The employerals over, the actual ownership of conditions, the causes of past failure, will not be able to stand the competition. The railroads, the mortgage-holders, frust prices, and the concentration of farming industries, are rapidly making a proletarian out of the farmer And in transferring him from the middir-class to the proletariat they are changing him from a Populiat into a Socialist.

In another column we note the attempt of the teachers in the City Corlege to intimidate a Socialist studentnot the first instance, unfortunately, which has occurred there. " congratulate the student concerned on his courage in standing by the colorsfor we know it is not an easy thing to do, considering the power that teachers have to make a student's life uncomfortable-and we call upon all parents to watch closely and see that every such agression on the part of the trach ers, many of whom are actively hostile to the labor movement, is energetically rebuked .- "Sternal vigitance is the price of liberty."

GOOD ADVICE FROM

THE "MINERS' MAGAZINE." In the month of August, in the city of Indianapolis, the Social Democratic and the dominant wing of the Socialist ganized what shall be known bereafter as the Socialist Party and adopted, a platform, which we print on an page for the benefit of our readers, especially the members of our organization, which is worthy of their atten-

It is refreshing to know that the delegates attending the convention dis played such wisdom and obliterated the long standing fend that divides clalistic principles. By their action the Socialists in both parties have set an men who believe in the principles of self-government. . All workingmen who are not blind to their interests know full well that their interests are not protected by the Republican or Democratic parties and knowing this, it believes them, if they wish to preserve what liberty they yet enjoy, to additate with the Socialist atilliate with the Party, which is the only political party that offers them any relief. It is use ices to find fault with and rail against the politicians in either of the old parties, because they are not to blame for the legislation now upon our statute books. They have carried out the wishes and obeyed the instructions of the capitalists who paid them for making ich laws as were calculated to ait vance capitalistic interests nd Canada have it in their power to change the unjust system of govern-ment under which they live if they will use their intelligence with the power they already enjoy. Casting a zetrospective glanco ave-

the history of old political parties, it is not hard to observe that under all circumstances the interests of the laboring people have been neglected while the capitalist's interests have been renserved and panipered almost to the limit of human endurance, . With this object lesson before the working pronic it now behooves them to cast aside their jeniousies and foolish bickerings and allow their minds to expand from the pure and simple trade union movement and join their forces with the only political party that offers them any relief. If workingmen exercise their political franchise they should intelligence that will result in the greatest good for the greatest number.
The government of the United State has been in the hands of the capitalists for many years, and we believe it will there for many years to come. unless the working people will look beyond the strike and boycott for relief. With sufficient votes at their com mand it is uscless to complain about unjust laws and the tyranny of the partments of government are simply the instruments in the hands of the people, and the unjority of the people-in this country are working people. Then why not throw saide the veil of . party prejudice that has obscured our way in the past, and in the future, inour halls at our regular meetings discues in an intelligent manner those economic and political questions that are of vital interest to us?

We say that the ancess and welfare of the laboring people depend entirely upon the degree of intelligence they exercise in behalf of their own interests. We advise the members of the Western Federation of Miners to study carefully the platform of the Socialist Party, and if, after studying it, they find it offers the desired relief, to join this movement and advance its prin-

The above article adds one more instance to the rapidly multiplying evidence that the labor press and labor organizations are awakening to the fact that in political action with the Socialist Party lies the only hope of economic independence, and industrial freedom.

THE ESSENTIAL POINT IN SOCIALIST PROPAGANDA.

Fallacies of Muddled Socialists—As to Government Ownership -Working Class Must First Capture Government - The Means Before the End-Psychology of the Confusionists -Toleration and Narrowness-Tactics.

BY COURTEMAY LEMON.

ncy of it is commendably zenlous, unfortunately do great barm to the cause and sow the seeds of future confusion through lack of a thorough intellectual grasp of the science of social evolution inderlying the Socialist movement.

In this category may be placed all these who define Socialism as government ownership; those who proclaim, without qualification, that Socialism is simply an extension of the functions of government; those who point to the l'est Office Department or any other industrial function administered by topresent state as "an example of Social-lam;" and particularly those who claim that the government ownership of railreads, regardless of the political party or class in society by whom might be brought about, would be step towards Socialism;" those who claim that Socialism or may step to-wards it, other than the regular prosecured other than by the independent political action of the working class and those whose only method of propa-ganda is to paint alluring pictures of the beauties and benefits of the future Co-operative Commonwealta

THEY OVERLOOK THE EXISTENCE OF CLASS RULE.

The common characteristic of those who adout the misleading methods of propaganda outlined above is their in-sistence solely upon the end to be gained and their neglect of the method by which only it is possible to achiev that Co-operative Commonwealth which is the goal of the Sacialist move ment. They overlook or full to really the importance of the great fundamen-tal fact which confronts us in present society. That fact is the fact of class rule-the fact that the capitalist clasby reason of their ownership of the means of production, dominate and rule society decommically, socially, politically, governmentally, and in every other way. The various changes in the meth-ods and tools of production, of which bistory tells us, have resulted in class struggles which have shifted the power to rule from one class to another; but the ruling power has ever remained in the hands of the class which, at any given time, was in control of the means of production, in whatever form they might be. The exploited class, however, now has the power to gain control of the state by uniting p Utically, and by this means to gain control of the means of production. The great sim of Socialist propaganda should therefore he to make the working class conscious oronsty class-conscious propagands.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

Government, or the state, is mainly a machine for maintaining the suprerey of the ruling expitalist. Therefore "an extension of the tions of government" or "governmen ownership" of this or that industry, an long as government remains in the con-trol of the capitalist class, would only serve to strengthen the power of that class. Accepting the Post Office Department as an example of "govern-ment ownership," we have recently had a striking illustration of how it strengthens the power of class rule. Canada, Arbitrary culiage of the Post Office Department against trade union and Socialist papers threaten to make their existence lupossible. Thus this miscalled "example of Socialism," under a capitalist government, bécomes : weapon in the hands of the canitalist class. The postal clerks are nor roost overworked stud badly workers in the country. This should . make it obvious that government own- guided in no way Socialistic. In Russia where the government owns the railroads and many industries, the condition of the working class is worse than in any other country. In France the government monopoly of the Subacco

In the second of the secon business makes here profits. We know that profits can only be made by the exploitation of labor. And the profits thus made by the government monopoly of tobacco in France are used to pay the expenses of militarism and colonization in the interest of the capt talist class, and to reduce the faxe levied on the propertied classes to pay the expenses of government. In the same way municipal ownership of "public utilities" under the administration of a capitalist political party would be conducted on a labor-exploit ing, profit-making plan for the purpose of raising revenue and thus decreasing the taxes on the capitalist class. It rould therefore he of no benefit to the corking class. To those who contenthat government ownership would a least be of an educational value i teaching the people the advantage which would result from the climina-tion of competition, it may be pointed out that in Russia the only effect government ownership by a capitalisti ninte has been to inflame the minds of the people against all government. The result is the mak a r of Anarchists wh caposize of pa truly democrati and helpful government and who can imagine no state of a different again than the tyrannical cantalistic state under which they have liced.

THE WORKING CLASS MUST FIRST CAPTURE GOVERNMENT.

The foregoing facts should suffice show that mere government ownership of industry would be of no benefit to the working class unless the working class bad first captured the powers government. And the capture of th sowers of the state by the working chas would mean a complete change in the mature of the state. The work ing class would use the powers of gov rument to bring about the con ownership of all the means of produc-tion, and when this is accomplished the present functions of government wit disappear, and there will be no state in the sense in which it is conceived of at present. The functions of gov-

Many well meaning individuals | ermment are the protection of private whose professions of faith in Socialism property in the means of production are certainly sincere, and whose advoof the ruling class. Under Madalla there would be no private property in the means of production, and chasses would be abolished by the consequent establishment of equality of enomic opportunity. As Deville points out, the state would therefore become "an administration of things, not a government of persons" and, "although there would be an industrial organization, there would no leager be a state.

working chass must precede the trainormation of the state and the estale halanent of the Co-operative Cor wealth; and a consecousness in the wealth; and a consecousness in the working class of the solidarity of its own interests as apposed to the interests of the capitalist class must precede the political victory of the working class. The arousing of this classousciousness therefore becomes of the tirst importance. It is really of more beportance than the end in view. For if the working class is class-conscious is victory must inevitably result in the common ownership of the means of production; whereas, if the Co-opertive Commonwealth is merely desire d became it would be in itself a good thing, it may never be realized if our energies are not centered on the only possible method of attaining it. The facts of history show us that it is written in the laws of social evolution that there is only one sure mothed of capitalist system, but have no eaching our goal and that is by a of constructive thought ment of the working class. Such a classic field. They need to su movement udded, if it does not proceed a principles of inclusive reasoning, by the inevitable consumic collapse. IMPORTANCE OF THE METHOD:

Badonis and revolutionists of various selands, such no the "phatesopacem". Americhists" and the Single Taxons, desire a state of society in which ex-flediation will not exist and in which recal justice and equality of ee nomic opp rundry will possall. To that exeat their deshies are the same as th of Socialists; but the nears by which they propose to reach these desired so-cial conditions are in certifict with the laws of social and economic evolution, and therefore their plans of media regeneration are log sessible of near vertex. AS TO BOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS

of the capitalist press that the few capitalists who own the railroads of the country would be willing to sell out to the government. This would simply be putting the nation in pawn to a set of capitalists who would be re-lieved of responsibility and would draw interest instead of dividends. would And the freeing of capital for name vestment which would result from their sale of the overenphalized rall-roads would make competition fercer and exploitation greater in other ind tries. Those who propose the building of parallel lines by the govern-ment are, as usual, blind to the existence of class rule. The government forward as a measure for the henefit of the middle class, as is shown by the following quotation from an editoria in the New York "Evening Journal" of Oct. 21:

"The owner of such a factory must accept such frequencies is given him. He can manufacture his goods, but be can only get them to market by per mission of the milrond. And the rail less for him to undertake the bene ficial task of supplying employment.

"If the government owned the railroads, the railroads would be conduct ed in the interest of the people, and not in the interest of a few railroad own ers. The man who might start a for the people" who own factories, so that they might "undertake the beneficial they might "undertake the beneficial task" of driving their factory slaves

The fact that we have not yet got government ownership of railroads is iself a proof of the impotence of the rapidly-disappearing class of small cap-tallists. When the large capitalists get ready to sell the rallroads at a large profit the demands of the middle class may bring about the government own-ership of ratironds—not before, And in bringing about government ownership of railreads the middle class woul agala be cutting their own throats; for as soon as they had disposed of the railroads the large capitalists would turn their capital into the industrice now in the hands of the middle clasmore in the lambs of the made class with the same old result--competition, concentration, manopoly, and the crushing out of the small capitalists. This, too, would finally lead to Social ism by a longer, rougher road than the immediate proletarian victory which is the object of our propaganda.

TACTICS.

The materialistic conception of his tary, the law of economic determin which forms the hash of the Sc clalist movement, and the class strug-gle which has brought the movement Into being, by their very nature mak the faction to be pursued by that movement the one taking of supreme importance. Class conscious factors is the vital, essential point in Socialist propaganda. We may define the Soclaist movement itself as simply the CORRECT TACTICS f r the working class to use in its necessary and inevitable struggle against the capitalist class. Identists and ideals are a valua ble and inevitable auxiliary movement of the working class, idealist becomes valuable only when be arrives at an intellectual compabet sion of the fact that propaganda, to he effective, must be based on class in-terests. And the number of idealists who will become Socialists against cial institutions, are generally created or colored by material interests.

Socialists - might reasonably differ other matter of speculation, but the very nature of the Socialist movement re class-conscious tactics to be th nly effective or safe course. say anti-moral-finance has never in any country attempted such stupen-dous fests as in the United States of North America. Sheltered behind a customs tariff, in itself one of the most tiagrant embediments of political dishopesty the world now beholds, groups of individuals have striven to monopo-lize for their own interest, not merely the product of men's industry but the gifts and treasures of nature, the un-curned increment of future generations. And they have succeeded in doing this to m extent which has reduced the mass of the American people to a state of pitiful slavery. Their methods, however, may set bring about their discomsture, and probably will, In order to steal all, or mostly stl, the benefits of human industry and inven-tion, the profits of mines and factories, the savings of the farmer and shepherd, the gains of the wholesale and retall trader, the good of the years to rome, these groups of men, perfectly zhoulish from a moral point of view have multiplied the capitalization of their various combinations to an extent sufficient in itself to involve many of them in rule when the test of adver-sity is applied. We see the Wall Street market fermenting now beneath caps tal, created purely for objects of theft, theft in the present generation, theft reaching forth to generations yet un born. And one day, in spite of fariffs, of legislatures and executive officials at their beek and call, the small knot of ravishers of men's lives, who seem to sway the interests of the American Republic as if they their private business, will find that the moral laws of the universe cannot be defied with impunity, that even a "billion dellar trust" is but it feeble thing.

is bringing to bear a new weapon for the destruction of trade unions, and the breaking of their strikes. Dispatches very frequently aunonuce that this or that union has been sued for damages by the capitalist against whom they have been striking. The intest is a suit filed against the International Association of Machinists for $10,000 by the Robert Terrant Company of Chicago. The company charges that the union tried to rule their business because they filled orders for mathing shops against whom the union ras on strike.

The weapon of the suit for damages is thus added to the army of the un-employed, the injunction, the felleral on and the fear of starvation. The weapons are multiplying against the strike in the factory," but against a strike at the ballot bux the emplialist is helpless. Let us all strike there

The New York "World" notes that the $75,000,000 British tolarco trust and the $10,000,000 Universal Company of the United States are about to make an attack on the American Tolucco Company, the trust which almost completely dominates the tolucco indus-try in this country and recently selzed several large British industries "This is an interesting example of that internationalization of trusts which is obnationalization of treats which is obviously the next step in the remandida-tion of industry and which has been undertaken in several directions already," says the "World," "Of course the predicted "fight' between the new combination and the doll American trust is merely a passing phrase of the movement. There have been such fights between the Standard Oil Company and the Burgain astrologue from pany and the Russian petroleum trust, but the end has been a friendly agreement by which the whole world has been divided between the two powers. The "World" says who a the two tobac-co combines measure each other's strength they will unite, and "the same process will be carried out in all other important lines of business." When that has happened, the "World" concholes, "what will be the aspect o tariff question when the protected fac-tories and those against which protec-tion is qualitained are all owned by the same people?" The clap-trap issues will be dead and Socialism will be in augurated.

LOCAL KINGS COUNTY.

An interesting meeting of the County Committee of Local Kings County was held on Sunday, Dec. 3, at the head-quarters, Ralph avenue and Fulton street. Comrade Buck was in the street. Commade Buck was in the chair. Seven applications for membership in the party were received and acted upon favorably. The State Secretary laving notified the Local that it was entitled to another representative on the State Committee, Commade Hanford was unmillinously chosen to act in that enterior and it is housely and that he that capacity, and it is hoped that he will consent to serve, as his long ex-perience and antiring vigor are needed in the party councils.

Nonlinations for National Commit-

toman and Secretary of the Interna-tional Socialist Bureau were referred to the branches. On the roll call it was found that five branches were main not represented. These branches are once more urged to take part in the deliberations of the County Committee. Comrade Smith ande a strong ples for recognition by the Lucul of his drum corps. He made a statement of its flumeial condition, which was found to be fairly presperous. he asked for was not financial assist-ance, but rather an official standing in and the patronage of the party. On motion, the drum curps was recognized officially as an organization under the jurisdiction of Local Kings County, and a committee elected to attend its meetings and take a general interest in he welfare, and report thereon from time to time. The committee consists of Committee Speck, Kruntz, and Durrent. The corps meets every Fridar night at Oelschlager's Hall, 1142 Wil-loughly avenue, and Comrade Smith extends a cordial invitation to party members to be present. Comrad-smith's address is 200 Hemrod street Brooklyn and the different branch are requested to communicate with him if they need his services,

The request of the "Volksaeltung" for payment for the Insertion of the calendar of meetings and meeting places of the branches of Local Kings County was granted and the paper asked to fur nish a bill quarterly, such bill to be apportioned and paid for pro rate by

A committee from The Worker Conference of New York was present, and neked for the formation of a similar lody in the City of Churches. After some discussion it was decided to be the matter over until after the election of officers, which occurs in Janua ary. This action was not taken through apathy for the party organ, but rather the Local itself is in good working order, and in a position effectually is further the interests of that valuable adjunct to our propagands.

The next meeting of the Local will take place on Runlay, Dec. 22. at p. m., at the headquarters, Ralph ave nue and Fulion street.

A delarate convention of the Social lat Party of Oklahoma will be held at Kinglisher, in the old Opera House, on Friday, Dec. 27. Each local will be entiled to one delegate for every ten nesulters or unifor fraction thereof. The Territorial Committee will meet at the entire place, in the foremon of the same day, to wind up its work and report to the convention, whose duty it will be to elect a committee and offi-cers for the next year, as well as a member of the National Committee, to draw up a constitution for the territo ial organization, and take other mean ures for the good of the party.

The Oklahoma Socialists first enter ed the political field in the fall of 1000, casting 815 votes for E. T. Tucker, can-didate for Territorial Delegate. Much agitation has been done since that time and the organization greatly strongth ened, so that a large gain ma pected in next fall's election.

Greater New York makes it a point to send in at least one new authoription to The Worker every month from now till next Election Day. That would mean over twelve thousand new subscribe from this source sions, to my nothing of the fact that each of these new read-ers becomes in turn a canvasser for the ers becomes in turn a canvasser for the paper. Can you guess how many hun-dred new party members that would mean, how many thousand new votes next November? President Roosevelt's first annual mosange. He sava:

It is worth while to wade through the whole wearlsome document in order to gel those two sentences. For think how they corroborate the Socialist argument. Think how they confute that time-honored objection that, if the lash of hunger were not felt, no one would be willing to work. It is good to be able to quote such words from the most strenuous of Republican presidents in reply to that old but ever new plea of the defenders of competition and wage slavery.

Most emphatically, it is true that American workingmen take a pride in their work, "so that, INDEPENDENT OF THE REWARD, they wish to turn out a perfect job." That is true, indeed, of all mankind; but it is probably true to a greater extent of the work mgmen of America than of any others at the present time.

And why is it more distinctly true in Amories than in England or Germany or Russia? In order to answer that, look first among the workingmen of America and see in what portions of the working class this fact is most evi-

And, the highcut pride of workmanship is found among those workmen who are less se verely driven, who-live bester, who have more leisure, who enjoy a greater degree of freedom, and who, accordingly, have cultivated a higher degree of

The National Committee of the 85 cialist Party issued the following ad-dress to the delegates to the national nvention of the American Federation at the convention hall:

To Delegates to Twenty-first Annual Convention of the American Federa-tion of Labor, Scranton, Pa. Brethren and Comrades;

"When a prevailing economic ecomes the very antithesis of human needs by reason of evolution in produ previous social necessities), must pro long its obsolete economic life by the and the application of remedial laws and the application of political force. Any measure of emancipation by the subfeet class short of political revolution will be utterly futile and hopeless. Arbitration at best is an armistice in which the opposing forces of labor and capital confer about the terms upon which labor surrenders to capital. The price at which inhor should be bought and sold is an inherently irreconcilable issue, that cannot be eternally arbitrated. The difference between compulsory arbitention and voluntary arbitrati n the difference between being robbed the trade union movement has grown in numbers, influence and rese viille it has raised wages, reduce hours, eradicated abuses-educated and fraternized humanity and tended to the establishment of a better standard of living among the organized toilers -lins accomplished these results in spite of the political powers of the rulbeing gradually arrested by utter disregard for free institutions and gr as relitevements of economic organization have been neutralized by economic effects having their inherent cause in the capitalist system, thus:

"A .- Through trade unlopism we may hours of toil but we cannot dictate to the capitalist class how many days In the year they must employ us. In 188 organized trades in the United States there are only 20 in which the workers are employed 300 days in the reduce hours. "D .-- In declaring that wages will never be regarded as the equivalent of labor, the trade unions proclaim that the workers cannot redeem the sam total of capital by a fraction in wages while in addition, the latter under com-petition tend to a mere level of subsistence. The consequent crisis with each decade is therefore inevitable.

"E.-Self-perpetuation which impels the capitalist class (through injunctions insued by servile courts) to repress the powers of trade unions, has injected a vital political large into a begytofore economic organization While the trade union cannot act as a political party, the presention of the public powers, dictated by self-preservation, requires the trade unionist to form his class political party in order to .safaguard his economic organiza-

"The political organization of the working class is therefore an immediate necessity co-ordinate with the preservation and continued growth of their economic organization; antagenism to either will now endanger both. If the Socialist Partyis (for any reason) objected to as means to an end, those who profess to believe in the end are not necessarily relieved of responsibility for the proper political means. If the declining Socialist Labor Party erred in antagonizing the trade unions, it constitutes a good reason why the rising Socialist Party which supports the trade unions should be encouraged. That the economic strength of the trade unions of Europe has increased co-ordinately with participation in po-litical activity and possession of public power, is conclusive evidence that when men become imbued with flo-cialism they gain interest in their trada union, which after all is the embryonic foregunger of industrial presultation der the co-operative commonwealt "With fraternal geretings, we are,

Suggestions as to the Heed of Prope ganda and Means of Carrying It on Between Political Campaigns.

HCW TO WORK

Ever since Election Day we have been declaring and iterating and reit-crating the necessity of unremitting and energetic work for the propaganda of Socialism between communicus. At the risk of tiring the patience of all our readers, we shall keep on reiterating these remarks as long as there seems to be occasion for it.

We in New York City worked hard during the two months before election. But a comparison of our position with that of the S. L. P., which lost nearly one-fifth of its vote, shows that our work was not without its reward. The campaign between the two old parties was such an extraordinary one that only by the very best of work had a minority party the chance even to hold its own. Such a campaign as that we shall probably not see again for years to come. Certainly next fall's contest between the old parties will be a very mild one in comparison with the one we have passed through, and our oportunities will be proportionately

But the holding under unexampled difficulties, of all of the votes that we had gained in the much easier cam-paign of 1900 is not the only result accomplished by our strenuous endeav We know that there were many sands of voters who heard our thousands of voters who speakers and read our party literature for the first time, who were deeply Impressed and, indeed, "almost persuaded," by our arguments, but who, not being as yet thoroughly imbued with the Socialist spirit, finally decided that it was of more importance to ensure what is called "decent government" for two years than to record a large vote for a system which while they knew much more desirable than any e "reform," seemed to them still long way off.

Now these people have not censed to think, Mercover, these people will vote next year, when it will not be a choice between common decency and pucommon indecency in city govern-ment, but simply a question between two old-party machines in state and national government. If we do our duty from now till next November, not only can we induce a large part of them to cast their votes for So but WE CAN MAKE THEM SUCH THOROUGH GOING AND CLASS-CONSCIOUS SOCIALISTS THAT NO POSSIBLE "REFORM" WAVE OF THE FUTURE CAN SWEEP THEM in a word, we have this year sown n great deal of seed that has not yet had time to germinate. If we want it to yield a good crop in the days to , we must not trust to chances of fate: we must carefully fester it and stimulate its growth till the harvest There are several ways in which the subject of Socialism can be kept before the people and our purposes as principles can be explained to them: Let us speak of three:

Pirst, there is the matter of propa ganda lectures. We need not expect. luring the few months after election to have such large audiences as weather during campaign. But if the number of bearers is smaller, on the ther hand, they are in a much better candidly to consider our arguments. Id the heat of the campaign we have t talk politics, to speak of men and measures and party names and em-blems, rather than of principles. But now the people are calm enough to attend patiently to an exposition of prin-ciples and to discuss them fully and frankly. A propaganda meeting at which HALF A DOZEN STRANG-ERS CAREFULLY LISTEN to a Socialist lecture and then Join in the dis-cussion of it really does more to adwhere hundreds appland in the excitement of the moment, only to go on the next evening to appland the speakers of another party.

It is very necessary, not only that every district should hold propagands meetings, but that they should be held regularly, every week if possible, that they should be held in the pleasantest, most accessible, and best known half that can be obtained, and that they ould be thoroughly and systematically advertised

Let us add a word on methods of advertising public meetings. It is not enough to print a few hundred cards for the members of the district to distribute at random or to get out occa-sional handbills to be given out on the street. In the first place, when a series of Betures is arranged, next cards should be issued, announcing the whole series, logether with a very few sentences of propaganda matter and an advertisement of the local party press and of the local party organization. THESE CARDS SHOULD THEN BE PUT INTO EVERY HOUSE IN THE DISTRICT a few days before the ser ics is to begin. It will be all the better if some leaflets are left with each card. This involves a great deal of work, of course, but that is what we are here for. During the two months before election some of our auditivis-ions succeeded in covering their whole districts twice, from house to house, hesides doing all the work of collecting funds, arranging numerous meet done at least half as often during the rest of the year. or handfills should be distributed, as thoroughly as may be possible, during every week that the course continues, Communications should be sent to trade unions, literary and debating clube, and other organizations, wherever it is practicable, inviting their members to attend. Signs should be put up at all available places, and especially a good sign should siways be displayed at the door of the hall, announcing the time of the lectures and invit ing the public to come in.

As to the meetings themselves, the lecture is, of course, the most import-ant consideration. Care should be taken to secure good speakers and to unke arrangements so definitely and so far in advance that all unnecessary changes of program shall be avoided We have enough good speakers in and near New York City to supply from thisty to fifty meetings every we without overworking any of them.

in order to ensure a good discussion after each lecture it is important that all the comrades shall attend regularly and that they shall not hesitate to ask uncetions or offer replies to the one tions and objections put by strangers in the audience. The liveller the dis-cussion and the greater the number of them participating in it, the more will be the interest and the befor the attendance at future meetings-provided. of course, that all is done-on our part at least-in a spirit of courtesy and fairness.
The meetings may be made still mo

attractive by introducing vocal or in strunental music, rectations, etc., at the beginning and also between the lec-ture and the discussion—the latter intermission giving opportunity for the rery interesting ceremony of passing he hat. We have many comrades and friends of comrades who cannot leclure, but who are able and willing to ontribute to the success of the meetand this feature, therefore, need in volve little or no expense.

One more point should be mentioned in regard to the propaganda meetings. These meetings furnish the very best popurtunity for introducing our liter ature to the public-both our pap and ungazines and our books a namphiets. If the chairman and the literature agents do their duty in this matter it will result in great good. At every meeting the Literature Agent of the district should be in attendance at table near the door, exhibiting for one a good assortment of our 5-cent and 10-cent pamphlets, and a few larger books, as well as The Worker, the "International Social ist Review," and, if it is desired other Socialist periodicule. The chairman, before introducing the lecturer and again before closing the meeting, should briefly but clearly call attention to the literature, advising the distors to acquaint themselves further with our movement by reading what our writers have had to say on various phases of the social question. A very anil outlay will stock the Bleature in ed to there will be a regular profit which will go far to pay for the leastets

Where an assembly district is not yet strong enough to undertake this sort of systematic propaganda by lec-ture meetings, it should co-operate with an adjoining district for that purpose. We can expect to grow only through our own activity. IF WE SHOULD WAIT TO GROW STRONG BEFORE BEGINNING OUR ACTIVITY, WE SHOULD NEVER BEGIN AND SHOULD ALWAYS REMAIN

In every district-and especially at the present time-there, are, no doubt a good many members who are unwill-ing to work. This is to be regretted. But those who realize the necessity of working new should not wait for the lagy ones. THE SUREST WAY OF WAKING THEM UP AND MAKING THEM ACTIVE IS FOR THE ONES WHO ARE NOT LAZY TO PITCH IN

AND DO THERR BEST.
We have here written with especial reference to the party organization of New York City. But nearly all of what has been eald applies with equal force to our locals or subdivisions of locals in all the towns and cities, large and small, throughout the country. Every-where it is possible to hold meetings if the contrades will work energetically and systematically; and everywhere such work, kept up from now till the next campaign, will do great good for

THE SOCIALIST PARTY.

The party which this paper represents is known nationally as the Social ist Party, and such is its designation in most of the states. In New York, however, and in Massachusetts, it keeps the former name of Social Demo cratic Party, for reasons concerning the election laws. It has no connection with the Socialist Labor Party and does not approve of the "union smast ing" tactics or the abusive methods used by that party. The Socialist or Recial Democratic—Party works in infrmony with the trade unions, though without any organic connection. It holds itself free to criticize their policy when tecessary, but it approves of the principle of trade unionism. It does not attempt to dictate to the unions nor le it dictated to by them. It calls upon as workingmen to join the unions of their respective trades as a means of figuring the daily battle against the capitalist class and to join shd, work and vote for the Socialist Party as a means of putting an end to capitalism.

It was propos ed that the organization be called the Ontario Socialist Party; but as the work of the organization will largely be educational for the coming year and as it is proposed to organize a Caun-dian Socialist Party next September, the other name was chosen.

Comrade John Spargo addressed the convention several times, and his prescuce was of great value to the comrades here, who had no previous experience in organized Socialist we Comrade Sparge is making a five week's tone of Outario, addressing meetings on behalf of the Socialist movement.

The accompanying resolutions were carried by the convention without division:

Moved by G. Weston Wrigley and L. Gurofsky: "That this meeting of the Ontario Socialist League, in convention assembled, declares its adherence to the principles of International So-cialism and extends hearty greetluss to the Scelalists of all lands who are orking for the realization of the great deal of a Co-operative Commonwealth through the social ownership and control of all the means of production, dis-irlbution, and exchange."

Moved by G. Westen Wrigiey and R.

Powers: "That we extend to our con-rades of the Socialist Party of the United States our very hearty and fraternal greetings and express our desire maintained between the Socialists of the two main countries of the American continent." The convention also took action towards gaining a better support to "Citizen and Country," which, during the past three years has been published as a Canadian Socialist weekly. The aper ins not been very liberally sup-oried by Canadian Socialists, but the onvention took aggressive action by arranging for an official department in the paper and by urging the Socialist leagues and comrades throughout Canada to take shares of stock in the co-operative company which publishes the paper, with the alm in view of ally making the paper the national party organ.

STEEL STEALINGS.

The officers of the United States Steel Cornoration or Steel Trust have authorized the statement that the carnings of the company for nonth of October amounted to $11. 600,000. Although the corporation has been in existence only about nine months, has had great expenses in organizing its forces, and has had the cost of fighting a big strike, it is aunounced that it will soon have a sur-

A FLIMSY CASE.

The hearing in the case was finally had, after several postponements, of Thesday, Dec. 17, before Magistrate Brunn, Revualds' testimony was taken and the case was then adjourned to Saturday, Dec. 21. What the further criminal libel is so ridiculous, in view of the well known truth of the facis stated or referred to in the publica-tions to which the "Sun" objects, that it hardly seems probable that an indictment can be laid or that the "Sun" will attempt to secure a conviction. If so, however, there is a jury to be considered and ir is hard to conceive jury that would convict a man of crim-ical libel on the charges made, even though the allegations of fact be fully admitted.

HOW TO PROTEST.

In another column we print an editerial comment of the New York "Hy ning Post" upon the Imprisonment of Santiago fglesias for activity in a stille in Parto Reo The "Pot" which is a thoreughly capitalistic paper - though of a relatively decent sort would probably not have mentioned the matter had it not fallen in with its own the "Smi" will have to prave to a jury. of nearement and automation. Sin "Roel" knows very woll that even under American law aimilar judicial also that the matter in question is falso ortrages have been committed against | as well as injurious. Just how they of Engene V. Debs at Chicago or of Paul Corrorau in Idaho, both of which it appreved. The fact that our Puerto Rican Indians have been sentenced an incidental feature of the case, which emphasized the hypocrisy of the pretense that "we" have carried liberty to the Puerto Ricans. The escential point of the matter is that under capitalist government-Spanish law and American administration-workingmen have once more been imprisoned for no other crime than peaceably striking for an advance of wages.

.The concluding words of the "Post" editorial are good, however-better. perhaps, than the "Post" really intentied: "The wage-carners of the United States should take action on this subject and make their volces heard in Congress. They have the strongest motives of self-interest to come to the defense of their fellow-workers in Pr rto Rico." The workers all over the United States have indeed a most powerful motive of self-interest to act on this natter. Under American law we have had an alarming and 'constantly increasing perversion of the powers of the courts to help capitalists in putting down strikes and boycotts. Heretofor this has generally been done through the power of injunction, which is not, however, conveniently applicab's to all cases. But if the workingmen of the United States allow this Puerto Rican case to pass without effective protest, we may expect to see our own courts and legislatures proceed, to the establishment at home of those same princi-, ples of Spanish law under which our comrades are now suffering at Sau Juan.

It will not be enough, however, to pans resolutions of protest and send them to Washington -though this method should not be neglected. There is a far more effective way of protesting against governmental outrages mon workingmen's rights. Every new Socialist vote cast in next fall's congreedonal election will count for more in restraining the persecutors of Labor than the most eloquently worded resointions. Even before next fall many workingmen will have a chance to register their protest at the ballot-box. Numerous city elections will be held within the next four months. Let the workingmen cast heavily increased votes for Socialism in those city elections and, even though they should not elect any of their candidates, their action will be noted and remembered by Judges and legislators and mayors and envernos and congressmen and by the Président bimself, and will have its effeet when the interests of Labor are at

IS IT CRIMINAL LIBEL TO BOY COTT THE "SUN?"

The arrest of Comrade Jennings upo the charge of criminal libel ar the in stance of the New York "Sun" is really a surprising incident in the extraordinary career of that paper. It is not, of course, surprising that the publisher of the "Sup" should wish to clap into prison any and all who have joined to resist and punish their wanton attach upon the organized workingmen of the printing trades or that they should not any means that the law puts into their hands to that end. If they succeed in that, they will have scored an important point, indeed; for the penalty that can lawfully be imposed for criminal libel in for your children? far heavier than any judge would ver ture to inflict for mere contempt, of court. Such a decision would put boy cotting on the same legal footing with grand larceny, perjury, and other serious crimes, as a states-prison offense Such a decision-or over any expects tion of it on the part of the "Sun"seems highly improbable. But in these days we can hardly say that any judicial or governmental outrage against Labor is 'impossible.

At any rate, we await the pros tion of the case with interest and unhesitatingly say that if Comrade Jennings did not publish the matter to which the "Sun" objects he ought to have done so; for the "Sun" is unquesbusiness management and in its editorial policy, an enemy of Labor, and neither it nor those who continue to support it should be supported by the working people or those who sympathize with them. If it is criminal the to beyout the "Sun," let us all commit criminal libel and keep the new District Attorney and the ludges busy, And let us not forget-us most of the printers did-to boycott "Sun" caudi dates Election Day.

----A correspondent says in regard to the fulesian case: "If the workingmen of this country were worth a five-cen cigar, they would declare a general strike from the Atlantic to the Pacific if these prisoners were not at once released." The expression is hardly to strong. There is probably not a country in the world where the workingmen would quietly submit to a n attack so utterly outrageous. Have America's working people utterly forgotten the nditions of the Boston Ten Party and of Harner's Ferry?

It is very casy, in case of rallway accidents, to lay the blame on the conductor or the engineer. It saves a great deal of unpleasantness for the capitalists who own the railways, and the conductor and engineer usually can't kickbecause they're dead.' But does it seem reasonable to suppose that a conductor or an engineer would be criminally negligent when he knows that his own life is in greater dauger than that of any other person? It can hardly be assumed that the railway employees all suffer from 'suickin' manala, can it? And in view of what we know of the neglect or positive to fusal of railway companies (in open definner of law) to equip their roads with devices for the protection of the employees' lives; in view, also, of the well known fact that trainmen are often ordered to work fifteen or twenty hours or even longer at a stretch' and are compelled to obey by threat of discharge for insubordination-in view of these facts it seems to us more reasonabia to believe that the capitalists who control the rallway have a very serious responsibility in the matter? The greed for profits has more human lives to answer for than the ambition of :the kings and the fanaticism of all the religious geniots with which the world has been cursed.

"HOLY JOHN" AS A WHOLESALE STEP-FATHER.

."Holy John" Wanamaker advertises for one hundred boys-"fourteen years "Those who for good conduct are re-

Do you want any worse puternalism than that? Can you conceive any worse orm of paternalism than that which makes it possible for a hypocritical pro fit grinder like Wanamaker to buy the deal?

Socialists would give those boys an opportunity to go to high school and then, if they liked, to college. And when they were fully grown and had a fair start in a life-long education, mental; moral, and physical, it would give them-work to do, at reasonable hours, and would give them the full product of their labor.

Socialism is fraternalism, brotherhood. "Holy Johnism" is paternalism, step-fatherhood. Which do you want

We have heard a great deal of late about the battle of "bulls" and "bears" in the Stock Exchange, fighting for control of copper stock. The losses or gains of those who are manipulating the market on both sides should have little interest for working people. So for, it is sloudy a matter of gamblingthough Mr. Low and the "reformers are not likely to institute raids on Wall Street to stop it. But there is another nothing: In every, such battle there are large numbers of non-combatantsthe middle-class men who have invested their small accumulations-who are sure to lose, no matter which way the tionably a seab paper and, both in its | fight goes. We have no great pity for these small investors, these would be capitalists. They deserve little. They are trying to get something for nothing, trying to get into a position where they can exploit Labor on a large scale and live in luxurious leisure on the div idends naid by the toll of miners and metal workers. They are not in our class. They are trying to get into the class of the Morgans and Rockefellers -but the point is that they are fulling and by their failure are being FORCED down into our class. Every flurry in the stock, market helps to destroy the independent middle class, to transfer its wealth to the coffers of the great capitalists, and to transform its bumbers lute wage-workers. Soudl honest workingmen may look with perfect equanimity on such battles, knowing that they will help to draw the class lines clearer and bring nearer the day of Labor's emancination."

There are three amusing and instructive features about the position of the victorious "reformers" of New York on the Sunday saloon question.

The first point is that, just as we predicted, the different factions and individuals in the "reform" combluation have fallen to fighting as soon as their offices were secure. They were united only in opposition. As soon as they are given power to act their harmony disappears. This is the fatel weakness of all merely "reform" movements. We mny be sure that the Sunday raloon question will not be the only bone of ontention among them.

The second point is that, while some of the churchmen in the combine are in favor of allowing the salouns to keep their side doors open during certain hours on Sunday, they all agree that the saloons must be closed up tight during the hours when the churches hold their services. This looks very much as if they were afraid of being benten in fair competition with the sana-a plain confession of weakness. If the churches have lost their attra tions for the working people to such an extent as this, it must be the fault of the churches themselves. It can be reasonably explained only by the fact that the churches are, in general, dominsted by capitalist inferests and that the workingmen know it.

The third point is that a large num ber of the godly, highly respectable. law-abiding citizens who compose the "reform" forces are in favor of keeping a law that requires the saloons to close on Sunday, but of tacitly allowing that law to be violated every Sunday Without charging that the "reform" administration is actuated in this matter by a desire to preserve Tammany's great source of blackmail. It is sufficient to say that the hypocrisy of the arranged course is quite characteristic of the capitalist class.

If Socialists, instead of "reformers controlled the city and state administration, we should not have this comardly policy of desiging and equivocation. The question would be plainly autoritied to the people, either for the city as a whole or by, assembly districts, to decide by direct popular vote what the law in the matter should be And the administration would then en force the law, because it would have nothing to gain by leaving it unenforced.

It seems highly probable that Presi dent Roosevelt-who is a great deal less strenuous and more willy than he wishes to have people think-may con sider it a good stroke of politics to par don Comrade Iglesias and his companions. It is an old trick of the politi clans to have their subordinates; commit outrages in order that they may win the credit of rebuking them. many knows that trick, too. But the nardbn of the men now imprisoned at San Juan will not right the matter. The reversal of the order dissolving the Federacion Libre and the abrogation of the law against combination to raise wages are absolutely necessary as a mere act of repaintion. We shall awa the President no thanks for doing all of this-if he is shrewd enough to do it -for, as li'rl says, "Dou't no man deserve nothin! for doin' what he'd We hope that the labor demusi-

> The congressmen who are trying to push through bills authorising "river and harbor" and "irrigation" expenditures, and those back of the ship-sub sidy raid are going to unite to help each other in the attempt to carry through their various deals. How long before the American working class will wak up to the I-tickle-you-and-you-tickle-me game played by the gang of giorified grafters who "represent" them?

Ella Wheeler Wilcox has something of a reputation as a sort of non-partiznu Socialist. She is employed by the New York "Journal," which talks such mild and harmless Socialism nine months in the year to eaten the workingmen's attention in order that it may sell them out to the capitalist politicians in campaign time. Mrs. Wilcox has had two books of poems published aspect of the matter which is worth lately. Whom did she select to publish them? No one but Conkey & Co., of Chiengo, a scab house, and one of the most vicious enemies of Labor in the country. This is just what might have been expected. Whether it is due to Mrs. Wilcox' ignorance of the labor movement or to her contempt for it, it is characteristic of the sort of alleged Socialism that finds its expression in the "Journal."

An ambiguous advance notice misled us futo saying hat week that Robert Rives LaMoute would have an article on New Zealand in the December issue of the "International Socialist Review." The article in question is, in fact, a note on the "Paganism and Christianity" controversy and not on New Zenland at all.

Chas. II. Kerr & Co. have published in their "Pocket Library of Socialism" a Labor Day address by Courade J. W. Kelley, member of the city council of Marion, Ind., under the title of "In-

One of the most potable features o the "Socialist Spirit" for December is a sketch by William Mailly, "The Fruits of Victory," a story of the Metropolis which goes down to the heart of things as they are. Simple realism has a power greater than all manner of sentanental preschinents and sanctimonious screeds; and therein iles the strength of this timely tale. The Incisive pen of the man who writes from the Socialist standpoint goes be-neath the surface of the "reform wave" which has recently swept over Nex York, and discloses its underlying futil ity with the eloquence of simplicity and the forcefulness of fact. A very readable paper by Charles H. Kerr on "The Ideals of Buddhism and the Ideals of Socialism," is also worthy of mention. An able editorial on "Socialism and Catholicism" is reinforced by another on "The Catholic Blight," a terrific ar raignment of the Roman Catholic Church, in which Mr. Wentworth sum mans the facts of history to justify the scintillant satire and passionate clo-quence of a richiy deserved denuncla-tion. It is regrettable, however, that by his own frequent use of theological terminology, the writer leaves an opening for those who would substitute the inantities of metaphysical speculation for the certainty of the materialistic conception. The editorial on Christmas bargains is strong enough to make even the most callons "Christian" think, Under the able editorship of Franklin H. Wentworth the "Socialist Spirit" is on of the most interesting periodical con tributions to the current literature of Boelallaps.

"The Whim" bi a little monthly nub lished for unconventional people who think whimsleaf thoughts. It is print-ed at Alwii Shop, which is in Ridgewood, N. J., The "Whim" is small but good; good to look upon and good to rend. The November number contain-od a characteristic story of Toletoy written in Ernest Howard Crosby' plensing style, a good poem by J. Wn. Lloyd, some remarkable extracts from the writings of Gorkl, a parable by Bolton Hall, and a delicious satire on the London Eferary letters of W. L. Alden correspondent of the "New York Times Saturday Review," by Whilden Gra-ham. We also find the following fable. from the Gorman of Reinbart Volker which sums up capitalism in a pargraph

"A man had plundered a bee-bive carried home the dripping combs and was just engaged in acting on the out-side of some of the honey—when a hun-gry little bee came buzzing around to eat a little of it. "The idea!" indignant r roared the infuriated man, "Stealing up honey," and struck it dead." Upon the cover of the booklet is the following critical and judicious ob-

HOW CAPITALISM KILLS ARY.

. J. T. Grein, the dramatic critic, lec-turing in London last week, spoke ac-verely of the "dollar-hunting propensities of American theatrical managera, He admitted that American playeners were exceedingly appreciative, lighly intelligent and well informed, and that they encouraged good plays, but he denounced the trust system, which, he said, tended to demornize the stage and to prevent good plays being presented. It also had a disastrous effect upon dramatic criticism, said Mr. Grein, few newspapers being indepen-dent enough to publish their houset opinions at the risk of offending the ayndicata.

WORTHY OF NOTE.

Significant Sayings of the "Better Element."

At the banquet of the Chamber of ommerce, held at Delmonico's last month, A. B. Cummins, Governor-elect of lows, said: "It is manifest that the workers of America, if they work effciently, will produce something, and that what they produce must be sold. It is clear, therefore, that one of the most important duties before us is to so adjust our laws at home and so frame our treaties with other nations as to give to the people of the United States the maximum amount of work. The problem involved in this subject has totally changed within meent years. Formerly our chief concern was to prevent the producers of other coun tries from invading and occupying the markets of the United States. It now is to invade and occupy the markets of other nations." Here the governor lets the capitalis-tic cat out of the orntorical lag. Per-haps the dinner and the wine were so

e thought his speech to this sel sembly of plutocrats wouldn't get into the papers. But it is much more likely that he took it for granted that the workingmen of America are such foo's that they wouldn't see through the game. We don't want the maximum amount of work." We want the maximum amount of the things which work produces—the full product of our labor. Mr. Cummins says "It is manifest that what they produce rest that what they produce must be sold." Notice be says what THEY produce, they meaning the workers—Mr. Cammins' class, the capitalists, don't produce mything. His speech is very sound from a capitalist's point of view. But from the product to the control of view. of view. But, from the standpoint of the workingmen's interests, why must "what THEY produce be sold?" Why not keep it here at home and USE it ourselves. That is what Socialists propose to do. The workingmen of Amer pose to do. I he workingmen of America need the things their labor produces; most of them are always in want. Then why must their product be sold to foreign countries. Why should not the working class keep the things they make and enjoy them themselves? The capitalists cannot sell the things their workingmen produce for them in this country, because the people cannot buy back all there things when they only receive a fraction of their value in wages as a re-turn for producing them. It is to the of the capitalists that the interest workers have "the maximum amount of work" and "that what they produce be sold" to foreign countries for the profit of the capitalists. It is to the interest of the working class to get the full product of their labor and set the capitalists to doing some of that "maxlmum amount of work" instead of letting them live off the profits from other people's tall. The object of the Socialist movement, which stands for the interests of the working class as opposed to the interests of the capital but claim, is to have the people own in common the land, the machinery, mines, factories, etc., with which they mines, incidites, etc., with which liesy work, thus doing away with the capitalists who draw profits from their private ownership of the means of production, and giving everyone the full value of his labor. If you want nothing but "the maximum amount of work"—to be worked to death for another man's profit connect contraffer. other man's profit—Support capitalism and you will be lucky if you get ever that, as you may be one of those who get no work and have to beg or starre if you want the full product of labor and work whenever you wish it, vot

All capitalistic Germany is enraged England in general and at Chan berlain in particular. The capitalist of Germany have been wounded be the pockethook. Amid the chorus of denunciation with which Chamberlate has been assailed, the attack of the "Vossische Zeitung" is the most amus-ing, and may be perused with profit by the workingmen of all lands.

The "Vossische Zeitung" calls Chamberlain "the son of a shopkeeper, a born intriguer who took into politics all the tricks an d dudges of the suc cessful manufacturer; a shopkeeper who still pursues in his dealings with foreign powers the methods which se cured for him a large fortune as

Exactly This characterization to beautifully correct, and it applies with equal force to all the politicians of America. The capitalists are in control of all political power. They represent the interests of the capitalist class. They stand for class rule. They are in office to strengthen and perpet unte the supremacy of the capitalists. As long as the folling masses vote for capitalistic candidates they will continue to be ruled by "all the tricks and dedges of the successful manufac-turer." The capitalist in politica "still pursues the methods which secured for him a large fortune." And those nethods, are the methods of on alon, exploitation, legalized robbery. Let the working class no late politics themselves, in the Socialist Party, for the abolition of capitalism and all its ethods and mireries.

Controller Coler thinks the laws in regard to the debt limit of New York City should be changed so that the city can acquire ownership of various public utilities. In an interview on this subject reported in the New York "Times" some days ago, he said: "And eventually the city will own the docks rapid transit, and the water supply free and clear, and HAVE THE IN COME THEREFROM TO REDUCE TAXATION.

There you see what "public owner-ship" would be under a capitalistic od ministration—not to benefit the people but "to reduce taxation" up, the proerty of the capitalists—to bleed the working class in order to save ex-penses for the rich. It may be claim ed that any kind of public ownership vould at lossi rounts the corruption influence of the street railway expera-tions from city politics, and reduc-fares. In reality public ownership up der Republican or Democratic rule would mean just so many more job-under the control of the professional puliticians; and even if fares should be reduced, statistics show that, in the long run, any reduction in the cost of either of the old parties because the good of the cause.

capitalists who control them are the ca pitalists who own the corporations. The Social Democratic Party, a party standing solely for the interests of the working class, would bring about public ownership in order to shorten tife hours of labor of the employees, better the service, and reduce the fares; but it would tax the rich so heavily as to make things warm for them. Public ownership as advocated by any but a purely working class party is a del slou and a suare.

. In his Thankagiving Day sermor

Rev. Dr. W. S. Rainsford said:
"The worst of most reform admin istrations is their impracticability. Mr. Low cannot give us a perfect goernment, and he ought not to try. If he does try the city will be in the hands of Tammany Hall again in two years. Justice Jerome as District At-forney cannot give us a perfect admin-istration of his great office. If he trice to do so be will do more harm than In other words, Mr. Low is not sup posed to even try to give us a perfect government, and his failure to do so constitutes a suc-cess, l'eringis some of dis imper fections are to be favors to corpora tions. It wouldn't do to disturb busi ness conditions, you know. Under enpitalism a perfect government is impossible, for capitalism breeds corruption faster than any reformers on ernment under enpitalism means class rule. A Socialist municipal government would benefit the working clasand pave the way for Socialism, the only state of society under which approximate perfection will be possible.

At the New York State J'onference of Charitles and Corrections held in this city last month. President Robert W. De Forest, in his address, in speaking of tenement bouse reform, declar ed that the tenement house dweller did not ask charity, but demanded as bis right simple justice.
"Justice to the working classes is no

the only reason why we should im prove their housing conditions," said he. "Charity to ourselves is quite as eagent. Putting the attestion on the lowest plane of self-interest, will it not pay all (f us to be better protected from moral and physical CONTAGION even if it involve a loss to our pockets,"

When there is danger of disease in he slums aprending to Fifth Avenue; when there is danger that by the open existence of vice THEIR daughters may be corrupted, then the capitalisti-get their sympathics in working order What great-hearted philanthropists they are! How should we bonor these men who are kind hearted and benevoleut "on the lowest plane of self-in terest?" Capitalism produces poverty. misery, vice and disease and then of-fers the charity of criminals, who make benevolence a business. The necessity for charity is an indictment of our capitalistic social system. Capi-talism has three cardinal virtues. They are Force, Theft, and Hypocrisy and the last of these includes a great part of Charity. Truly, the Charity of capitalists covers a multitude of sins. If Mr. DeForest, who is certainly frank and seems to be a rather kindhearted man, really desires to bette social conditions, he had better sto his appeals to the capitalists who put their clurity "on the lowest plane of self-interest," and join the Socialist movement.

The sentence to imprisonment pro-nounced upon Santiago Iglesias by a Puerto Riean court for the crime of renspiracy—a compliancy to raise wages of laboring men in the island serves to point out some of the responsibilities which Expansion has brought in its train. It is said that brought in its train. It is said that Spanish law, which is still in force in the Island, makes a combination to raise wages a crime as it was to the land in the time of the Tudors. If this e true, the law must be repealed and Mr. Igleslas pardoned at once. In the taking of these steps there may be some nwkwardness, but there must be no waste of time. If we have nunexed a lot of barbarous mediceral statutes Which deprive men of their liberty for the exercise of a natural right to improve their condition-men who are miler our flow and entitled to claim the advantages of our civilization-those statues must be stamped out like rellow fever or any other tropical plagues. A Chiengo man, who rejokes in tha name of Ragnar Redboard, has pub-lished a volume of verse entitled "Might is Right." The verse (which is printed in proce form) is not devoid of merit—especially of energy as may be judged from the following extract, which expresses more frankly even than Kipling, if not so artistically, the practical rule of conduct of the "law

THE DIFFERENCE.

Under the present social system only small portion of the product of the producing biliorer remains in his hands; the rest goes into the hands of those who do useless labor and the parasition classes, who do no labor at all. Under the Socialist system all.—One may be robbed as well upon all. Under the receipts system and able-bodied citizens would be doing some useful services to society, and would therefore be entitled to their proportionate share of the product. This share, we have no doubt, will be larger than which the capitalist system now gives to any man in Cowier County.— The New Eya, Sargent, Neb.

A DIALOGUE

Recently, during a trial in one of our courts it, became necessary for the judge himself to question a witness, and the following collonny took place:

J. Have you anyone dependent upon rou for support? W-Yes; a large number of them. J-Are they disabled physically or mentally from supporting themselves? W-No; they are fully as able as I to support themselves.

J. Then why do you support these the hodied persons?
W-Because the customs and arrange ments of our present state of society force me to.

J.-These persons, doing no manner having nothing but your labor, as compelled to give part of it to them?

W-Yes, I am forced to divide by giv ing them three-fourths of what I pro-

J-ls there no way to get rid of these uman leeches?

W-Not at once; for nearly all society, especially these levelies, as you call them, insist that this is a natural state of affairs, and has always existed; they are eternally ding-donging in my ear that, were it not for these leoches could not work at all, and death wonle selves of them, when they'll have to live off their own sweat.

J-If you should die would not these leselies have to work? w...Oh. no, they hold in reserve a van number who are about to be over-taken by teath from enforced idleness and they would think it a God-sent privilege to toll in support of these

J - Would you please give me the names and addresses of these leoches? W-Though it is solely from my labor that their lives are made a continual round of pleasure, still they have the brutal ingratitude to refuse to live in same locality as myself, as often they will not condescend to live in the same country, and as my constant toll ennisies them at their piensure to change their climate, scenery and so-clety. I cannot give you their permanent address. For apparent reasons they do not want to be known by their real matter, but insist on being known by their nome de plume J-But want are their names in fact, for I am going to have them arraigned before the bor of justice, these rav-

John Swinton was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, seventy-two years buigh, Scotland, service to America while he was still a boy, living first it Massachusetts and afterward in Illinois—what was then the "Far West." The father died while John was still a boy and the latter had to go to work for a living. He learned the printing trade and worked at it for ome years. His ambition, however, was to be

Continuing his studies, he gradually worked himself up in the newspaper world, and in 1860 became the chief editorial writer on the "Times," then a comparatively young paper. This place he held until 1870. From 1875 to 1807 he was an editorial writer on the "Sun." It was Charles A. Nor was he afraid at any time to face personal danger, as when, addressing another mass meeting in Tompkins Square in 1877, sur rounded by police and militin rendy for the order to fire on the "mob," he used the words, "With eight thousand rifies and twelve hundred clubs drawn upon me," to open an eloquent speech in denunciation of the powers that had sent out the rifles and clubs and in advocacy of the principles they desired

It is more than his knowledge and his eloquence, as speaker and writer that entitle John Swinton to remem-brance. He was bonest in every flare, seemed absolutely feariess when matters of principle were at stake, and he was thoroughly imbued with the feeling of loyalty to the working class.

It is not remarkable that a man of his age, a man whose ideals had been formed in youth under the induences of Scottish Calvinian and later under the individualistic conditions of American life in the middle of the last cenuity, a man, too, who was quite fully endowed with that characteristic Scot-tish tenacity of opinion which enemies call obstinacy-it is not wonder ful that he could not join in the step on that he count not join in the step which younger and differently trained associates took thirteen years ago when they started a definitely Socialis party and "burned the bridgek" behind them. What we have to remember is. net. that John Swinton was not a So-cialist, but that he was just the sort of man who had he been born twenty years later, would have been a Social-ist; that he took, in his time a position as radical as that of the Socialists to-day; that the way to show appreciation of his services is to me forward from his position as he went forward from the position of older radicals, and to carry into the Socialist movement of the present century the same truth the same courage, and the same in-tense class feeling that he carried into the labor movement of the goventles

The article published in the New York "World" of Sunday. November 16, 1901, purporting to give the views hatched. Then perhaps there may be a of Archbishop Carrigan in regard to little flurry of excitement, and even socialism, opens with a quotation from some confusion. There is considerable the Encyclical of Pope Leo XIII on udition of labor, as follows:

"To remedy these evils the Socialists, working on the poor man's envy of the rich, endeavor to destroy, private property and maintain that the individual possessions should become the com-nion property of all, to be administered by the state or by municipal bodies. They hold that by thus transferring property from private persons to the community the present evil state of things will be set to rights, because each citizen will then have his equal share of whatever there is to effort.

"But their proposals are so clearly futile for all practical purposes that le they were carried out the workingman himself would be among the first to Moreover, they are emphaticalsuffer. ly unjust, because they would rob the lawful possessor, bring the state into a sphere that is not its own and cause complete confusion in the community."

The Pope, in the short quotation, are mits, or infers, that evils do exist, for he says: "To remedy these exist the Socialists, working on the poor man's envy of the rich, endeavor to destroy private property;" etc. Biglit here, it seems to me, the Pope fails to realize, or else deliberately desires to misrepresent, the real metrics and purposes of homognity as a whole, and they are the of the universe, not subject to individpal ownership. The trust is selentific product of evolution, and is which such ownership seemed to mak living protest against the arstem of necessary and essential. Therefore, it is not true that the Socialists are en-denvoring to destroy private property competition which created the trust, and made it an absolute necessity. The only possible solution of the trust probby working on the poor man's envy lem, in order to prevent injustice and alayery for the masses, is to make the trust hig enough to include every citithe rich. Their motives and incentives are much higher and nobler than this. The American Socialist, seeing clearly the rocks upon which all pravious civren as a stockholder and partner, "Le the nation own the trusts" and the land Hizations have been wrecked, desires, and thus all the means of production ilizations have been wrecked, desires, with the loftiest patriolism, to save the great republic from the fate of all its predecessors. The dear old Pope goes on to say that

Nipce leaving his position on the "San," four years ago, Swinton wrote for various papers, and showed great vigor, considering his advanced years. He never lost his interest in the struggles of Labor, as occasional speeches and writings proved even in a constant of the church. The Pope says further that "Socialisis are emphatically unit, because they would rob the law full possessors." ing when the rope with a companies to advocate Socialism in order to save the church. The Pope says further that "Socialists are emphatically unjust, because they would rob the lawing possessor and cause complete confusion in the community." If, as Socialists believe, the private ownership of land and the means of life is a requirements. The Socialist has also investigated history a little on these points, and he finds the record such gles of Labor, as occasionat specches and writings proved even in the last year. At the meeting held in Cooper Union last spring, under the auspices of the C. F. U., to protest against the overthrow of labor laws by the Court of Appeals, his—the utterance of a man more than seventy-one years old—was the only speech that struck the right correlations or not. lower in its wake. Hence it may be truthfully asserted that Socialtoric ages, and the wide world will some day most gladly recognize the glorious truth that humanity at large is the only lawful and legal owner and to any system of priesteraft which at-tempts in any degree to bind the minds and consciences of men, but it is not possessor of the land and sea and sir, and those who night still desire to claim special rights and privileges, based upon individual ownership of antagonistic to the true teachings of land will be regarded as robbers and . outlaws. And now, a few words in regard to the condition of the workingman. Brother Corrigan says that he has an inmostly of the priesthood. The world owes much of its progress to the innate right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," and see all agree upon that matter. Under present con ditions labor-saving machinery takes away the means whereby many of the workingmen live. Of course, when'this happens, the worker has more "liberty" in the way of choosing some other kind of occupation, if he can get it; and it also leaves him "free" to steal or starve, when all other resources fall. His chief p arsuit of happiness only power by which ignorant men can be ruled. Supersittion rules were Superstition rules through fear of the unknown. It would be better for men to be free from the bondage of superstition, no matter how far they might abuse the liberty, be-cause they would gain the wisdom of self-control in the great school of experience. As it has been in the past the mixture of religion and supersti-tion has prevented men, through fear, from gaining this valuable experience. Hence the time has come to teach the necessity of divorcing religion and superstition. True religion consists of a clear understanding of the universal some confusion. There is considerable stir in the vicinity when a new brood laws which bind the cosmes into a of chicks break through their shells of

The party which this paper fepre ents is known nationally as the Socialint Party, and such is its designation in most of the states. In New York, however, and in Massachusetts, it keeps the former name of Social Demo cratic Party, for reasons concerning the election laws. It has no connection with the Socialist Labor Party and does not approve of the "uulon an ing" tactics or the abusive methods used by that party. The Socialist or Social Democratic—Party works in harmony with the trade unions, though without any organic connection: It holds itself free to criticise their policy when teressary, but it approves of the principle of trade unionism. It does not attempt to dictate to the unions nor le it dictated to by them. It calls upon all workingmen to join the unloan of their respective trades as a means of fighting the daily battle against the capitalist class and to join and work and vote for the Socialist Party as a neans of putting an end to capitalism

INJUNCTION PERMANENT.

Evicted by Operators, Their Paper Suppressed by Post Office Department, Now They Are Virtually Ordered Out of the State by Federal Court.

Judge Walter Evans of the Federal Reinicke Conl Company of Honkins County a nice Christmas gift by reu-dering permanent the injunction granted a month ago against the United Mine Workers of that region. forbidding the union men to 'inter-fere" in any way with the scales in the Retnicke mines and forbidding the es-tablishment of a union camp in the vicinity, The camp, it may be explained, is the temporary habitation of the strik-ers, who have been evicted from the company houses. The effect of the in-junction, if obeyed, would be to banish the strikers completely from that part of the state.

A special term of the United States Court, it is added, has been called at Owensboro to enforce and execute Judge Evans' orders. United States marshab, armed with Winchesters will be called in and, as the Kentucky miners are pretty resolute men, it is not unlikely that President Roosevelt may have an opportunity to send troops to the scene of the strike. In that case, colored troops are likely to be employed, as the race projudice which both the old parties systematically inflame makes them more ready to shoot white strikers, cial organ of the United Mine Workers in Kentucky was excluded from the mails and thus suppressed by the Post Office Department a few weeks ago. This was undoubtedly part of the plan to disorganize and intimidate the m

THE MINERS' CONVENTION.

President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America has issued the call for the national convention of that body to be held at Indianapolis. beginning Jan. 20, and for the joint conference of mine workers and bitum-mous operators (employers) of Penn-aylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois for the same place, beginning on Jan. 30, at which time the convention, it is supposed, will have finished its work. The conference will probably not ad-journ before Feb. 10. Over a thousand delegates are expected at the convention. The eight-hour law, it is said, will be demanded.

SUPPLEMENT EACH OTHER. While Judge Evans at Louisville as busy getting ready an injunction AGAINST workingmen, his friend Judge Field, also at Louisville, did a good job in the way of a decision FOR the capitalists. Judge Field says that a law which attempts to regulate or affect the compensation of tobacco warehousemen is unconstitutional. The two decisions, rendered almost simultaneously and in the same city. admirably supplement each other and show how completely subservient is the old-party judiciary to capitalist inter-est.

MORE PROFITS, LESS WAGES.

An amalgamation has been effected, which will be known as the United Box Board and Paper Company. Its capitalization will be $30,000,000, and the mills which will be included in the combination have a capacity of proof boxboard a day. The object of the combination is stated as "greater economy in the pro-duction and distribution of boxboard." It is stated that no increase in the price is contemplated, so the advan tage to the capitalists concerned can come only in one of two ways—reduc-tion of wages, direct or indirect, or reluction of the working force eithe of which will be injurious to the work-ers. Socialism would mean a trust with all the workers as members and would reduce hours of labor. That's the difference.

gone to St. Petersburg for the purpose of buying more cigarette factories. The truth of the report is partly ad-mitted and partly denied by the vice-president of the Trust. It seems to be customary for trust officials to deny all seconds of the extension of their power until the plans are completely carried out, so this denial does not carry great weight.
The American Tobacco Company is certainly making rapid progress in its career of world-conquest. The time seems not far off when it will completely dominate the tobacco, eigar, and cigarette industry of all civilized countries. Capitalists are sensible. They do not allow national prejudice or jin-ge patriotism to stand in the way of their material interests. The working class is bound, sooner or later, to learn the lesson of international solidarity. If ot from the preaching of the Socialsts. then from the practise of the capttalists.

FLIMT GLASS BOTTLE COMBINE.

A movement is on foot for the form tion of a large consolidated company in the flint glass bottle manufacture. Sev-eral attempts have been made to regulate competition by selling agencie and pools, but they have always failed, so a more stable combination will be formed. About twenty-five firms in Pennsylvania, Indiana, and Ohio, most of them being near Pittsburg, with a joint capacity of a thousand pots, have given options on their properties to the promoters of the combine. The new company, it is supposed, will have a capital of $30,000,000,

The American Bicycle Company, or Bicycle Trust, is reorganizing on the plan of the Steel Trust.

A consolidation of the four great combinations of window-glass manufacturing firms is said to be certain. Five Massachusetts granite quarries have been consolidated under a syndicate of Chicago and New York building firms. The combine is the biggost in the history of the industry. An Anglo-American syndiente has acquired twenty-eight of the richest claims in the Alaskan copper region. The Corn Exchange Bank of New York is about to absorb the Mechanica and Traders of Brooklyn. The Queens County Bank was absorbed two years

Large tobacco manufacturing fi of New York, Philadelphia, and . Chicago, affiliated with the Tobacco Trust, have organized subsidiary of panies to control the raising of Sumatra leaf in Connecticut. This is in line with the tendency in other trusts to control the production of the raw material, as well as the manufac turing industry.

The American Lumber Company, capitalized at $8,000,000, is one of the latest. Its charter authorizes it "to ac quire timber and mineral lands, build and operate plants and works for the development of such fands, to handle and render commercially available the various products; also, in connection with the main objects, to control and operate transportation lines within or connected with properties of the company; to acquire and take over other corporations."

The Steel Trust announces that since its organisation, the mouths ago, it has "carned" enough to pay 5 per cent. interest on its bonds ($15,200,000). 7 per cent. dividends on preferred stock ($38,500,000), agd 4 per cent on common ($22,000,000)—in all, $75,000,000. The statement is given out, it is said, "as convincing proof of the prosperity of the iron and steel industry in general." The few hundred thousand men who do the work of making and transporting the iron and steel meem to be the only ones left out of this "general prosperity." THEY WANT A REPORT.

C. F. U. Asks Gom pers About "Peace Conference."

To Whom is Gompars Responsible for the Argument with Hanna? - Socialists Load Fight to Demand Explanation-Win Also in Iglesias Case.

Last Sunday's session of the New York Central Federated Union was du-livened by a vigorous discussion of the "peace conference" between alleged representatives of the trade unions and undoubted representatives of the capitalist class.

Delegate Morris Brown of Cigar Makers' Union No. 144 started the fun by moving that President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor be called upon to report and submit the agreement made by him and other la-lior leaders with Senator Hanna and the other capitalist representatives.

President Harris promptly ruled the motion out of order, but the house was evidently not in a mood to have dis-cussion thus shut off, and Comrade Brown appealed from the ruling.

IS HE RESPONSIBLE?

Harris justified his ruling by conending that "we don't even know officially that any agreement was made," and that, anyhow, Gompers attended the conference simply : an individuhi not as a representative of the A. F. of L., and that therefore no one had any right to demand a report from him.

Brown insisted that the motion was a proper one. "We ought to be la-formed," he said, "why Gompers was at such a conference. Why were not other members of organized labor in vited to confer with Mesors. Schwab, Rockefeller, Morgan, and Hanna? If Mr. Gompers did not represent the American Federation of Labor, whom did he represent? Surely not the eigar-makers."

Brown's appeal was sustained by the house and a lively deliate ensued. Delegate Donnelly of Typographical Union No. 6 then detailed the history of the Civic Federation, out of which this conference had grown. He said that Gompers had participated in the conference simply in order to find out whether a way could be opened for the settlement of labor disputes by arbitration. Gompers and other labor ence only as individuals. . He therefore hoped the C. F. U. would let the matter rest as It was. Comrade Reich, delegate of the German Walters' Urion, said that Gomps ers was certainly not officially respon-sible to the C. F. U. for unofficial action, but insisted that he and the other labor lenders concerned had acted as being in fact representatives of or-ganized labor, and that they must-be

Brown's motion was finally adopted without division—the opponents perhaps not caring to risk a clear comparion of strength. What answer Prestdent Gompers will make remains to be

The condemnation of a workingman to more than three years' prisonment for simply organizing a strike was a giaring outrage and it ought to be vigorously resented by workingmen everywhere. It was necessary to act promptly, he said, not to allow the matter to drag for weeks and be forgotten.

Brown spoke in the same strain, and the resolution of protest was carried by a large majority.

The reason is plain. The Hague Conference did not even try to REMOVE THE CAUSE OF WAR-the rivalry of capitalists in the world mar-ket. Leaving that cause in full operation, it was impossible that any peace pledges the nations might make should bind them when occasion for war In exactly the same way, this indus trial peace conference has not tried to remove the cause of strikes, lockouts, boycotts, blacklists, and injunctions. That cause is the exploitation of the working class by the capitalist class, setting the interests of the two class-es in direct opposition. That cause re-maining in full operation, the piedges made by Hanna and Schwab on the one hand or by Gompers and Mitchell on the other, however honestly made, NEITHER WILL OR CAN BIND THEIR RESPECTIVE PARTIES TO INDUSTRIAL PEACE WHEN THE OCCASION FOR INDUSTRIAL WAR ARISES.

The rank and file of the working class instinctively recognize this. They have no confidence in the pledges of the capitalists and, we fear, little con-fidence in the power of the labor leaders. They are even skeptical of the purposes of the conference and its decisions will have little weight with It is curious that we should still be in doubt whather President Compen went into the conference as an individ-ual or as the official head of the inbor movement of the United States. But so it is. " Gompers allowed himself to be spoken of, in the conference and in the daily press, as acting in his offclai capacity, and made-no protest, no disclaimer of authority. Yet now his friends are defending his participation in the conference—which was never authorized by the Federation—on the ground that he acted only as an individual.

The fact is, however, that a man holding such an official position cannot act in an individual capacity in any matter connected with the purpose of the body in which he is an official. He cannot separate his official person from his individual person. What Mr. Gomp-ers says and does goes out, will he nill be, as from the head of the American Federation. The inconsistency of Mr. Gompers position is glaring. On Saturday, at Scranton, he threw the weight of his influence in favor of the substitute of-fered for the Socialist resolutions. That substitute, which was carried, included these words: "We are in close relationship with the greater body of Socialists and with

It is a part of a carefully devised policy, which has been developing for many mouths past, the execution of whose detail has been left chiefly to supposedly disinterested persons—of whom Hishop Potter is a type-but which has manifestly been dictated by a class just as crearly type-fied by J. Pierpont Morgan, A little incident often throws a flood of light upon a greater one. When we remember how Morgan chartered a luxurious train and took a party of churchmen. Potter among them, on a grand faunt across the continent and then, between sessions of their conven-tion, treated them with wine at $23 a bottle; when we remember how that Episcopal convention at San Francisco took the first open steps toward the present conference—it is easy to see the connection, Morgan was not idling away his time nor wasting his money. The bishops were not getting a free treat. They were to pay for it now by trying to influence the working people in the direction Morgan and his class

In a word, as Louis Post aptly suggests, the plan is to make the lion and the lamb lie down together—with the lamb imide. The only question is: WILL THE WORKING CLASS BE MUTTON-HEADS AS THE CAPITALISTS EXPECT?

It is but a few months since organized capitalists Schwah among themwere refusing to meet organized workbut, a few months since Schwab deed trade unions in unqualified. Now the organized capitalists -Schwab among them-are asking the organized workingmen to meet them in a permanent court of arbitration, and Schwab is declaring that he approves of trade unions-provided, of course,

The case of Comrade E. P. Jennings, through his attorneys, waived examination, however, and is accordingly held for trial in the Court of Special Sessions. There will prob ably be considerable delay in bringing the case to trial. In the meantime, Comrade Jennings will be "doing busipear at the old stand" and the boycott will not be forgotten. We shall whether the "Sun" is bluffing or We shall see and whether or not the workingmen have the nerve to "call" the bluff.

A capitalist named Carpentier has given $100,000 to endow a chair of Chinese in Columbia. He says that sum represents the amount he saved by not meing whiskey and tobacco. We are bound to take the gentleman's word and to believe that he is in a position to estimate the amount the average capitalist spends on these luxuries. One hundred thousand dollars seems a pretty liberal allowance- for whiskey and tobacco, but it is perhaps not ino high. And yet the defenders of capitalism have the nerve to say that the reason the workingmen are poor is because they spend too much for beer! Verily, the assurance of the capitalist advocate surpasses that of the insurance agent or the Bowery "backer,"

TWO "LABOR" MAYORS.

In another column we reprint tw items which will be full of significance to those who are interested in the "la bor parties" that have sprung up la several cities in the late election.

The one, from the San Francisco "Advance," shows the position of Mayor-elect Schmitz of that city, who was chosen to office upon what was alleged to be a "Union Labor Party" tleket.

As we have previously explained, Mr. Schmits was in no true sense d labor candidate nor was the organisation which elected him a clear labor party. Mr. Schmitz blusself is a capitallst-a "good" one, it is said, so far as capitalists can be good, and an exworkingman indeed-but nevertheless a capitalist. The campaign for his nomination and election was engineered by a faction of diagrantied old-party politicians and the trade unions merely supplied the votes. His efection was e reaction against the shameful abuse of power by Democratic Mayor Phelan during the great strike. But it was merely a negative reaction; it did not represent a positive and definite movement toward the government of the city by and for the working class.

It is not surprising, then, that Mr. Schmitz, being elected, should declare that "the interests of Capital and Labor are identical," and that he should take his stand as a "citizens' mayor" not as a werkingmen's mayor. Neither will it be surprising if, so far as any practical realization of the vague hopes of the workingmen who elected him is concerned, his administration should turn out a complete failure, And, finally, it is not at all surprising, but quite natural, that the capitalist press should have abstained from any adverse criticisms upon him. The capitalists know that he is harmless.

The mayor elected on a labor ticket in Ansonia, Conn., stands on quite a different footing. Mr. Charters 'ls a workingman and an active trade unlouist. He is more than that; he is at least so much of a revolutionist that he has dared. In last summer's strike to defy court injunctions and risk his comfort and even his liberty in defeuse of the interests of his class.

While under indictment for his activity in the sirks, he was nominated as a workingmen by the workingmen of his city and elected to the highes office in their bift. And thus far mi least, he has done nothing to indicate that they made a mistake. He eviden ly intends to be what his fellow work ers intended him to be-a workingmen's mayor, administering the city affairs in the interest of the working chas and by the advice and direction of the working class organizations. And the same seems to be true of the rest of the ticket.

It is therefore not at all surprising that we find the capitalist press already bitterly denouncing Mayor Charters. In the "Evening Post" editorial which we ounte. Mayor Charters gets his diploma as a true workingman in politics. This gilt-edged capitalist

"The labor officials (of Angonia) seem to regard themselves as agents of the trade unions, RATHER THAN OF THE TAXPAYERS, and guide themselves by the decisions of labor

If these officials will continue in that course they will do good service to their class. So for us we are informed, Mayor Charters and his associates have noconscious sympathy with Socialism and probably very little knowledge of the Socialist movement. The position they have taken, however, is perfectly the Socialist movement—the principle of the class struggle. They are men who ought to be Socialists and would be if they fully realised what Socialism stands for. Only in the Socialist Party will they find sympathy, and only there will they find a permanent rolltical home.

Very early in the course of their term of office they will probably and the powers of state and national law placed as obstacles in their way. The questions with which they have to deal are more than local questions, they innational scale. When the confile comes, the labor officials of Ansonis will, have a chance to learn where the cialisis stand and why a Socialis Party is necessary to the emanciontics of Labor.

Every little while some agent of the capitalist cines, who is supposed to keep a padlock on his tongue and procause they want better wages. It tend to be an agent of all the month forgets his caution and lets the cut ou of the beg. Gen. MacArthur is one o he latest instances. The authorized explanation of "one" war against the Filipinos-now being carried on with such extreme barbarity, as noted else where in this paper—is that "we" (the people) are prompted solely by respect for "phin duty" and "manife destiny" and by a wholly disintereste desire to extend the blessings of civilization and true religion to the bonight ed beathen. But here comes MacArthu and, at a Commercial Club banquetmaybe the wine loosened his tonguegives this explanation; "The power that holds the Philippine archipelag will have a potential effect on Asia. I is a stepping-stone to a commanding position and a base from which Ameri can interests can ever be protected Their position is necessary to natura expansion." So, after all, the Social late were right when they said tha "we, the people" and "plain duty" had nothing to do with this case, but that It was a question of plain profits for our bosses, the capitalists, for which the war was being carried on.

WILL THEY ENFORCE THE LAW

Perez M. Stewart, who, as Superinendent of Buildings, will have th duty of executing the building laws in Manhattan, declares he will enforce the laws vigorously and impartially and that he "will use his utmost et deavors to wipe out the petty corrup tion which has existed in the Building Department for many years." It goes without saving that we have our ser cus doubts of his being able to fulfi this promise, however sincerely it may be intended. It is a hard thing for capitalist administration to resist the orrupt and lawless practises of the class on which it depends for support.

Yet, much as we doubt the ability of be "reform" administration to enfore laws favorable to the workers, w wish them all success if the attempt is honestly made. We do not base our hopes for the progress of Socialism, as some of our enemies charge, upon the increasing misery of the working people as upon the increasing lawlessnes of the capitalist class. The enforce nent of the building code is a matte of very great importance to the working class, both for the safety to life and limb of the men employed in the building trades and also for the health' of the working people who have to live in the tenement houses, ...

The unions, especially of the building trades, should do all in their power to assist in the enforcement of these laws and not only to assist, but to compe the officials to do their duty. If they fail in this, it is safe to say that the spasm of virtue on the part of the "re form" administration will not list

John Martin is a man of wide experience and deep knowledge of municipal affairs, and his book is packed with useful facts and statisfics; but, like all crucial point—how to put his plans into effect. Whenever a reform movement has attempted to bring together a numcourse has been vacillating and its administration rendered impractical by a conflict of interests. This little book does not contemplate any radical measures for the immediate material benefit of the working class, but it is an arsenal of facts in which the Socialist will find ammunition for many a shot at capitalism—but he will have to use a gun of a very different callive from that of the author. Meny steps in Mr. Martin's "program of peograss" have been promined both by Tanu-many and by reformers, but neither have put their promises into practice. There is yet another reason Human cowardice is an individual consideration to which the world owe nearly all its morality; it has protected us from one another since the clock of time began to tick. But since the ab sorption of the press by capitalism this friend of all-mankind is no longer, with writers, the friend of labor. The fact of it is, that the cause which calls for and gets effective speakers, calls for and gets the very creum of human will and courage; and those two constitute all the so-call ed gifts of the public speaker. There is no point from which the average man so shrinks as from this pillory of the public platform, and there is thurs-fore no point so good for a man as this, up to which he should urge his bailing will. All monner of great men may b observed to shrivel and grade down to smaller dissensions before an audique; sien who could face the canon's mouth shrink from this, not because it is naturally a hard thing to face ,but because the will of the race has been cowed and rebuked back from the will of pub-lic speech. And, as a decidedly radical and revolutionary movement, I hakl that the cultivation of this will to pubhe speech should be a primary clu-teristic of the Socialist movement.

We want concentration upon the me chanies of currettes as possible speak-ers, and after that a scheme of Social-ist rhetoric for concentrating the topics proper to our propagauds. is likelf some explanation of why the plain people of these old times, like our own, never learned to talk. Even a greater than the pagan silence has been imposed upon the inhabitants of orien-tal and Christian countries by the prevalence of introspection and subjective ness in their religions. The man who is taught that oratory is ethical, that it is a gift of the gods, that a man must be good before he can speak of the good, or that oratory is itself a virtue, must be badly handicapped for public speaking. Taking this view together with the doctrine of the universal sinfulness of men, and the circle of orators is reduced to that point which hath neither parts nor magnitude, or, at the utmost, to the narrow circle of the saints. But even the saint must feel under his saintly conscience, that he often is maimed by sin as a rhetorician. and will be forced into hypocrisy or silence. Thus the single proprietary life burdened with the care of one soul only, its painful introspection, its selfconsciousness, its self-abasement, and self-conceit, can produce only slience or

There remains yet, however, the ora tory of lawyers, a stage as far beyond subjective rhetoric as it is externalized from the practitioner in documents, laws and decisions; but inasmuch as it consists of conflicting personalisms it tions as pulpit oratory, leaving us only the oratory of the lawmakers to consider for our example.

The oratory of the lawmakers comes nearest to our own. In the congress of the United States there sits a class representing a number of private fort unes or pools of fortunes, of which each member is the deputed orator. These fortunes, and the channels that lend more into them, are tangible external things having no relation what-soever to the personal fitness of their possessors, and for that reason alone the rhetoric of groups of dollars numerically considered, is greater than that of religion or litigation. If the men who represent these respective groups of dollars were not under the defusion, most of them, that they rep-resent geographical sections of citizens they would be class-conscious orators; but on very few of them, while in con yet fully dawned their solidarity as one great dollar. Whether the great gold dollar or the tile copper cent shall first express itself as a solidarity is the real issue between capital and labor. And the greatest of all our ways and means of contributing to that final "which" is to be provided, in my opinion, by the cultivation of a class-conscious orators among the sons and daughters of the

BUSKIN ON CAPITALISM.

The old barons of the middle ages used in general the thumscrew to ex-tort property; we moderns use, in preference, hunger or domestic affliction; but the fact of extortion remains precisely the same. Whether we force the man's property from him by pinching his stomach or plaching his flagers, makes some difference anatomi-cally; morally, none whatsoever; we use a form of torture of some sort in order to make him give up his prop erry: we use, indeed, the mun's envieties, instead of the rack; and bla immediate peril of starration, instead of the pistol at his head; but otherwise we differ from Front de Boenf, or Dick Turple, merely in being less destrous, more cowardly and more cruel. More cruel, I say, because the fierce baron and the redoubted highwaymen are reported to have robbed, at least by pref-erence, only the rich; we steal hab-itually from the poor. We buy our liveries and gild our prayer books with plifered pence out of children's and sick men's wages, and thus ingeniously dispose a given quantity of Theft. so that it may produce the largest pos-sible measure of delicately distributed measure of delicately distributed

THE BARBMETER OF ICHGRANCE.

To-day the Stock Exchange is the barometer of the ignorance of the propie. The two great influences at work in society are registered there. One of these influences is the impulse to en-siave men. The other is the impulse to make men free.

The relative supremacy of these two forces may always be read upon the blackboard of the Stock Exchange Whenever the intelligence of the people into voting against their real inter-ests, or succeeds in bribing a legislature for monopoly's sake, stocks go m -The Socialist Spirit.

BUT UNION LABRE GOODS

A NEW YEAR REMINISCENCE.

Containing Some Reflections on th Great Middle Class, the Dignity of Labor and Other Things.

A year ago, on the last night of th old century, I had the good or ill fortune to attend a "dinner of four hundred"-not of "the" Four Hundred. but just of "a" common four hundred The dinner, good or bad, is immate rial now. (It was material, of course but now it's only a reminiscence—ver unsatisfying to a winter appetite.) We marily to hear speeches. And wheard them—ob, so many of them—a least until we got thred of listening.

It was a very heterogeneous dinner-not as regarded the viands, but as regarded the guests and their speeches There were aspiring Labor Leaders who did not think the union a proper place for politics, but did think their unionism a very valuable personal asset in politics. There were Friends of Labor, too. Then there were Reformers in great variety. Also there were some of us who didn't make speeches and thus escaped classifica-No two of the speakers agreed or anything except the Dignity of Labor and the necessity of "getting togeth-er" to "do something." Labor appear-ed as a very dignified abstraction, but just what its friends and exponents were going to do for it by "getting to gether" no one tried to explain.

The Labor Leaders were all afrai-

of offending the Friends of Labor and they confined themselves chiefly to apologizing for their own existence as telling what good men the capitalists were. They were their dignity very much as if it were hired for the lug, like a dress suit, and didn't fit them. I think this was the fact, too: for most of them had done so much begging from capitalist politicians that their dignity bagged at the knees.

The Friends of Labor were in high feather. They patted the dignified workingmen on the back in the most grandly patronizing manner and assured them that if eney would be good and not ask too much it was highly probable that some day they might get something—just what or how was not specified, but presumably manua from the heavens. The Friends of Labor used several large and nice sounding words—and then hastened to explain that these words didn't mean mything. That is a way they have.

was pulling Each of the Heformers was pulling in a different direction. But numerous as they were, none of them happened to pull in the direction of working-clasinterests, which was natural, for the Reformer doesn't think there is such thing as a class interest.

The general tendency of the speech es, so far as there was any common tendency to them, was to praise the Great Middle Class and point to it as the only safeguard of the Dignit; of Labor. Just as, by painful lister ing. I had got so much meaning out of the get-together speeches, I heard a conversation near me which served as a practical commentary and illus-tration of the greatness of the middle

At my right sat a lady-at least sh thought she was one; let us say a well dressed specimen of the female sex. She was typical of the great middle class—and would have liked to repre-sent "the" Four Hundred. Her hus-band sat just beyond her, and he was another. They quite approved the sentiments of the Friends of Labor and graciously condoned the bagging at the knees of the Labor Leaders' dignity. They were Benevolent Snobs.

Across the table sat a somewhat rough-looking man, evidently old in the labor movement, who did not make a speech, but apparently did think

The female representative of the Great Middle Class stopped in her ti rate against bired girls in general and her own in particular long enough to announce, in a positive manner: "I don't believe there's much real destitution in the city."

"You would think differently," said

our neighbor across the table, "If you had seen what I saw on Christmas Day at several places on the East Side —hundreds of people standing in line for hours, waiting to get a free Christ 'But." said the lady, "If they hadn't gor dinner there they would have got it somewhere else, wouldn't they?" "Some of them, probably." was the eply. "Many of them without any dinner at all." "Oh, well," said she, "if they didn't get dinner that day they would get it some other day. Anyhow, I don't believe there's much real destitution. And if people are poor it's their own cause they're laxy and extravagant. They've got to suffer. That's the only way they'll ever

This brought her round again to the subject of servant girls. Our neighbor across the tableshringed his shoulders, as recognizing the impossibility of con-verting the Great Middle Class. For me, I reflected: Suppose Madame's dinner to-morrow should be secrebed when it came to the table, what would happen to the hired girl? Would Madame reflect that she could still get dinner unscorched some other day and and comfort in the reflection? I did not consider the evening wast-

It is worth while to meet the at Middle Class once in a while, in order to get one's contempt for it 'renewed by personal contact. And when you next meet a crowd of fellow work net, no matter now rough and un cated, your pleasure is heightened heightened by observing the contrast.

DESPECTABILITY. Respectability; that is to say, real-

W. S. Gilbert died too soon. Had be lived till now he might have outdo Pinafore with a subject made rety to hand by Raiph M. Easley. For of all the subjects which Gilbert's pen developed into confic opera, none was so richly stored with comic opera posti-bilites as is Mr. Easley's Supreme Court of Capital and Labor. Nothing is lacking, not even the rearing climax of Marcus A. Hanna as chief justice. With Capital on the outside as the lieu was, with Labor on the Inside like the reconciled and digestible lamb, and with Mr. Hanna on top, the Easley experiment can hardly fall to succeed-at least in some respects.

The Braver Zeltung.

vention of the largest organization of labor in this country is a thing of the cause the work accomplished is not worth while speaking of. Not one of the burning questions propounding themselves to every thinking workingman has been solved, not even touched. The bureaucracy of the American la and only a few ardent workers of the sacred cause of labor sounded the right keynote, only a few had the courag ances and wants. The most important work, so much as it was at the begin ning, was calironded over and throug at the last bour of the convention after the old staff of officers were to elected: No new ideas were advanced, not any remarkable progress made. Not one decided step forward, no action taken to assure the workers better backing in their fearful struggles against capital, struggles that will de-velop and become still flercer in the wears to come.

Advance. San Francisco.

Mayor-elect Schnitz was tendered a banquet the other night where Sauterne, Zinfandel, Champagne and other luxuries to which the working class is accustomed played a prominent part. Between the Oysters and the Consons me en tasse the Mayor made a speech in which the following occurred:
"There is no inherent and irreconcilable difference between employer and employee, empiral and labor, rich and poor. Their interests should be iden-tical and differences between them can and should be adjusted.

"I believe that capital should have steady and safe investment in order that labor may have permanent and remunerative employment."

Comment here is unnecessary. Mr. Schmitz is excused for showing considerable anxiety over a "steady and sufe investment for capital" as he is somewhat of a capitalist him

The speaker that was sandwiched in between the Sweet Bread Pattles, a la Ponicite and the Tame Duck, voiced officially the stand of the labor party. The platform of the new party is as broad as the universe. It admits of all shades of thought and spinion; neither the door to the radical, nor makes the conservative unwelcome, but recognizes that the one is the coun-terpoise to the other, to attain as one complete whole the highest possible degree of success. It alms to establish a living wage for the workers."

Comment here is also unnecessary. The Denocratic party aims at calab-lishing a "living wage" for the worker. so does the Republican party. Democratic party also has a platform as "broad as the universe," so has the Republican party and-but why go on?

New York Evening Post.

Interesting experiments in govern-nent are being tried in various cities where the regant elections resulted in throwing important offices into the with the mayorally in San Francisco, while in Apsonia, Conu., the trade unlouists elected their candidates to every office except that of City Clerk. It is obvious, however, that labor men in office are in danger of discrediting edge. How a complex administrative machine may be got out of gear is now being shown at Ansonia, where only are all the offices in the hand untrained men, but the administration has a new charter to interpret and abply for the first time. The already made several humiliating mis-takes, and has exposed several of his official acts to the charge of Hegality. Worst of all, the new treasurer is ig orant of finance, and will soon be out of money with which to meet city ex-Moreover, the labor officials seem to regard themselves as agents of the trade unions rather than of the taxparers, and guide themselves by the decisions of labor caucuses.

Mamouri Socialist. It is said that the slave trade is flow ishing in the Soudan in spite of the efforts of the British government to stamp it out and that a fourteen-year old slave can be purchased for eighty dollars. This is a remarkably high dollars. This is a remarkably high price when it is remembered that the urchaser must feed, ciothe and shelter the slave. In this country a fourtren rear-old wage slave can be had for less than the cost of his keep. All that is necessary is an announcement in the want columns that a fourteen-year-old lov is peeded and a whole applicants with appear and beg to be taken. No purchase money is required. The fortunate little slave who secures the position will work a week and as the end of that time he will be given not more than two dollars. Will that feed him? No, but his parents will make up the deficit. Enable hurden of feeding and clothing the they sell its labor power for a couple of dollars to help pay the expense of has living. It is well that slavery be stamped out in the Soudan, but it would also be well to stamp it out is America.

-If we only had "publicity" applied to the trusts, the working class would have the inestimable privilege of knowing just who the fellows are who are skinning Mr. Lawson in the copper deal-Workers' Call.

CONDITIONS IN MASSACHUSETTS.

The following extracts from a private letter written by Comrade James F. Carey of Massachusetts will inter est many readers:

The result of the elections in Brock ton and Haverhill may have struck you with a 'duli thud,' but to me they are full of good closer. First, they indiente that the lines are being drawn more clearly between capitalism and Socialism. In previous elections we received an enormous vote for this, that, and other passing reasons. Many of the voters did not realize the full significance of Socialism or a vote for a Socialist. The clearer-headed among our opponents have awakened to the fact that we were after more than a mere change of persons in office, so our conflict has become more latelligent than before. The matter of character, ability, etc., of candidates is not considered; popularity of men counts less and less; hence the question of Socialism itself becomes the debating

The chief of the Republican politiclass in Haverkill said in conversation with a Socialist that we in Haverkill had practically reached a point in the political conditions of the city where a line was drawn between Socialism and its opponents, and the fight was to induce men to cross the line from one side to the other.

"So far as Brockton is concerned, I gorund. I say this is just where we am surprised that Coulter ran as well as he did. As to Haverhill, I expected a defeat, though I confess not by quite so large a plurality; but it may be encouraging to you to know that our boys are more determined than ever. * * * We are to arrange for a series of lec-tures by Vail, also one by McGrady and others. The last campaign produced three more speakers who surprised everybody. * * Afrendy our City Committee has decided to gather the names of our Secialists in the various wards, form them into clubs embracing convenient sections of the wards, to meet at the members' homes (where chibrooms are out of the question) and keep up a better and more perfectly organised fight than ever before; also to organize a speakers' club for the development of the boys' oratorical powers, "Really, I never felt better satisfied with the prospects than now. We are not to rely upon the broken reed of possible support of sympathetic or dis grantled voters. I feel sure that the came is in excellent shape in Haver-hill."

THE SITUATION IN CALIFORNIA.

ane following except from an arti-cic by Emil Lieu of San Francisco, Cal., in the "New Yorker Volkaget-ting" may be of interest to the Eng-ling reading convention:

and some of the tried comrades during the last campaign. But in its place ap-peared the 'Christian Socialism' (what ever mock-monster this 'contradictio is adjecto' may mean) and its influence on our organis disintegrating.

"There was always a good deal of "Christian" element in our party, espe-cially outside of San Francisco. But lately, owing especially to the Chris-tion Socialist crusader and gifted speaker, J. Stitt Wilson, the Christian Socialism' threatens to overwhelm the whole movement in California. And these great-hearted, tolerant, Christina souls are not at all gentle in their attacks and provocations upon the 'materialistic,' 'atheistic' and 'orthodox Marxists."

"But all this would not weigh so much in the scale, had it not led to inimical divisions in our own ranks. Instance the sentimentally inclined Liberty B ranch, which will not hear anything of definite unity. And worst of all, the appeal to the Christian senfiment brings all sorts of non-prole tarian elements into our party-ele-ments that stand opposed to the prin-ciple of the class-struggle and that would scatter and sink the revolution-

"However, a strong and healthy reaction against this tendency is mani festing itself in the old and tried ranks, and at our coming state convention which is to take place in Los Angeles on December 15, we hope to make it clear to the 'great-hearted' souls, who would needs hang a Christian garb over our party, that it is as absurd to speak of a Christian Socialism as of Hebrew or Mohammedan Socialism or of a Christian Democratic, Christian Republican or Christian Populist that is supposed to be given up to rejoletag and good fellowskip. "It is a time when everyone is supposed to be well fed and warmly clothed and comfortably housed. It is a time when men and women are supposed to lay aside the cares and the animosities of everydag life and to enjoy social pleasures in a spirit of universal brother-

A MERRY-CHRISTMAS!

All this is the ideal Christmas til It is the condition which we rend of in story books and which we plously pretend to believe actually exists.

But does it actually exist? We all know that it does not, except for a favored part of the community-and the very essence of the ideal Christmas ts. that its joys should extend to all. A Merry Christmas!

Bay it to the poor devil out of workcall him even a bobo, if you will-who shivers on the street corner and to whom a driving anowatorm would be a blessing, because it would give him a chance to earn a couple of warm meals and a bed by helping to clear the streets for holiday traffic. Is not "Merry Christmas" a mockery to him! A Merry Christmas!

Bay it to the girl in the aweatshops tolling feverishly by day and night, with aching back and burning eyes, to finish the costly gowns in time for the holiday revels that she will take no part in-toiling feverishly now, but thinking, between stitches, of the "dull times" to come, when she will not be permitted to work, because no sweater can then make a profit on her toll. Is not "Merry Christmas" a mockery to

A Merry Christmas! Say it to these laborers on strike, say it to these locked-out mechanics, say it to these laid-off factory "hands"-and such there are even at the Christmas season-all with their wives and little ones whom they would like to gladden with Christmas gifts and a Christmas feast. Is not "Merry Christmas" a mockery to them?

The charity organizations whose beartless and mechanical "relief work" covers, indeed, a multitude of sinshave been foully appealing to the generons public, these many days past not to forget the "worthy poor," whom, they hope and believe, we shall "have niways with us." They have told how many thousands there are in all our great and rich cities, who will finte no Christmas dinner-or even, perhaps, no thinger at all on Christmas Day-unles celebrate their Savior's birth by dying of pneumonia, ... for ., instruce, unles 'charity" gives them some :lothes and a few pounds of coal; how many may be evicted from" their wretched homes, unless "charity" helps pay the rent. And those are the worthy" poor, mind you; for organized charity has its strict standards of worthiness in the poor-and may the Devil take the unworthy.

On the whele, don't you think that Merry Christmas is a good deal of a mockery to a great many people who labor makes Merry Christmas possible? Don't you think the talk of Christmas) brotherhand - which is so plentiful of this seasonels a great plous Don't you think we might have a so- stick to them.

THE PEASED COST OF LIVING.

The average cost of living has advanced nearly 830 per capita within atatistical comparison just issued by det. Third Assistant Postmaster Gen"Dun's Review." In July, 1897, the average cost of a year's supplies for one person was $72.45. To-day it is $101.57. Forty years ago it was $20 greater, the exact figures in January, 1800, being $121.75. The present prices are higher than for many years, o es modern industrial distributive od agricultural conditions were intro-

During the period mentioned it has During the period mentioned it has been found that while the price of labor has fluctuated greatly the average was $1.50 a day, or about the rate prevailing to-day. This would indicate that the increased cost of living has not been met by an increase in ability to pay it. But to offset this there must be taken jute account present steady. taken into account present steady employment and larger opportunities for advancement.—Pittsburg (Pa.) Disclaim often advanced that an increase of wages does not benefit the works as the cost of living advances out proportion to the increase in pay. Tak-ing the "Dispatch" figures as a cri-ferion, it will be seen that the cost of living has increased over 40 per cent. ring the past five years, while the average advance in wages for the same period has not exceeded 10 per cent. It is true that in some localities where labor organisations are well-officered and well-equipped, there has been an increase in wages averaging fully 20 per cent, yet that liberal facrosse has not kept pace with the increase of The unorganised workers have living. The unorganised workers nave not had an increase of wages averag-ing 5 per cent, during that time, and it must forcibly impress itself, upon them that they are falling greatly behind during the year. The figures seem to whee out the claim of the trusts that they cheapen the cost of things, as al-most everything that enters a home is under the domination of a trust of one under the domination or a trust of one nort of another. The figures plringly show that if there had been no labor unions to increase wages the great ma-jority of workingmen would be in a and state—United Mine Workers' Jour-

This is the Christmas season—a time ; cial and economic system which would make real merriment, possible-not on the twenty-fifth day of December only, but all the year round-not for on class only, but for all-or, at least, let us say, for all who are "worthy," all who will do useful work? In view of the fact that, as Senator Depew tells us, the people of this country create every year two billion dollars' worth more goods than they can afford to buy and use, don't you think that the appeals for "charity" at the Christmas senson indicate some thing very unreasonable and unjust in our capitalist system?

Don't you think YOU, individually, as a citizen and a voter, could and should bely to change these conditions? If so, you should begin now, when we are all wishing each other "A Happy New Year." A Happy New Year!

What does it mean? Is it to be new year just like all the old years that have crept away? This Old Year that we are ushering out has been, in truth, a year of rare prosperity-such prosperity as is possible under capitallsm. And yet, at the very holiday senon of this prosperous old year, while the few who own the earth are congratulating such other and exchanging rood wishes, there are millions of hardworking people who are poor and tens of thousands who are in miserable want.

The millions are not quite so poor, perhaps, and there are not quite so many tens of thousands in misery, perhaps, as in some other old years. But still there is the fact of poverty, a standing rebuke to organized wealth. there is dire want within a stone's throw of boundless luxury.

And this is the very best that capialism can give us, for this has been a year of unexampled prosperity. But even this cannot last, for under capitalism, present prosperity always menns swiftly coming depression and Shall the New Year be no better than the Old? Shall we simply take our chances for this Happy New Year and for all the years to follow it-letting the game of capitalism go blindly on. allotting riches to a few and misery to many and poverty to the great majority, breeding purse-pride and servile envy, fostering corruption and stifling fraternal feeling? Shall we continue with the anarchic alternation of cap talist prosperity that means overwork for the producers and hard times that means unemployment and hunger?

Or shall we unite as workingme conscious of our class interests and of our duty to future generations, to build up a system of freedols, of equality of brotherhood, and of order-a system in which all shall work and all shall enjoy the fruit of their labor-a system in which no class shall live by the toil of others and in which, therefore, the nterest of one shall be the interest of all-in a word, to build up the Co-oper ative Commonwealth?

A Happy New Year! We say it to ach of you, fellow workingmen, and call upon each of you to help make this happier year for our class than any that has gone before. Make your New Year resolutions as workingmen and

Nevertheless, Caar Madden still refuses to allow the "Appearance of the page of t peal's right to a continuance of sec-ond class mail rates. He claims that he has discovered that certain people receive the "Appeal to Reason" who Lave not paid for it, and that the illegitimate subscriptions vitiate the whole list; and further decrees that "unless they are eliminated by December 20 the certificate of entry will be cancelled." A large number of people subscribe for the "Appeal" for their friends. According to the tyranuical ruling of Madden all subscriptions not directly paid for by the person receiv-ing the paper must be eliminated. Thus the mailing list of the "Appeal" will have to be entirely revised and cut down, at great expense and trouble to Warland, and loss to subscribers Wayland, and loss to subscribers. Tests made by various Socialists above that other papers are not subjected to the same rulings. It is the Bocialist and irade union papers that Mr. Madea is after. He has already driven "Wilshire's Magazino" to Canada on the peculiar charge that it was advertising its editor's ideas; and has caused aunorance to many other lever received. annoyance to many other labor papers. These high-handed outrages are the plainest expression of class rule. How long will the working class of America art in dumb submisison while even the constitutional rights won for us by the revolutionary ferefathers are fading away? Injunctions have repeatedly taken away the right of free speech; workingmen are sent to juli in Puerto like for organizing labor unions; and now the right of a free press is denied by a half-idiot and half-tyrant Third Assistant Flunkey to, the powers that be. Is it not time for the American people to wake up?

The following Item from the Rangitikel, New Zealand, "Advocate," of

The point of this is that the railway line in question is owned by the government, and that the government as an employer is expressly exempted from the workings of the Compulsory Arbitration Act.

The legislature has just passed an act authorizing a state coal mine and expressly exempting this also from the Arbitration Act. "Advocate," from which the

A DANGEROUS "AD."

The Eric Army.

render the efficient service of the Eric Railroad to-day is giving to the public requires the assistance of $2,000 mployees.- Adv.

The publication of such an advertise ment as this is dangerous. It might make people think. Sometimes you hear it said that a few capitalists are "running" a railroad. But it seems that the labor of thomsands of other men is necessary. The capitalists are not necessary, however. Their labor consists in deciding how much they can safely bleed the people and in "fixing things" with legislatures. But "the assistance of 32,000 employees is required." Then think of the other thou sands who mined the ore for the ralls and cut the wood for the tien; the thousands who built the cars; the thou-sands whose labor furnished the raw material; and the thousands who pre pared the food and made the clothes of the other thousands while they worked. And so if we keep on figuring it out we find that millions of men have either directly or indirectly helped build and operate the railroad—in short, that it is a product of social la-bor, the collective labor of all the pen Yet a few meh, after advertis this fact, have the nerve to say that it is THEIR railroad. They get all the profit from it and the army of workers get subsistence wages, overwork and nstant risk of lujury and ers vote for these few men and thank them for "giving employment." WHAT IS SOCIALISM?

Socialism it not Anarchism, but its opposite. It is co-operation, not competition. It is a joining of human hands, hearts, and brains for the development of the earth's resources. It is science and certainly in the world's in-dustries, not crudeness and haphasard. It is a combination of interests, not a division of loot. It is a lifting up of all, not a pulling down of any. It is giving every man a chance, a fair chance, an equal chance. It is the only true school for the development of in-dividualism. It is the brotherhood of man in practical operation.

Scialism means the end of wars, the end of business panics, the end of the incorrigible army of tramps. It means work for all, and g unrantees to each the full fruits of his abor. It does mere. It shallplies those fruits by the general conferation. Socialism means universal education, universal industry, universal plenty and universal pasce. It means the quickening of human supersions, the deepening of human supersions, the broadening of human supersions, the broadening of human thought. The prophet said, "I saw a new heavens and a new earth." Socialism means a like Egith.

He was asked what became of the old hands in America, it being remarked that one of the great difficulties of British man wfacturers was to know what to do with their old employees. In reply, Mr. Bell said that the employment of old men was a more serious question in the United States than in England He did not know what became of the old employees, but it was a fact that a man of forty-five who was without employment found it most difficult to get anything to do. He believed that this question was going to be a serious one in the United States.

A manufacturer remarked that a man of forty-live ought to be all the more valuable, in consequence of his experi

Mr. Bell replied that, owing to the perfection of machinery, not so much beadwork was required, so that experience was discounted by activity

Mr. Bell has evidently learned at least one thing while over here. "Ow-ing to the perfection of machinery, not so much headwork is required, so that experience is discounted," and is un necessary, and men become mere ten-ders of machines—just pieces of fiesh and blood mechanism regarded the same as cops in the wheels

As long as machinery is privately owned and used not to lighten the burdens of humanity but to increase the profits of the capitalists, it will con-tinue to throw men out of employment, Perhaps some millionaire philanthropist will found a Society for the Preven tion of Cruelty to Workingmen and have the old and destitute workers killed like stray cats and dogs.

Socialists demand that machinery be owned collectively by all the people so that the work and the product may be evenly distributed, and inhor-saving machinery thus made a blessing to all.

THE WAR OF THE SUGAR MEN.

The Sugar Trust, realizing that the otection-or bounty, as it may termed afforded by the high tariff on sugar is certain to result in the crestion of an enormous beet sugar indus try in this country, and as the Trust, which is really a sugar refiners' trust, cannot from the very nature of the case control or absorb the best sugar factories, they being each of then sugar refiners as well as sugar produc-ers, is now seeking by every means in its power to secure the removal of the tariff on sugar, with the sole view of destroying the beet sugar interests of the country. It may be said that the proposition is now before the American people in this way: Maintain the tariff, break down the Trust, build up a great augur producing interest at ne and continue to pay high prices for sugar, or remove the tariff, ge cheap sugar, destroy the beet sugar in-terest and continue to be ruled by the Trust. The people will have to choose which.-Exchange.

We have another niternative; Nationalize the trust by voting the Socialist ticket, thus getting good conditions of labor and full renumeration for the sugar workers and sugar at cost for all the people, and setting the Havemeyers and their lik at some useful work.

WHY WE ARE DISHOREST. Rend the following indictment of the system by a great ecclesiastic; "We must look, as educators, most closely to those sides of the national life where there is the greatest memory of ruin. It is plain that our besetting ele, es a neaple. Is not intemp er unchastity, but dishonesty. the watering of stocks, to the adulter ation of food and drink, from the booming of towns and lands to the selling of votes and the buying of of fice, from the halls of congress to the policeman's beat, from the capitalist who controls trusts and syndicates to the worker who does inferior work, the taint of dishonesty is everywhere who manage public affairs, distrust our fixed will to suffer the worst that may befull rather than cheat, or steal, or lie. Dishonesty many like mephitic air about our newspapera, our legislative assemblies, the municipal government of our towns and cities, about our churches, even, since our religion itself seems to lack the highest kind of honesty, the downright and thorough sin-cerity which is the breath of life."

Could there be a severer arraignmen of the present system than the above, from the pen of that conservative, very able, and probably most scholarly of American Catholic prelates, Bishop J. S. Spalding? The Rishon's opinion is confirmed on every hand, everywhere, by all kinds of people. No one talks differently except the ignorants or the demagogue secking popular support. Socialisis believe it is a bad system of which such things can be truthfully said. Socialists, however, do not be lieve that the people are naturally dis-bonest. Dishonesty, like every other evil, has a cause, and for that cause the Socialists made diligent search. It was found in the false ideals, gene ated by a false system, leading naturally to false methods for their realisa tion.-M. W. Wilkins.

A WRONG SYSTEM.

So Says the Rational Organ of the

The practise of devoting individual wealth to institutions designed for pub-lic benefit is a striking proof of the growing conviction among all people that the wealth of the world belongs to all humanity and cannot rightly be appropriated to the exclusive use few individuals. The "prisoner of pov erty" and the multi-millionaire a perceive the terrible injustice of man being able to spread a feast with strawberries at "three dollars a dozen," while his brother man, hungry and ragged, walks the streets in a vain quest for "bread or work."

The glitter of wealth cannot blind the eyes to the wrong of one woman receiving as wedding gifts hundreds of thousands of dellars in costly gene while her sister woman wears her life away in exhausting toil in a sweatshop. Neither inxury nor want have so deadened human sensibilities that any class of society can be satisfied with a social condition that rears one child in excessive luxury, and leaves another, naked and starving, to beg its bread from

The great giving on the part of the vorid's wealthy men is their open acknowledgement of the rightful claim of humanity to a share in the wealth which they have individually amassed. Not many of them, possibly, would agree with Mr. Carnegie in saying that the state by a process of taxation ought to appropriate the bulk of a rich man's wealth at his death, but it is clear that the majority of them believe that they are but stewards of the vast wealth which has come into their possession.

But munificent giving, beneficent as have been the results, is far from being a solution of the problem of wealth. That problem, briefly stated, consists on the one hand, of the absolute need that modern civilization has of the massing of enormous wealth, and on the other, of the evils and injustice incident to the present system of its con-centration in the hands of individuals. To wrest from a man what is rightfully his own and then bestow a part of it upon him in charity is not sound in theory, nor does it prove satisfactory

If Mr. Carnegle's suggestion should be enried out and the state appropriate the bulk of his preperty at his death, the state must become the owner of the mines, the railroads, the manfacturing establishments in which that wealth is invested. This, it seems to us, is the logical outcome to which the attempt of the wealthy class to meet the de-mands of the growing sentiment but adds another argument. Thus far, at least, it is the only solution in sight of the many sided wealth problem, for it is the only one founded on justice. It is a good thing to pension one's employees when they are old. It is better to give them a just compensa-tion for their toil, their rightful share in the common profits, so that in old age they shall have no more need than ing their lifetime and to appropriate for themselves and their children the twentieth century's magalificent oppor-tunity for all-around development.

It is a good thing for individual capitalists to endow schools and charitable institutions. It will be infinitely better, when, under a different social sys tem, the state takes care of all this, and members are composed of those who happen to be the fortunate creatures of the common environment.—Union Signal, Chicago, National Organ W. tional convention assembled, reaffirms its adherence to the principles of in-ternational Socialism, and declares its aim to be the organization of the working class, and those in sympathy with it, into a political party, with the object of conquering the powers of government and using them for the purose of transforming the present sys-em of private ownership of the means of production and distribution into collective ownership by the entire people.

Formerly the tools of production were shaple and owned by the individual worker, To-day the machine, which is but an improved and more de-veloped tool of production, is owned by the capitalists and not by the workers This ownership enables the capitalists to control the product and keep the workers dependent upon them,

Private ownership of the means of production and distribution is respon-ible for the ever increasing uncertainty of livelihood and the poverty and misery of the working class, and it divides society into two hostile classes the capitalists and wage-workers. The once powerful middle class is ran filly disappearing in the mill of com-petition. The struggle is now between petition. The struggle is now between the capitalist class and the working class. The possession of the means of livelihood gives to the capitalists the control of the government, the press, the pulpit, and the schools, and enables them to reduce the workingmen to a state of intellectual, physical and social inferiority, political subservience and virtual slavery.

The economic interests of the capitalist class deminate our entire social arstem; the lives of the working class are recklessly sacrificed for profit, wars are fomented between nations, indiscriminate slaughter is encouraged and the destruction of whole races is sauctioned in order that the capitalists may extend their commercial dominion abroad and enhance their supremary

But the same economic causes which developed capitalism are leading to 80-cialism, which will abolish both the expitalist class and the class of wage workers. And the active force in bringing about this new and higher or-der of society is the working class. All other classes, despite their apparent or actual conflicts, are althe interested in the upholding of the system of private ownership of the instruments of wealth production. The Democratic. Republican, the bourgeois public ownership parties, and all other parties which do not stand for the complete overthrow of the capitalist system of production, are alike political repreentatives of the capitalist class.

classes. While we declare that the development of economic conditions tends to the overthrow of the capitalist system, we recognize that the time and manner of the transition to Socialism also de-pend upon the stage of development reached by the proletariat. We, therefore, consider it of the utmost import ance for the Socialist Party to support all active efforts of the v to better its condition and to elect 80-cialists to political offices, in order to facilitate the attainment of this end.

As such means we advocate: 1. The public ownership of all means of transportation and communication and all other public utilities, as well as of all industries controlled by opolics, trusts, and combines. No part of the revenue of such industries to be property of the capitalist class, but to he applied wholly to the increase of wages and shortening of the hours of of the employees, to the improvement of the service and diminishing the rates to the consumers.

2. The progressive reduction of the hours of labor and the increase of wages in order to decrease the share of the capitalist and increase the share of the worker in the product of labor.

3. State or national insurance of working people in case of accidents, lack of employment, sickness and want in old age; the funds for this purpose to be collected from the revenue of the capitalist class, and to be administered under the control of the working class.

4. The inauguration of a system of public industries, public credit to be sed for that purp workers be secured the full product of 5. The education of all children up to the age of eighteen years, and state and municipal aid for books, clothing, and food. 6. Equal civil and political rights for

The initiative and referendum, proportional representation and the right of recall of representatives by their constituents.

But in advocating these measures as steps in the overthrow of capitalism and the establishment of the Co-operative Commonwealth, we warn working class against the so-called public ownership movements as an at-tempt of the capitalist class to secure governmental control of public utiliwerthrow of the capitalist system of enduction, are alike relitical representatives of the capitalist class.

STATE LABOR CONDITIONS.

State Labor Commissioner John Mc-Mackin says in his quarterly bulletin year '1800 only 2.3 per cent. of the trades unionists were continuously idle, last year, 5.4 per cent., and this year 3.1 per cent. The proportion of unionists idle at the end of September was 4.7 per cent. in 1899, 13.3 per cent. in 1900, and 6.9 per cent. in 1901.

Similar conditions are shown by the iverage number of days worked in the third quarter-71 in 1800, 67 in 1900, and 70 in 1901. As a result, the average quarterly earnings of the men in 1901 were about $12 more than in 1900 and $3 less than in 1800.

The unusually busy season in the clothing trades of New York City during the late summer and early autumn induced about 15,000 garment workers to join the unions. The total n bership of all unions at the end of September was 276.141, which is the highest figure yet attained. The number of female numbers was 14.618, a gain of nearly 40 per cent, and attble largely, to the influx of garment workers in New York City.
